Modern Australian Art:

Modern Australian Art Richard Haese, 1982 Modern Australian Women Jane Hylton, 2000 In the mid 1920s when Australian art was beginning to atrophy into clichéd conservative landscapes it was saved by women who injected vitality and a new approach to style and subject matter Artists such as Margaret Preston Thea Proctor Grace Crowley Dorrit Black and Ethel Spowers were the pioneers and promoters of modernism in Australia exploring new ideas about what art could portray and introducing artistic developments such as Cubism Their paintings and prints challenged other artists and certainly challenged Australian audiences Many of these modern women led adventurous and unconventional lives They travelled and studied in Europe Many were financially independent and did not need to conform to the requirements of a largely male conventional and conservative art buying public Most chose to remain unmarried and childless so as to devote themselves to their art Modern Australian Women paintings and prints 1925 1945 is a major exhibition focussing on Australia's great women artists of the modernist period It includes important and iconic works by the well known names of Australian art history Margaret Preston Grace Crowley Grace Cossington Smith as well as works by artists such as Clarice Beckett and Stella Bowen who have only recently begun to receive the attention they deserve Modern Australian Women paintings and prints 1925 1945 is an Art Gallery of South Australia Travelling Exhibition This exhibition is supported by Marsh the Australian Women's Weekly and Visions of Australia Frameworks for Modern Art Jason Gaiger, 2003-01-01 This generously illustrated volume the first in the Art of the Twentieth Century series introduces and explores a range of contemporary issues and debates about art and its place in the wider culture today The opening chapter discusses key concepts such as modernity modernism autonomy spectatorship and globalization Four case studies follow each devoted to a specific work of art across the span of the century Marcel Duchamp's Bottlerack Barnett Newman's Eve Ana Mendieta's Silueta series and Yarla by the Australian Aboriginal Yuendumu community These works have been selected not only for their intrinsic interest but also for the way in which they open up wider questions of meaning and interpretation that are central to understanding twentieth century art When Modern Became Contemporary Art Charles Green, Heather Barker, 2024-09-19 This book is a portrait of the period when modern art became contemporary art It explores how and why writers and artists in Australia argued over the idea of a distinctively Australian modern and then postmodern art from 1962 the date of publication of a foundational book Australian Painting 1788 1960 up to 1988 the year of the Australian Bicentennial Across nine chapters about art exhibitions curators and critics this book describes the shift from modern art to contemporary art through the successive attempts to define a place in the world for Australian art But by 1988 Australian art looked less and less like a viable tradition inside which to interpret our art Instead vast gaps appeared since mostly male and often older White writers had limited their horizons to White Australia alone National stories by White men like borders had less and less explanatory value Underneath this a perplexing subject remained the absence of Aboriginal art in understanding what Australian art was during the period that established the idea of a distinctive Australian modern and then contemporary art. This book reflects on why the embrace of Aboriginal art was so late in art museums and histories of Australian art, arguing that this was because it was not part of a national story dominated by colonial then neo colonial dependency. It is important reading for all scholars of both global and Australian art and for curators and artists.

Formerly the Dictionary of 20th Century Art, the text has been completely revised and updated for this major new edition. 300 entries have been added and it now contains entries on photography in modern art. With emphasis on recent art and artists, for example Damien Hirst, it has an exceptionally strong coverage of art from the 1960s which makes it particularly ideal for contemporary art enthusiasts. Further reading is provided at entry level to assist those wishing to know more about a particular subject. In addition, this edition features recommended web links for many entries which are accessed and kept up to date via the Dictionary of Modern Art companion website.
