Ridgway Porcelains:

Marks and Monograms on Pottery & Porcelain of the Renaissance and Modern Periods William Chaffers, 1876 The Illustrated Guide to Ridgway Porcelains Geoffrey A. Godden, 1972 English Pottery and Porcelain Edward Andrews Downman, 1910 American Porcelain, 1770-1920 Alice Cooney Frelinghuysen, 1989 Marks and monograms on European and oriental pottery and porcelain William Chaffers, 1900 Marks & Monograms on European and Oriental Pottery and Porcelain, with Historical Notices of Each Manufactory William Chaffers, 1908 The Ceramic Art of Great Britain from Pre-historic Times Down to the Present Day Llewellynn Frederick William Jewitt, 1878 18th and 19th Century Porcelain Analysis Howell G. M. Edwards, 2020-07-13 This book addresses the contributions made by analytical chemistry to the characterisation of 18th and early 19th Century English and Welsh porcelains commencing with the earliest reports of Sir Arthur Church and of Herbert Eccles and Bernard Rackham using chemical digestion techniques and concluding with the most recent instrumental experiments which together span more than a hundred years of study From the earliest experiments which required necessarily the sacrifice of significant portions of each specimen which may already have been damaged to the latest experiments which needed only microsampling or the non destructive interrogation of valuable perfect specimens a comprehensive survey is undertaken of more than twenty manufactories of quality porcelains The correlation is made between the quantitative elemental oxide determinations of the scanning electron microscopic diffraction and Xray fluorescence data and the qualitative molecular spectroscopic Raman data to demonstrate their complementarity and use in the holistic forensic assessment of the origin of the fired porcelains this will form the groundwork for the adoption of analytical techniques for the attribution of unknown or questionable porcelains to their potential source factories The book will also examine the perception of what constitutes a porcelain and its definitions and examines the assignment of porcelains to types which currently employs the definitions of hard paste soft paste hybrid magnesian and bone china from the conclusions derived from the analytical data and a consideration of the raw materials employed in their manufacturing processes During the discussion of this analytical evidence several themes and protocols have been established for its utilisation in the potential identification of porcelains and several case studies undertaken for this purpose are cited The book will be of interest to analytical scientists to museum ceramics curators and to ceramics historians Historical Sketch of the Green Point (N.Y.) Porcelain Works of Charles Cartlidge & Co Edwin Atlee Barber, 1895 Catalogue of the Herbert Allen Collection of English Porcelain Victoria and Albert Museum. Ceramics Department, Bernard Rackham, 1923 The New Collector's Hand-book of Marks and Monograms on Pottery & Porcelain of the Renaissance and Modern Periods William Chaffers, 1918 The Collector's Hand-book of Marks and Monograms on Pottery & Porcelain of the Renaissance and Modern Periods William Chaffers, 1893 Welsh Armorial Porcelain Howell G. M. Edwards, 2022-05-05 Armorial porcelains comprised the output of most European ceramics factories in the 18th and 19th Centuries in response to the large quantity of armorial porcelain services that were being imported from China bearing the coats of arms and crests of aristocratic families Whereas these armorial services have been identified and covered for most porcelain manufactories the information relevant to their production by the two relatively short lived Nantgarw and Swansea China Works has not been addressed as a theme until now As an integral component of the holistic forensic appraisal of porcelain a functional and decorative artwork manifestly part of our cultural heritage and its ongoing preservation the recording and identification of such artefacts is material for the future establishment of a database of factory production The Nantgarw and Swansea factories only operated for a limited period in the second decade of the 19th Century and their porcelains were much appreciated for their high quality and desirability by Georgian households Today examples are to be found in many museums and ceramics collections and continue to excite the interest of specialists and the general public This text provides the first comprehensive assessment of armorial porcelains from these two factories and the methodology and procedure for the identification of unknown armorial bearings and crests is illustrated individual bearings are discussed in detail and existing incorrect assignments in the literature are re appraised The difficulties in attribution of armorial heraldic achievements that are only minimally depicted are considered and directions for further studies using historical documentation are invoked This book therefore fills a currently existing gap in the ceramics literature of the 19th Century Marks and monograms on pottery and porcelain, with short historical notices of each manufactory, and an introductory essay on the vasa fictilia of England. Illustrated, etc William CHAFFERS,1870
