

RECOLLECTIONS OF THE MIDWEST PSYCHOLOGICAL FIELD STATION

ROGER G. BARKER is, of course, the founder of ecological psychology and was the Director of the Field Station. He lives retired in Oskaloosa with Louise Barker, wife and collaborator.

I am a devotee of the sport of reminiscing and I am ready for a session at almost any time. But in this setting? In my study, with its robust program of science? Every behavior object—files, dictionaries, paper clips, manuscripts, typewriter—invite me to “get on with it” as I have done for forty years. And there are pressures, too: that library book is overdue, and—sorry—there goes the telephone . . . says she will be here with the typing in 15 minutes.

It is evident to me that the program of my study must be altered to accommodate reminiscing while maintaining its scientific program. This is not an unusual necessity; Pat’s Food Market in Oskaloosa has recently incorporated videotapes alongside canned tomatoes in its program of making money. My study must introduce reminiscences along with observations into its program of making science.

So, I initiate a new project. It is to search through my recollections for the sources of Field Station ideas and methods and for influences on Station discoveries. Hope this will change reminiscing from a pastime to an investigation, and restore harmony in my study; hope, too, it will yield reminiscences which are appropriate.

Ideas, methods, and discoveries are set forth in the indexes of Field Station books where I find, for example, behavior episode, maintenance circuit, occupancy time, on and on to undermanning. To my surprise, however, the first index entry to

Jolly Fellows Richard Stott, 2009-09-21 Jolly fellows a term that gained currency in the nineteenth century referred to those men whose more colorful antics included brawling heavy drinking gambling and playing pranks Reforms especially the temperance movement stigmatized such behavior but pockets of jolly fellowship continued to flourish throughout the country Richard Stott scrutinizes and analyzes this behavior to appreciate its origins and meaning Stott finds that male behavior could be strikingly similar in diverse locales from taverns and boardinghouses to college campuses and sporting events He explores the permissive attitudes that thrived in such male domains as the streets of New York City California during the gold rush and the Pennsylvania oil fields arguing that such places had an important influence on American society and culture Stott recounts how the cattle and mining towns of the American West emerged as centers of resistance to Victorian propriety It was here that unrestrained male behavior lasted the longest before being replaced with a new convention that equated manliness with sobriety and self control Even as the number of jolly fellows dwindled jolly themes flowed into American popular culture through minstrelsy dime novels and comic strips Jolly Fellows proposes a new interpretation of nineteenth century American culture and society and will inform future work on masculinity during this period

Bethlehem Steel Kenneth Warren, 2008-01-17 In the late 19th century rails from Bethlehem Steel helped build the United States into the world's foremost economy During the 1890s Bethlehem became America's leading supplier of heavy armaments and by 1914 it had pioneered new methods of structural steel manufacture that transformed urban skylines Demand for its war materials during World War I provided the finance for Bethlehem to become the world's second largest steel maker As late as 1974 the company achieved record earnings of 342 million But in the 1980s and 1990s through wildly fluctuating times losses outweighed gains and Bethlehem struggled to downsize and reinvest in newer technologies By 2001 in financial collapse it reluctantly filed for Chapter 11 bankruptcy protection Two years later International Steel Group acquired the company for 1.5 billion In Bethlehem Steel Kenneth Warren presents an original and compelling history of a leading American company examining the numerous factors contributing to the growth of this titan and those that eventually felled it along with many of its competitors in the U.S. steel industry Warren considers the investment failures indecision and slowness to abandon or restructure outdated integrated plants plaguing what had become an insular inward looking management group Meanwhile competition increased from more economical mini mills at home and from new technologically superior plants overseas which drove world prices down causing huge flows of imported steel into the United States Bethlehem Steel provides a fascinating case study in the transformation of a major industry from one of American dominance to one where America struggled to survive

Recognitions Enrico Botta, Gianna Fusco, Pilar Martínez Benedí, Anna Scannavini, 2024-11-04 This volume offers a critical exploration of the many ways in which transcodification acts at the intersection of literature art history and social and cultural artifacts to foster instances of recognition in the US Recognition covers a wealth of meanings from the mere acknowledgement of existence validity or legality or appreciation of something as valuable to the identification of something as known or familiar Accordingly this volume deals with different struggles for recognition One focus of the volume is the assessment of artistic achievement in relation to a so called original with essays concerned with cultural codes and with the role that translation adaptation and cross cultural encounters have played in US artistic and literary productions A second parallel strand focuses on the fight for political and social inclusion or on the dynamics beneath the recognition of group and gender identities to explore how activism and artistic literary productions challenge received identity boundaries and accepted social and cultural hierarchies Bringing together recognition and transcodification transculturality the book deconstructs crystalized and codified categories and celebrates the crossing of boundaries American Studies Jack Salzman,1990-05-25 This volume supplements the acclaimed three volume set published in 1986 and consists of an annotated listing of American Studies monographs published between 1984 and 1988 There are more than 6 000 descriptive entries in a wide range of categories anthropology and folklore art and architecture history literature music political science popular culture psychology religion science and technology and sociology Vaulting Ambition Michael Nelson,2023-02-24 Nothing embodied Franklin D Roosevelt s campaign to lastingly embed the New Deal in the major institutions of American government more than his effort to pack the Supreme Court Vaulting Ambition the inaugural volume in the Landmark Presidential Decisions series presents a balanced assessment of FDR s 1937 effort to fundamentally change the highest court in the land Unlike most work on the subject Michael Nelson centers his study on the president s series of decisions to reform the Court rather than on the Court s responses At the heart of the book is an analytical narrative of FDR s crusade to expand the Court and pack it with those sympathetic to his cause While keeping this story front and center Vaulting Ambition also presents the Court packing effort as part of FDR s larger campaign to shape the executive branch bureaucracy Congress the Supreme Court and the Democratic Party all in service to enduringly entrench the New Deal into US government and politics Although FDR never achieved the mastery over the entire federal government that he sought his efforts to expand and transform the three branches of government and the Democratic Party were of great consequence and endured long beyond his tenure Nelson offers a clear understanding of how FDR s campaign sheds essential light on today s raging controversy over changing the Supreme Court War and Revolution in South China Edward J. M. Rhoads,2021-09-10 In War and Revolution in South China Edward Rhoads recounts his childhood and early teenage years during the Sino Japanese War and the early postwar years Rhoads came from a biracial family His father was an American professor while his Chinese mother was a typist and stenographer In the late 1930s and the 1940s the Rhoads family lived through the turbulent years in southern China and Hong Kong The book follows Rhoads childhood in Guangzhou his family s evacuation to Hong Kong his father s internment and repatriation to the United States and his and his mother s flight to Free China He recalls his reunion with family members in northern Guangdong Province in 1943 their retreat to China s wartime capital of Chongqing where his father worked for the American government and how they returned to Guangzhou after the war The Rhoads family then witnessed the socioeconomic recovery in the city and the regime change in 1949 The book ends with their departure from China to the United States in 1951 a year and a half after the Communist revolution The book fills an important gap in the scholarship by examining the impact of the Sino Japanese War in southern China from the perspective of one family Rhoads reveals that the war in this region while often neglected by scholars was in fact no less turbulent than it was in northern and central China He combines autobiography with serious historical research to reconstruct the lives of his family consulting a large number of archival documents private correspondence and scholarly literature to produce a rare study that is both scholarly and accessible This book is a very timely reminder that one should look at the experience of China during the Second Sino Japanese War and the Second World War from a regional perspective in order to understand the diverse historical experience of the people from different geographical ethnic cultural and social backgrounds Chi man Kwong Hong Kong Baptist University A pleasure to read and of compelling interest Edward Rhoads book explores the more benign side of the foreign influence in modern China the introduction of modern educational institutions The intriguing lens through which we look is his biracial family their multiple flights across southern China as refugees escaping war and their eventual expulsion from China Stephen Davies The University of Hong Kong
