Risk Environment And Society Ongoing Debates Current Issues And Future Prospects:

Risk, Environment, and Society Piet Strydom, 2002 How and why have the closed expert debates of past decades become an open public discourse about nuclear environmental and biotechnological risks What can a cultural and institutional analysis reveal about risks and their social construction Is it possible to develop a new critical theory of the risk society This book offers an overview and analysis of nuclear global environmental and biotechnological dangers threats and hazards in the context of public debates about risk from the 1950s to the present It considers what impact these risks and debates are having on society transforming underlying cultural assumptions for example about nature but also public communication social institutions and even the way society is organized Piet Strydom reconstructs public debates and social scientific theories to provide a fresh approach to the risk society From this comes a new theoretical perspective for studying the emerging social conditions of the twenty first century The result is a penetrating and essential text for students and researchers across a range of areas including sociology environmental studies politics and cultural and communications studies

Society, Culture and Technology at the Dawn of the 21st Century Katarzyna Leszczyńska, Janusz Mucha, 2010-04-16 The articles in this collection analyse methodological aspects of today's hard sciences and humanities and of applied research in the field of high technology. The authors explore structural and cultural contexts of scientific research relations between information technologies and our everyday life as well as relations between innovation and business culture. Routledge International Handbook of Contemporary Social and Political Theory Gerard Delanty, Stephen P. Turner, 2011-03-23 The Handbook will address a range of issues that have emerged out of recent social and political theory. It will focus on key themes as opposed to schools of thought or major theorists. Each chapter is an emerging cutting edge topic that is of interest both to social theory and to political theory. Most topics will have a clear and substantive focus on social or political problems. Risk and Hyperconnectivity Andrew Hoskins, John Tulloch, 2016-05-02 Risk and Hyperconnectivity brings together for the first time three paradigms: new risk theory, neoliberalization theory, and connectivity theory to illuminate how the kaleidoscope of risk events in the opening years of the new century has recharged a neoliberal battlespace of media, economy, and security. Hoskins and Tulloch argue that hyperconnectivity is both a conduit of risk and a form of risk in itself and that it alters the ways in which we experience events and remember them. Through interdisciplinary dialogue and case study analysis, they offer original perspectives on the key questions of risk of our age, including: What is the path to a balance between individual privacy and state or corporate security? Is hyperconnectivity itself a new risk condition of our time? How do remembering and forgetting shape citizen insecurity and cultures of risk and legitimize neoliberal governance? How do journalists operate as public intellectuals of risk? Through probing a series of risk events that have already scarred the twenty-first century, Hoskins and Tulloch show how both established and emergent media are central in shaping past, present, and future horizons of neoliberalism while also propelling wide pressure for its alternatives on those ranging from economics students worldwide to potential political leaders cultivated by austerity policies. New Medicalism and the Mental Health Act John Fanning, 2018-08-09 Ten years have passed since the Mental Health Act (MHA) 2007 came into force in England. An amending statute, the Act reformed the MHA 1983 and reshaped the law governing the compulsory care and treatment of people suffering from mental disorders. Primarily driven by concerns about risk, it sought to remove legalistic obstacles to civil commitment and extend the law's coercive reach into the community. At the time of its introduction, the 2007 Act was written off as a retrograde step and a missed opportunity for radical rights-focused reform. Despite this, little attention has been paid to its impact in the years since. Published to coincide with the tenth anniversary of the 2007 Act, this book offers a timely evaluation of mental health law and policy in England. It argues that the current MHA defies easy categorisation within any of the descriptive models which have customarily narrated the mechanics of civil commitment: namely, legalism, new legalism, and medicalism. It therefore makes the case for a new model, new medicalism, to account for the 2007 Act's enhancement of the discretion of mental health professionals for the express purposes of facilitating the management of situations of risk. In doing so the book critically examines the problems inherent in civil commitment frameworks organised around the concept of risk explores the theoretical foundations of new medicalism considers the challenges facing proponents of future reform in the era of the UN Convention on the Rights of Persons with Disabilities and reflects on the 2007 Act's practical impact

Development in Coastal Zones and Disaster Management Amita Singh, R. Lalitha S. Fernando, Nivedita P. Haran, 2020-10-13 In the last two decades coastal regions have relatively endured some of the fiercest oceanic and geophysical disasters than the earlier decades Yet disaster management governance fails to match the human nonhuman and environmental calamity which is unfolding in its most frequent and unpredictable pattern Between the Asian Tsunami of 2004 to the devastating Chennai and Kerala floods of 2018 the socio industrial livelihood impact alerts governments towards a greater and more serious compliance to laws for coastal conservation The United Nations Office for Disaster Risk Reduction UNDRR in 2018 had shocking statistics to share as the deaths and damages related to only Tsunami disaster at the coasts to 251 770 and US 280 billions respectively in the last 20 years 1998 2017 as compared to 998 and US 2 7 billion in the previous 20 years 1978 1997 Coastal conservation is no more a question of casual governance but has become a need for survival The region of South Asia which ranks much higher in its vulnerability weak resilience and relatively undersupplied governance structures ought to take this responsibility on a priority The spirit of Hyogo Declaration and the Sendai Framework for Action suggests preparedness and resilience building as key approach areas in coastal governance The book is incomparable in its holistic and transdisciplinary social science based approach to disaster management which links conservation of marine flora and fauna ecosystems and land management with decision making processes and coastal regulations These grass root findings from the subcontinent are substantiated by a section on the most powerful court battle on the Kerala Floods as a guideline for readers to discerningly identify an Act of God often used as a veil to hide lack of preparedness apathy and political greed This book becomes indispensable reading for anyone involved in research administration or any level of decision making for the mitigation and prevention of disasters cultural sites with their very different experiences of terrorism make sense of this unpredictable threat the book uses Beck's World Risk Society theory as a conceptual framework to examine the production and construction of news narratives around the risk of terrorism in both countries through textual analysis of local news stories and in depth interviews with Australian and Pakistani journalists Narratives about global terrorism are mostly Western with fear of its impact on Western democracy and civilisation This book aims to fill the gap and present a nuanced understanding of global terrorism by examining the characteristics of the phenomenon in a Western as well as an Eastern location and the ways in which the risk of terrorism is being played out in the two worlds This book will be of much interest to students of critical terrorism studies media studies Asia Pacific politics and International Relations
