Mozley Roche, 1992 Managing Information Technology in a Global Economy Information Resources Management Association. International Conference, 2001 Today opportunities and challenges of available technology can be utilized as strategic and tactical resources for your organization Conversely failure to be current on the latest trends and issues of IT can lead to ineffective and inefficient management of IT resources Managing Information Technology in a Global Economy is a valuable collection of papers that presents IT management perspectives from professionals around the world The papers introduce new ideas refine old ones and possess interesting scenarios to help the reader develop company sensitive management strategies Information Technology Project Management Jack T. Marchewka, 2016-02-08 The 5th

Edition of Jack Marchewka's Information Technology Project Management focuses on how to create measurable organizational value MOV through IT projects The author uses the concept of MOV combined with his own research to create a solid foundation for making decisions throughout the project's lifecycle The book's integration of project management and IT concepts provides students with the tools and techniques they need to develop in this field Managing Information Technology Resources and Applications in the World Economy Information Resources Management Association. International Conference, 1997-01-01 This Proceedings contains many research and practical papers dealing with the impact and influence of information technology on the global economy The Management of Projects Peter W. G. Morris, 1994 This book will undoubtedly become one of the classics of the project management literature There will be a growing need for project managers who can look beyond the internal processes of their projects to the organisational technological and socio-economic contexts in which projects must be managed A good starting point would be for all project managers to read this book Construction Management and Economics Telematics and Work J.H. Erik Andriesson, Robert A. Roe, 2013-05-24 This volume is part of a publication series emerging from an international interdisciplinary study group on New Technologies and Work NeTWork NeTWork is sponsored by the Werner Reimers Foundation Bad Homburg Germany and the Maison des Sciences de l'Homme Paris The NeTWork study group has set itself the task of intellectually penetrating various problem domains posed by the introduction and spread of new technologies in work settings This problem focus requires interdisciplinary co-operation The usual mode of operating is to identify an important problem within the NeTWork scope to attempt to prestructure it and then to invite original contributions from European researchers or research teams actively involved in relevant analytic or developmental work A specific workshop serves to cross-fertilize the different approaches and to help to integrate more fully the individual contributions The concept of telematics refers to the integration of computer telecommunication and information technologies It alludes to the opportunities presented by the technical means to communicate and transfer data over large distances by intelligent equipment Teleshopping teleconferencing teleworking and telebanking are but a few examples of a development which influences both public and private environments Both households and workplaces are likely to be thoroughly changed by telematics This publication emphasises the application of telematics in working environments The central questions of the book are How will the present and future development of telematics effect the nature and organization of work and under which conditions will this development be optimal From the various contributions it is clear that telematics is not a single direct cause or determinant of particular changes in work and organization The development and application of telematics depend on decision making of actors at a political scene both outside and inside the work organizations The effects of the use of these applications appear to be co-determined by many other factors In fact the technology interacts with political economic and social factors in a complex process that shapes new organizational forms and work relationships Strategic Information Management Robert Galliers, Dorothy E.
