citizens of the United Caves Society have lived below earth's ground for three generations. The world above the cave ceilings became uninhabitable. All plant and animal life perished as the ancestors of the cave people moved underground to live in artificial light, engineered seasons, and a new and just society in order to survive in this new world of stone. Susannah, a twelve-year-old student of Steadman Middle School, longs for the world above. She loves to hear the ancestral stories handed down of how life was before the disaster. She believes she can help restore the earth through science. The new school year has begun, and she can't wait for the science fair to begin. She won first prize last year and wants to win again. Unfortunately, her best friend Agnes has turned against her, and Susannah doesn't know why. Susannah learns she has been made leader with team members Martin, Cornelia, and Edward, who don't seem interested in winning the way she does. Winning seems to have become Susannah's main goal instead of the restoration of Earth. Will Susannah be able to work with the members of the Z team as she refers to them in her mind? Will she recognize the unique talents of Cornelia, Martin, and Edward instead of trying to force them to be like her? Agnes has been assigned as team leader and has what Susannah feels are the best kids to work with. Will Susannah find out what happened to her best friend who is always mad at her? The Cambridge Review, 1899

When Coral Stevens first met Tristan Freeman, sparks flew and fear exploded, causing her tentatively safe world to brew with defensiveness and mistrust. Tristan, for his part, somehow worked his magic and managed to break down Coral's walls, wearing down the barriers she threw between them until Coral's heart was firmly caught in his grasp. But Coral had no idea that meeting him would lead her to challenge every aspect of her life, including her own mortality. As she begins to recover from her ordeal, she must learn to let go of her need to control and allow Tristan to take care of her, for he has become her best friend, her passionate lover, her bright light in the darkness, and maybe, with his help, she can finally lay the ghosts of her past to rest. Now they must prove to each other, no matter how hard it gets, they have become intrinsically woven into the web of each other's lives. Forever Or will fate take over again and play a hand, neither one of them can see.
