Out Of The Crater Chronicles Of A Volcanologist:

Out of the Crater Richard V. Fisher, 2020-11-10 Volcanologists venture to treacherous volcanoes the world over in the pursuit of their science They work around craters of boiling magma and amidst smoke flames scorched rocks and clouds of noxious gases balancing personal risk against advancing knowledge about one of nature's most dangerous and unpredictable forces Richard Fisher a world renowned volcanologist has had more than forty years of experience in the field In this book he blends autobiography with clear accessible science to introduce readers to the basics of volcanology and to the wonders of volcanoes that he has studied and learned to both fear and admire In the course of the book we follow Fisher as he descends into the steaming crater of the Soufriere Volcano on the island of St Vincent as he conducts research on lava flows on the desolate south shore of the Island of Hawaii and as he struggles to understand the explosion at Mount St Helens We learn about his pioneering work on pyroclastic flows and surges the hurricanes of gases molten lava and volcanic debris that cause most of the death and destruction when volcanoes explode He tells of solving a historic scientific problem at Mount Pelee Martinique where 29 000 people were killed in a pyroclastic flow in 1902 Fisher also offers a volcanologist's view of the explosion of Mount Vesuvius that devastated Pompeii and Herculaneum He writes about the cultural rewards and challenges of conducting research in isolated areas of such countries as Argentina Mexico and China And he discusses the early influences that steered him toward volcanology including his army experiences as a witness to two atom bomb explosions at Bikini atoll Out of the Crater is written in an inviting nontechnical style With its deft combination of personal stories and scientific information it is an inspiring account of a remarkable life and a compelling examination of some of the most spectacular forces shaping the face of the Earth

Volcanoes John P. Lockwood, Richard W. Hazlett, Servando de la Cruz-Reyna, 2022-09-01 VOLCANOES Since the publication of the first edition of Volcanoes in 2010 our world of volcanology has changed in exciting ways Volcanoes have continued to erupt some 61 eruptions with VEI magnitudes greater than 3 have taken place since 2010 and in this revised and updated edition the authors describe the largest of these and the ones that have had the most impact on society Volcanoes Second Edition contains more than 80 new photographs and figures to better illustrate volcanic features and processes with an updated Bibliography that includes important papers describing recent eruptions and new findings Volcanologic research is improving the foundations of knowledge upon which all our science rests and we briefly summarize the most important of these advances and new research tools developed over the past eleven years The most productive of these new tools are remotely operated constantly monitoring volcanoes and their impacts on the Earth's atmosphere from space and exploring new volcanic worlds beyond the bounds of Earth Remotely Operated Vehicles ROVs are now widely available to understand better the most active volcanoes on Earth those beneath the sea This superlative textbook will enable students who may never see an erupting volcano to evaluate news stories about far away eruptions and to distinguish between overly sensational stories and factual reporting that puts facts in context Emergency managers land use planners and civic officials also need to understand volcanic processes when their communities are threatened this book will inform and guide them in their decision making Avoiding overly technical discussions and unnecessary use of jargon with the important needs of civil authorities teachers and students particularly in mind this second edition of Volcanoes will also be of interest to general readers who are interested in these fascinating and ever changing features of our dynamic planet Autobiographical Writings on Mexico Richard D.
