Foreign Direct Investment Dale R. Weigel, 1997-01-01 The report reviews lessons from the International Finance Corporation's IFC investment and advisory experience in the developing world which show the interactions between policy frameworks and the volume and structure of foreign direct investments FDI Case studies show how the Corporation promotes successful project structures and regulatory changes as it tries to attain the strongest development impact for investments In developing countries FDI has flowed mainly into manufacturing and processing industries In the past investment attractiveness had been closely linked to possession of natural resources or a large domestic market while production and trade globalization competitiveness as a location for investment and exporting have become the main determinants of attractiveness Sources of FDI in the past came almost exclusively from industrial countries though recently those sources have widened emerging from developing countries in their own right and for their own regions IFC as an international initiative to promote FDI in developing countries is liable to promote bilateral trade agreements bilateral and multilateral financial institutions and investment promotion programs its advisory role may vary from diagnostic studies overweighing constraints to FDI to investment policy studies giving specific solutions on either changes or strategies The study further looks at how policy environment is set and at finding investor opportunities through project financing largely structured as joint ventures The inherent fragile nature of joint ventures restricts foreign ownership thus limiting project structures however careful project design has lead to successful operations by ensuring management and financial arrangements Still to maximize benefits an unfinished agenda of policy reform remains and as more countries open to FDI this integration will lead to an overall increase in FDI flows

Measuring Political Risk Charlotte H. Capital and Chaos Benjamin A. T. Graham,2012 Fragile states are trapped in cycles of poverty violence and instability War and instability deter investment Low investment retards growth and lack of growth engenders further conflict and instability One path out of this equilibrium is for fragile states to succeed in attracting foreign direct investment FDI while political risk remains high My dissertation explores firm level variation in how investors experience and respond to political risk identifying types of investors who are and are not willing to invest in post conflict and other fragile states I then explore the mechanisms through which these investors manage political risk I focus specifically on foreign firms that specialize in political risk management and on diasporans i e migrants and their descendents a group of potential investors that is theorized to be particularly willing to and capable of investing in fragile states Empirically I exploit both time series cross sectional data on dyadic FDI between states as well as firm level data from an original survey of foreign firms in the post conflict country of Georgia

Foreign Direct Investment (FDI) - Necessary Considerations of a Transnational Company Nicolas Breitfeld,2010-03 Seminar paper from the year 2009 in the subject Business economics Investment and Finance grade 1 7 Berlin School of Economics and Law Institute of Management course International Finance language English abstract Geneva 24 June 2009 Global foreign direct investment FDI inflows and cross border mergers and acquisitions M As the main mode of FDI drastically declined in the last quarter of 2008 and the fall has continued into 2009 UNCTAD data reveal FDI inflows dropped by 54% and M As by 77% during the first quarter of 2009 as compared to the same period last year Prospects for FDI will remain gloomy for the rest of the year UNCTAD economists say UNCTAD 2009

Foreign Direct Investment FDI is defined by the IMF as an international investment of one company with the intention of lasting relationship This investment has to exceed 10% of equity of the target company Also an ambition of the management for influence should be visible This makes the difference to a portfolio investment IMF 1993 The following list summarizes major requirements Transfer of capital Control investment A source of funds for foreign operations A balance of payments flow Before the financial crisis hit the world economy FDI was one of the major drivers of globalization and continuously increasing with high growth rates FDI flows over a long period of time even increased faster than world GDP growth But as reported from the UNCTAD World Investment Report 2009 85% of Transnational Corporations TNC 3 worldwide are negatively affected by the financial crisis with respective negative impacts on their investment decisions This shortfall has also consequences to the landscape of FDI The USA are still number one in FDI flows but a lot of emerging countries have risen in the list of top FDI inflows This is another hint for the changes in the world The emerging markets will more and more take over a leading position in world economics and als

Folkerts-Landau,1991-04-15 The growing integration of capital markets has strengthened incentives for greater international coordination of economic and financial policies Structural changes in these financial market however may have undermined the effectiveness of monetary and fiscal policy and complicated market access by developing countries These are among the findings of this study of capital flows in the 1970s and the 1980s Research Handbook on Foreign Direct Investment Markus Krajewski ,Rhea Tamara Hoffmann, Increasing international investment the proliferation of international investment agreements domestic legislation and investor State contracts have contributed to the development of a new field of international law that defines obligations between host states and foreign investors with investor State dispute settlement This involves not only vast sums but also a panoply of rights duties and shifting objectives at the juncture of national and international law and policy This engaging Research Handbook provides an authoritative account of these diverse investment law issues Foreign Direct Investment in the United States: Benefits, Suspensions, and Risks with Special Attention to FDI from China Theodore H. Moran,Lindsay Oldenski,2013-09-01 Americans have long been ambivalent toward foreign direct investment in the United States Foreign multinational corporations may be a source of capital technology and jobs But what are the implications for US workers firms communities and consumers as the United States remains the most popular destination for foreign multinational investment Theodore H Moran and Lindsay Oldenski find that foreign multinational firms that invest in the United States are alongside US headquartered American multinationals the most productive and highest paying segment of the US economy These firms conduct more research and development provide more value added to US domestic inputs and export more goods and services than other firms in the US economy The superior technology and management techniques they employ spill over horizontally and vertically to improve the performance of local firms and workers As the United States wants not only to expand employment but also create well paying jobs that reverse the falling earnings that many US workers and middle class families have suffered in recent decades it is more important than ever to enhance the United States as a destination for multinational investors      The Effect of Treaties on Foreign Direct Investment Karl P Sauvant, Lisa E Sachs, 2009-03-27 Over the past twenty years foreign direct investments have spurred widespread liberalization of the foreign direct investment FDI regulatory framework By opening up to foreign investors and encouraging FDI which could result in increased capital and market access many countries have improved the operational conditions for foreign affiliates and strengthened standards of treatment and protection By assuring investors that their investment will be legally protected with closed bilateral investment treaties BITs and double taxation treaties DTTs this in turn creates greater interest in FDI      The Effect of Capital Controls on Foreign Direct Investment Decisions Under Country Risk with Intangible Assets Kinga Z. Elo, 2007-04 This paper examines how capital controls affect FDI decisions and how the impact of these restrictive measures varies with different levels of country risk We construct a model of firms FDI decisions broadly in Dunning's eclectic theory framework using real options to emphasize economic uncertainty and country risk Numerical results of the model take the form of quality statistics that uncover the underlying dynamics hidden in the aggregate data that is responsible for the low performance of recent empirical studies We find that increasing levels of capital controls reduce the life span of FDI investments at each level of country risk and foreign investors willingness towards risk sharing increases We reveal a significant interaction between capital control and country risk resulting in a nonlinear relationship between these and the volatility and volume statistics We estimate a standard cross sectional model that provides strong support for our theoretical findings      Foreign Direct Investment in Australia Isabel Faeth, 2010 Submitted in partial fulfilment of the requirements of the degree of Doctor of Philosophy with coursework component December 2005
