Mathematics 10 Teachers Gde:

The Learning and Development of Mathematics Teacher Educators Merrilyn Goos, Kim Beswick, 2021-04-07 Research in mathematics teacher education as a distinctive field of inquiry has grown substantially over the past 10 15 years Within this field there is emerging interest in how mathematics teacher educators MTEs themselves learn and develop Until recently there were few published studies on this topic and the processes by which mathematics teacher educators learn and the forms of knowledge they require for effective practice had not been systematically investigated However researchers in mathematics education are now beginning to investigate the development of MTE expertise and associated issues This volume draws on the latest research and thinking in this area is therefore timely to stimulate future development and directions It will survey the emerging field of inquiry in mathematics education combining the work of established scholars with perspectives of newcomers to the field with the aim of influencing development of the field invite cross cultural comparisons in becoming a mathematics teacher educator by highlighting issues in the development of MTEs in different countries and examine the roles of both mathematics educators and mathematicians in preparing future teachers of mathematics The primary audience will be university based mathematics teacher educators and MTE researchers and postgraduate research students who are seeking academic careers as MTEs Additional interest may come from teacher educators in disciplines other than mathematics and education policy makers responsible for accreditation and quality control of initial teacher education programs

Exploring Mathematics and Science Teachers' Knowledge Hamsa Venkat, Marissa Rollnick, John Loughran, Mike Askew, 2014-05-09 Globally mathematics and science education faces three crucial challenges an increasing need for mathematics and science graduates a declining enrolment of school graduates into university studies in these disciplines and the varying quality of school teaching in these areas Alongside these challenges internationally more and more non specialists are teaching mathematics and science at both primary and secondary levels and research evidence has revealed how gaps and limitations in teachers content understandings can lead to classroom practices that present barriers to students learning This book addresses these issues by investigating how teachers content knowledge interacts with their pedagogies across diverse contexts and perspectives This knowledge practice nexus is examined across mathematics and science teaching traversing schooling phases and countries with an emphasis on contexts of disadvantage These features push the boundaries of research into teachers content knowledge The book s combination of mathematics and science enriches each discipline for the reader and contributes to our understandings of student attainment by examining the nature of specialised content knowledge needed for competent teaching within and across the two domains Exploring Mathematics and Science Teachers Knowledge will be key reading for researchers doctoral students and postgraduates with a focus on Mathematics Science and teacher knowledge research

The Language Issue in the Teaching of Mathematics in South Africa Lindiwe Tshuma, 2021-01-26 The book is the result of a five year project that culminated within the first three years in doctoral research interrogating language competency for meaningful mathematics instruction at upper primary level conducted at University of Stellenbosch in 2017 and this book in the succeeding two years The initial research project received countrywide coverage in several South African media outlets including Times Live and Radio 2000

Maringe, 2021-04-09 Maringe ought to be commended for putting together an invaluable contribution to our understanding of research into a complex education system in South Africa This volume provides a useful foundation to the current state of education quality in South Africa including the impact of interventions It also brings to the fore challenges still facing education transformation The evidence presented which taken together lays out a coherent view of how improvements could be made Albert Chanee Head of Planning Gauteng Department of Education For too long the weight of educational scholarship produced in South Africa has been limited to that simple and standard form called the literature review Now for the first time education researchers are provided with an African based text on the concepts and methods of conducting systematic reviews In this exceptional work of editorship Felix Maringe brings together some of the leading researchers on South African education to model and demonstrate how to review a significant body of research on a chosen topic which is adjudicated strictly on the basis of the quality and efficacy of the evidence in hand I have no doubt that this remarkable book will become a standard reference for educational researchers in and beyond the African continent It will also lift the quality of educational inquiry by equipping a new generation of scholars with the capacity for doing evidence based research that compels the attention of policymakers planners and practitioners alike Prof Jonathan Jansen Stellenbosch University
