Shopping at Giant Foods Alfred Yee,2012-09-01 From the 1930s through the 1970s Chinese American owned supermarkets located outside of Chinatown catering to a non Chinese clientele and featuring mainstream American foods and other products and services rose to prominence and phenomenal success in Northern California only to decline as union regulations and competition from national chains made their operation unprofitable Alfred Yee s study of this trajectory is an insider s view of a fascinating era in Asian American immigration and entrepreneurship Drawing on oral interviews with individuals who worked in the business during its peak and decline he presents an accessible history that illustrates how this once thriving business fostered the social and economic integration of Chinese Americans into life in the United States Yee demonstrates how Chinese American supermarkets were able to sell American groceries at reduced prices by using the cheap labor of family members and Chinese immigrants whose entry to the United States had been sponsored by their employers This type of symbiotic relationship was eventually undermined by labor unions demands that employees be covered by labor laws and fully compensated for all hours worked Also contributing to the ultimate demise of Chinese American supermarkets were increasing costs of capitalization and operation the dominance of national chain stores and difficulties arising from traditional Chinese methods of business management

Cities of Others Xiaojing Zhou, 2014-12-01 Asian American literature abounds with complex depictions of American cities as spaces that reinforce racial segregation and prevent interactions across boundaries of race, culture, class, and gender. However, in Cities of Others, Xiaojing Zhou uncovers a much different narrative, providing the most comprehensive examination to date of how Asian American writers both celebrated and overlooked depict urban settings. Zhou goes beyond examining popular portrayals of Chinatowns by paying equal attention to life in other parts of the city. Her innovative and wide-ranging approach sheds new light on the works of Chinese, Filipino, Indian, Japanese, Korean, and Vietnamese American writers who bear witness to a variety of urban experiences and reimagine the American city as other than a segregated nation space. Drawing on critical theories on space from urban geography, ecocriticism, and postcolonial studies, Zhou shows how spatial organization shapes identity in the works of Sui Sin Far, Bienvenido Santos, Meena Alexander, Frank Chin, Chang-rae Lee, Karen Tei Yamashita, and others. She also shows how the everyday practices of Asian American communities challenge racial segregation, reshape urban spaces, and redefine the identity of the American city. From a reimagining of the nineteenth-century flâneur figure in an Asian American context to providing a framework that allows readers to see ethnic enclaves and American cities as mutually constitutive and transformative, Zhou gives us a provocative new way to understand some of the most important works of Asian American literature.
