Launer, 2024-02-20 In Volume Three of this four volume series we examine the rhetorical development that occurred during the first two terms of Vladimir Putin's tenure as president of the Russian Federation Initially Putin appeared to follow in the path set by his predecessor Boris Yeltsin vowing that Russia was at heart a European nation and would be a westward facing democracy going forward He even mentioned partnering with the EU and NATO Eight years later at the 2007 Munich Security Conference Putin excoriated the West for in his words attempting to create a unipolar world in which NATO expansion threatened Russia's security the United States acted as the world's sole hegemon and Europe simply followed orders relinquishing any sense of agency in its own affairs

The Logic of the Cold War Tian-jia Dong, 2018-08-24 The Cold War revealed for the first time in human history the logic of human togetherness which indicated that it was not only necessary for nation states to live together but also possible for them to do so The necessity was because of the inescapably shared vulnerability of mutually assured destruction not only in terms of security but more so in economic well being and political stability The possibility was due to the unipolar world structure sustained by the global governance web of interdependent partnership which worked powerfully between the power agents to ensure the best of all possible world This latent governance system was both hierarchical and dynamic because its power was connective in the sense that power was rooted in one another and the ability to be interdependent by empowering other power agents and sharing vulnerability at the same time was the way of becoming the nucleus on the global web of interdependent partners and hence gaining power in transforming one another connectively and governing the world collectively George Kennan s patience in building up hard and soft powers within individual power agents of the web and Wilson Roosevelt s institutionalization of collective power above each power agents contributed to the construction of the system The Soviet big brotherly governing type was proven a failure
