Class Politics Stephen Parks, 2013-03-27 Class Politics The Movement for the Students Right to Their Own Language 2e is a response to histories of Composition Studies that focused on scholarly articles and university programs as the generative source for the field. Such histories particularly in the 1980s and 1990s divorced the field from activist politics washing out such work in the name of disciplinary identity. Class Politics shows the importance of political mass movements in the formation of Composition Studies particularly Civil Rights and Black Power. Class Politics also critiques how the field appropriates these movements. The book traces a pathway from social movement to progressive academic groups to their work in professional organizations to the formation of the Students Right to Their Own Language. Stephen Parks then shows how the SRTOL was attacked and politically neutralized by conservative forces in the 1980s and 1990s arguing for a return to politics to reanimate its importance and the importance of politics in the field. Stephen Parks restores politics to the history of Composition Studies.
