satisfying and inspiring life story Volcano Garrett Kaoru Hongo,1995 Garrett Hongo grew up with a profound sense of estrangement from his past Family secrets evasions and my own ignorance fed an anger and a desire to know that would not abate Born in Hawai i raised in Los Angeles after the age of six a fourth generation Japanese American inheritor of a recent past more comfortably forgotten than kept alive for Hongo the knowing he so desired would come only when he returned to Volcano the tiny town where he was born This beautifully rendered memoir is an account of that journey finally undertaken when he was in his early thirties a journey toward the knowledge about himself and his history that would give him at last a way to belong and a place to belong to Arriving in Volcano with his wife and infant son Hongo settled in a cottage in the rain forest amidst the relentlessly spectacular landscape below the summit of the Kilauea volcano There near the general store once owned by his grandfather among people who quickly recognized the family resemblance in his face he began to forge a connection to the human culture that though he was pulled from it at an early age helped to shape him and to the living earth that helped to shape that culture In this way Hongo both native son and prodigal son found his own path into a world where nothing was without its meaning or its memories In a powerful narrative interwoven with natural history and laced with luminous descriptions of the volcano and its rain forest surroundings the author combines childhood recollections with the richness of feeling image and information that this journey provided to him about his own family about the experience of the Japanese American community at large in this century and about the relationship of both the inner and outer landscapes to the human imagination The result is a remarkable deeply moving book of origins a revelation of the ways in which cultural identity personal history and love of place are created lost and regained BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved Jan Ken Po Dennis M. Ogawa,1982-12-01 Jan Ken Po Ai Kono Sho Junk An a Po I Canna Show These words to a simple child s game brought from Japan and made local the property of all of Hawaii s people symbolize the cultural transformation experienced by Hawaii s Japanese It is the story of this experience that Dennis Ogawa tells so well here The Unsung Great Greg Robinson,2020-12-31 Fascinating portraits illuminate the diversity of Japanese American experiences From a title winning boxer in Louisiana to a Broadway baritone in New York Japanese Americans have long belied their popular representation as quiet Americans Showcasing the lives and achievements of relatively unknown but remarkable people in Nikkei history scholar and journalist Greg Robinson reveals the diverse experiences of Japanese Americans and explores a wealth of themes including mixed race families artistic pioneers mass confinement civil rights activism and queer history Drawn primarily from Robinson s popular writings in the San Francisco newspaper Nichi Bei Weekly and community website Discover Nikkei The Unsung Great offers entertaining and compelling stories that challenge one dimensional views of Japanese Americans This collection breaks new ground by devoting attention to Nikkei beyond the West Coast including the vibrant communities of New York and Chicago as well as the little known history of Japanese Americans in the US South Expertly researched and accessibly written The Unsung Great brings to light a constellation of varied and incredible life stories Acculturation Among the Japanese of Kona, Hawaii John Fee Embree, 1941 Nisei Naysayer James Matsumoto Omura, 2018-08-28 Among the fiercest opponents of the mass incarceration of Japanese Americans during World War II was journalist James Jimmie Matsumoto Omura In his sharp penned columns Omura fearlessly called out leaders in the Nikkei community for what he saw as their complicity with the U S government s unjust and unconstitutional policies particularly the federal decision to draft imprisoned Nisei into the military without first restoring their lost citizenship rights In 1944 Omura was pushed out of his editorship of the Japanese American newspaper Rocky Shimpō indicted arrested jailed and forced to stand trial for unlawful conspiracy to counsel aid and abet violations of the military draft He was among the first Nikkei to seek governmental redress and reparations for wartime violations of civil liberties and human rights In this memoir which he began writing towards the end of his life Omura provides a vivid account of his early years his boyhood on Bainbridge Island summers spent working in the salmon canneries of Alaska riding the rails in search of work during the Great Depression honing his skills as a journalist in Los Angeles and San Francisco By the time of the attack on Pearl Harbor Omura had already developed a reputation as one of the Japanese American Citizens League s most adamant critics and when the JACL leadership acquiesced to the mass incarceration of American born Japanese he refused to remain silent at great personal and professional cost Shunned by the Nikkei community and excluded from the standard narrative of Japanese American wartime incarceration until later in life Omura seeks in this memoir to correct the cockeyed history to which Japanese America has been exposed Edited and with an introduction by historian Arthur A Hansen and with contributions from Asian American activists and writers Frank Chin Yosh Kuromiya and Frank Abe Nisei Naysayer provides an essential firsthand account of Japanese American wartime resistance

Swimming in the American Hiroshi Kashiwagi, 2005 This interesting mixture of literary genres is a reflection of a life in America the highs and lows the joys and pains but a clear eyed spirit that never gave up Kashiwagi s writings illustrate the meaning and significance of cultural pluralism in America I recommend it as a genuine lived in account of a Japanese American James Hirabayashi Emeritus Professor of Anthropology and Ethnic Studies San Francisco State University and Senior Program Advisor Japanese American National Museum Los Angeles
