N. Trakakis, 2023-03-01 A century ago the dominant philosophical outlook was not some form of materialism or naturalism but idealism However this way of thinking about reality fell out of favour in the Anglo American analytic tradition as well as the Continental schools of the twentieth century The aim of this book is to restage and reassess the encounter between idealism and contemporary philosophy The idealist side will be represented by the great figures of the 19th century post Kantian tradition in Germany from Fichte and Schelling to Hegel followed by the towering Hegelians in Britain led by T H Green F H Bradley and Bernard Bosanquet Their twentieth century adversaries will be represented by the secular existentialists especially the famous French trio of Sartre Beauvoir and Camus who sought to follow Nietzsche in philosophizing in light of the death of God And the arena of encounter will be the philosophy of religion more specifically questions relating to the nature and existence of God death and the meaning of life and the problem of evil The book argues that the existentialist critique of idealism enables an innovative as well as a more critical and adventurous approach that is sorely needed in philosophy of religion today Idealism after Existentialism will be of interest to scholars and advanced students working in the history of nineteenth and twentieth century philosophy and philosophy of religion

Essays and sketches Charles Lamb, Mary Lamb, 1903 The Ghost on the Ramparts and Other Essays in the Humanities Robert B. Heilman, 2008-06-01 The Ghost on the Ramparts presents fourteen of R B Heilman's essays on the teaching of English and the profession of the humanities These essays deal with such diverse topics as administrative ways and means pedagogical shibboleths and heresies uses and abuses of literacy clichés of style moot issues of history and criticism and above all the nature of the humanities and their continuing significance The persuasive discussions of all these subjects reflect the author's wide professional experience his wit and wisdom and his superb sense of style The chairman of a distinguished English department for over twenty years Heilman well knew the ins and outs of administration He considers not only the practical problems of maintaining a large department but also the more complex matters involving a chairman's attitude toward deans toward colleagues of many kinds and toward oneself as a committed teacher and administrator Also a literary critic of established reputation Heilman's explicative side appears in most of these essays as he provides illustrative examples from many different sources while discussing the nature of history and criticism in the humanities The unity of these essays is no less impressive than the mind of their maker who instances a remarkable capacity for seeing life in the humanities steadily and whole

Phenomenology in French Philosophy: Early Encounters Christian Dupont, 2013-11-20 This work investigates the early encounters of French philosophers and religious thinkers with the phenomenological philosophy of Edmund Husserl Following an introductory chapter addressing context and methodology Chapter 2 argues that Henri Bergson's insights into lived duration and intuition and Maurice Blondel's genetic description of action functioned as essential precursors to the French reception of phenomenology Chapter 3 details the presentations of Husserl and his followers by three successive pairs of French academic philosophers Léon Noé and Victor Delbos Lev Shestov and Jean Hering and Bernard Groethuysen and Georges Gurwitsch Chapter 4 then explores the appropriation of Bergsonian and Blondelian phenomenological insights by Catholic theologians douard Le Roy and Pierre Rousselot Chapter 5 examines applications and critiques of phenomenology by French religious philosophers including Jean Hering Joseph Marchal and neo Thomists like Jacques Maritain A concluding chapter expounds the principal finding that philosophical and theological receptions of phenomenology in France prior to 1939 proceeded independently due to differences in how Bergson and Blondel were perceived by French philosophers and religious thinkers and their respective orientations to the Cartesian and Aristotelian Thomist intellectual traditions
