She's grateful for her position as a companion with a kind employer, though her new life falls short of her expectations. Her dull existence is upended when she's asked to plan a charity ball and meets the handsome man assigned to aid her, Captain Harry Clarke. He enjoys his work with a charity for wounded soldiers, especially since he lost a leg in the war, which makes him a greater burden to his family. Though he feels unqualified to plan a ball, doing so with lovely Sarah is certainly no hardship. After a passionate kiss, he is even more drawn to her as she makes him feel whole. Given her ruined reputation, Sarah knows nothing can come from her attraction to Harry, even if it reawakens her dreams. Yet how can she resist the heroic captain? His compassion for others stirs her, even as she tells herself that he deserves someone with more to offer than her, with her tattered reputation. Harry quickly falls for Sarah's quiet beauty and gentle soul, and he longs to claim her for his own.
