Rights Of Women In Islam:

The Rights of Women in Islam Asghar Ali Engineer, 1992 This book is a long overdue reassessment of women's rights in Islam which have long been widely misunderstood and misinterpreted The fundamentalists unmindful of the social context in which Quranic verses on the subject were written have tried to portray men as superior human beings to women The author a renowned scholar has sought to set the record straight by reinterpreting the women's rights in the true Quranic spirit He argues quite convincingly that the Holy Book gives equal rights to both the sexes and that it does not discriminate between them in respect of personal democratic and human rights An activist in women's struggle for equality he has provided Muslim feminists with a powerful weapon in their fight for equality with men He examines in depth the question whether in secular society Muslim Personal Law needs any change and if so in which direction reforms should be undertaken

The Rights of Women in Islam Asghar Ali Engineer, 2008 Women's issues continue to dominate the Islamic world in particular as there has been a very gradual change in the status of women in the Islamic world as a whole This book covers various aspects relating to the status of women in the pre Islamic period customs and traditions forms of marriage divorce and forms of divorce dower traditions regarding slave girls and so on It then goes on to deal with the status of women in the post Islamic period the Quranic concept of women's rights in marriage divorce inheritance custody of children polygamy maintenance property right to earn etc It quotes extensively from the Quran and Sunnah It also deals with the Arab adaat that is pre Islamic customs and traditions regarding women Altogether it attempts to arm Muslim women with Islamic arguments for their empowerment The author a renowned scholar has sought to set the record straight by reinterpreting women's rights in the true Quranic spirit He argues quite convincingly that the Holy Book gives equal rights to both the sexes and it does not discriminate between them as regards personal democratic and human rights The question whether in a secular society Muslim personal law needs any change and if so in which direction the reform should be undertaken is dealt with in detail This third edition contains a chapter On a Muslim Woman Leading the Congregational Prayer This chapter deals with the important aspect of Muslim women's problems and also hopes to further enhance their understanding of the Shari'ah issues

Rights of Women in Islam Zakir Naik, 2011 30 Rights of Muslim Women Daisy Khan, 2024-05-21

2025 Nautilus Award Winner Gold Religion This authoritative go to publication aims to educate women on how to express their rights within Islam Perfect for enabling activists to integrate an egalitarian Islamic belief system into their movements The most effective means of improving Muslim women's lives is connecting them to their deeply held beliefs that affirm human dignity and gender equality at the core of the Islamic faith But Muslim women lack this information that enlightens and vouches for their sacred rights and they have no accessible tools that encourage faith based activism consistent with the Islamic faith To protect them from being misrepresented by or outside their communities there is a need to provide pre packaged easy to understand literacy tools to women so they can lead lives of choice dignity and opportunity 30 Rights of

Muslim Women aims to fill this gap The Rights of Women in Islam Morteza Motahhari, World Organization for Islamic Services, 1981 The Rights of Women in Islam H. Jawad, 1998-06-30 It has been argued that Islam liberated Muslim women by granting them full rights as citizens Yet in reality we see that women have long been subjected to both cultural and political oppression Instances such as forced marriages are sadly common in the Muslim World as are restrictions on education and on their role in the labour force Women, Islam and International Law Ekaterina Yahyaoui Krivenko, 2009 Islam and women's human rights entertain an uneasy relationship Much has been written on the subject This volume addresses it from a new perspective It attempts to define some basis for constructive dialogue and interaction in the context of international law and more precisely in the context of participation of many Muslim States in the United Nations Convention on the Elimination of All Forms of Discrimination Against Women Having discovered a constructive potential in both Islam and women's human rights the author concentrates on the role which international law should play in promoting dialogue and constructive interaction This is done mainly through analysis of the regime of reservations and of the practice of reservations developed in the context of Muslim States' participation in the CEDAW The basic thesis defended is the following Islam as articulated in the practice of States and women's human rights as reflected in international instruments are both results of human activity Their analysis in this study reveals more commonalities than one might expect International law should be more attentive to their voices and more innovative in using these commonalities in order to promote constructive dialogue between them and thus help to improve the situation of women suffering from discrimination and inequalities Gender and Human Rights in Islam and International Law Shaheen S. Ali, 2021-11-08 This important study offers a conceptual analysis of gender and human rights under Islamic law state law and international law and extends this analysis to a specific examination of the nature of women's rights in the Islamic tradition It explores the disparity between the theoretical perspective on women's rights and its applications to Muslim jurisdictions determined by elements of cultural practices socio economic realities and political expediences and uses the example of Pakistan to demonstrate the divergence between the theory and practice of Islamic law in these jurisdictions It discusses the concept of an emerging operative Islamic law which includes principles of Islamic law secular codes and popular custom and usage The Rights and Duties of Women in Islam Abdul Ghaffar Hasan, 1999 Muslim Women at the Crossroads Zinat Kausar, 2006 Gender and Equality in Muslim Family Law Lena Larsen, Ziba Mir-Hosseini, Christian Moe, Kari Vogt, 2013-04-30 Gender equality is a modern ideal which has only recently with the expansion of human rights and feminist discourses become inherent to generally accepted conceptions of justice In Islam as in other religious traditions the idea of equality between men and women was neither central to notions of justice nor part of the juristic landscape and Muslim jurists did not begin to address it until the twentieth century The personal status of Muslim men women and children continues to be defined by understandings of Islamic law codified and adapted by modern nation states that assume authority to be the natural prerogative of men that disadvantage women and that are prone to abuse This volume argues that effective and sustainable reform of these laws and practices requires engagement with their religious rationales from within the tradition Gender and Equality in Muslim Family Law offers a groundbreaking analysis of family law based on fieldwork in family courts and illuminated by insights from distinguished clerics and scholars of Islam from Morocco Egypt Iran Pakistan and Indonesia as well as by the experience of human rights and women s rights activists It explores how male authority is sustained through law and court practice in different contexts the consequences for women and the family and the demands made by Muslim women s groups The book argues for women s full equality before the law by re examining the jurisprudential and theological arguments for male guardianship qiwama wilaya in Islamic legal tradition Using contemporary examples from various contexts from Morocco to Malaysia this volume presents an informative and vital analysis of these societies and gender relations within them It unpicks the complex and often contradictory attitudes towards Muslim family law and the ways in which justice and ethics are conceived in the Islamic tradition The book offers a new framework for rethinking old formulations so as to reflect contemporary realities and understandings of justice ethics and gender rights

Women, the Koran and International Human Rights Law Niaz A. Shah,2006 Religion plays a pivotal role in the way women are treated around the world socially and legally This book discusses three Islamic human rights approaches secular non compatible reconciliatory compatible and proposes a contextual interpretive approach It is argued that the current gender discriminatory statutory Islamic laws in Islamic jurisdictions based on the decontextualised interpretation of the Koran can be reformed through Ijtihad independent individual reasoning It is claimed that the original intention of the Koran was to protect the rights of women and raise their status in society not to relegate them to subordination This Koranic intention and spirit may be recaptured through the proposed contextual interpretation which in fact means using an Islamic or insider strategy to achieve gender equality in Muslim states and greater compatibility with international human rights law It discusses the negative impact of the so called statutory Islamic laws of Pakistan on the enjoyment of women s human rights and robustly challenges their Koranic foundation While supporting the international human rights regime this book highlights the challenges to its universality feminism and cultural relativism To achieve universal application genuine voices from different cultures and groups must be accommodated It is argued that the women s human rights regime does not cover all issues of concern to women and has a weak implementation mechanism The book argues for effective implementation procedures to turn women s human rights into reality
