Rip Van Winkle The Autobiography Of Jose:

The Man who was Rip Van Winkle Benjamin McArthur, 2007-01-01 The most beloved American comedic actor of the nineteenth century Joseph Jefferson made his name as Washington Irving's Rip Van Winkle In this book a compelling blend of biography and theatrical and cultural history Benjamin McArthur chronicles Jefferson's remarkable career and offers a lively and original account of the heroic age of the American theatre Joe Jefferson's entire life was spent on the stage from the age of Jackson to the dawn of motion pictures He extensively toured the United States as well as Australia and Great Britain An ever successful career including acclaim as painter and memoirist put him in the company of the great actors artists and writers of the day including Edwin Forrest Edwin Booth John Singer Sargent and William Dean Howells This book rescues a brilliant figure and places him appropriately enough on center stage of a pivotal time for American theatre McArthur explores the personalities of the period the changing theatrical styles and their audiences the touring life and the wide and varied culture of theatre Through the life of Jefferson McArthur is able to illuminate an era History of California.

1884-90 Hubert Howe Bancroft, 1886 A History of the New York Stage from the First Performance in 1732 to 1901 Thomas Allston Brown, 1903 History of California Hubert Howe Bancroft, Henry Lebbeus Oak, William Nemos, Frances Fuller Victor, 1886 This work examines California's history from 1520 to 1890 It also contains a ethnology of the state's population economics and politics A History of European Literature Walter Cohen, 2017-01-19 Walter Cohen argues that the history of European literature and each of its standard periods can be illuminated by comparative consideration of the different literary languages within Europe and by the ties of European literature to world literature World literature is marked by recurrent systematic features outcomes of the way that language and literature are at once the products of major change and its agents Cohen tracks these features from ancient times to the present distinguishing five main overlapping stages Within that framework he shows that European literatures ongoing internal and external relationships are most visible at the level of form rather than of thematic statement or mimetic representation European literature emerges from world literature before the birth of Europe during antiquity whose Classical languages are the heirs to the complex heritage of Afro Eurasia This legacy is later transmitted by Latin to the various vernaculars The uniqueness of the process lies in the gradual displacement of the learned language by the vernacular long dominated by Romance literatures That development subsequently informs the second crucial differentiating dimension of European literature the multicontinental expansion of its languages and characteristic genres especially the novel beginning in the Renaissance This expansion ultimately results in the reintegration of European literature into world literature and thus in the creation of today's global literary system The distinctiveness of European literature is to be found in these interrelated trajectories History of California: 1825-1840 Hubert Howe Bancroft, Henry Lebbeus Oak, William Nemos, Frances Fuller Victor, 1840 This work examines California's history from 1520 to 1890 It also contains a ethnology of the state's population economics and politics History, Abolition, and the Ever-Present Now in Antebellum American Writing Jeffrey Insko, 2018-12-06 History and the Ever Present Now in Antebellum American Writing examines the meaning and possibilities of the present and its relationship to history and historicity in a number of literary texts specifically the writings of several figures in antebellum US literary history some but not all of whom associated with the period's romantic movement Focusing on nineteenth century writers who were impatient for social change like those advocating for the immediate emancipation of slaves as opposed to those planning for a gradual end to slavery the book recovers some of the political force of romanticism Through close readings of texts by Washington Irving John Neal Catharine Sedgwick Frederick Douglass Ralph Waldo Emerson and Herman Melville the book argues that these writers practiced forms of literary historiography that treat the past as neither a reflection of present interests nor as an irretrievably distant other but as a complex and open ended interaction between the two In place of a fixed and linear past these writers imagine history as an experience rooted in a fluid dynamic and ever changing present The political philosophical and aesthetic disposition Insko calls romantic presentism insists upon the present as the fundamental sphere of human action and experience and hence of ethics and democratic possibility Wherefrom Does History Emerge? Tilo Schabert, John von Heyking, 2020-10-26 Powers of chaos accompany any order of the human world being the force against which this order is set Human experience of history is two fold There is history ruled by chaos and history ruled by order History occurs in a continuous flow of both histories The dialectics of life unto nothingness creation struggles for order order achieved is unceasingly actual In exploring it within a wide interdisciplinary and transcultural range this book reaches beyond a conventional philosophy of history It deals with the chaotic as well as the cosmic part of the human historical experience It stages this drama through the tales that religious mythical literary philosophical folkloristic and historiographical sources tell and which are retold and interpreted here From early on humans wished to know where why and wherefore all started and took place Couldn't the dialectics between chaos and order be meaningful Couldn't they assume a productive role as to the world's precarious event Power strife guilt divine grace and revelation literary symbolization as well as storytelling are discussed in this book Philosophy political theory theology religious studies and literary studies will greatly benefit from its width and density Folk Heroes and Heroines around the World Graham Seal, Kim Kennedy White, 2016-03-14 This comprehensive collection of folk hero tales builds on the success of the first edition by providing readers with expanded contextual information on story characters from the Americas to Zanzibar Despite the tremendous differences between cultures and ethnicities across the world all of them have folk heroes and heroines real and imagined that have been represented in tales legends songs and verse These stories persist through time and space over generations even through migrations to new countries and languages This encyclopedia is a one stop source for broad coverage of the world's folk hero tales Geared toward high school and early college readers the book opens with an overview of folk heroes and heroines that provides invaluable context and then presents a chronology The book is divided into two main sections the first provides entries on the major types and themes the second addresses specific folk tale characters organized by continent with folk hero entries organized alphabetically Each entry provides cross references as well as a list of further readings Continent sections include a bibliography for additional research The book concludes with an alphabetical list of heroes and an index of hero types Books and Pamphlets, Including Serials and Contributions to Periodicals Library of Congress.
