African Women Writers and the Politics of Gender Sadia Zulfiqar, 2016-09-23 This work examines the work of a group of African women writers who have emerged over the last forty years While figures such as Chinua Achebe Ben Okri and Wole Soyinka are likely to be the chief focus of discussions of African writing female authors have been at the forefront of fictional interrogations of identity formation and history In the work of authors such as Mariama B Senegal Buchi Emecheta Nigeria Chimamanda Ngozi Adichie Nigeria Tsitsi Dangaremba Zimbabwe and Leila Aboulela Sudan there is a clear attempt to subvert the tradition of male writing where the female characters are often relegated to the margins of the culture and confined to the domestic private sphere This body of work has already generated a significant number of critical responses including readings that draw on gender politics and colonialism but it is still very much a minor literature and most mainstream western feminism has not sufficiently processed it The purpose of this book is three fold First it draws together some of the most important and influential African women writers of the post war period and looks at their work separately and together in terms of a series of themes and issues including marriage family polygamy religion childhood and education Second it demonstrates how African literature produced by women writers is explicitly and polemically engaged with urgent political issues that have both local and global resonance the veil Islamophobia and a distinctively African brand of feminist critique Third it revisits Fredric Jameson s claim that all third world texts are national allegories and considers these novels by African women in relation to Jameson s claim arguing that their work has complicated Jameson s assumptions

Complicity and Responsibility in Contemporary African Writing Minna Johanna Niemi,2021-05-03 This book investigates the many ways in which contemporary African fiction has reflected on themes of responsibility and complicity during the postcolonial period Covering the authors Ayi Kwei Armah Tsitsi Dangarembga Nuruddin Farah Michiel Heyns and J M Coetzee the book places each writer s novels in their cultural and literary context in order to investigate similarities and differences between fictional approaches to individual complicity in politically unstable situations In doing so the study focuses on these texts representations of discomfiting experiences of being implicated in harm done to others in order to show that it is precisely during times of political crisis that questions of moral responsibility and implicatedness in compromised conduct become more pronounced The study also challenges longstanding western amnesia concerning responsibility for historical and present day violence in African countries and juxtaposes this denial of responsibility with the western literary readership s consumption of narratives of African suffering The study instead proposes new reading habits based on an awareness of readerly complicity and responsibility Drawing insights from across political philosophy and literary theory this book will be of interest to researchers of African literature postcolonial studies and peace and conflict studies

Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel Peter Wuteh Vakunta, 2023-09-30 Toward the Decolonization of the Europhone African Novel is a treatise on the problematics of language choice in Europhone African literature Vakunta s research is rooted in the notion that the postcolonial African fiction writer is at a crossroads of languages groping for linguistic re orientation Using the prose of fiction of Patrice Nganang Ahmadou Kourouma Mercedes Fouda Nazi Boni and Gabriel K Fonkou as corpus he contends that postcolonial African fiction is an offshoot of a linguistic tinkering process that enables writers to tinker with the language of the ex colonizer in a deliberate attempt to divest indigenous writing of its hegemonic vestiges
