Information Arts Stephen Wilson, 2003-02-28 An introduction to the work and ideas of artists who use and even influence science and technology. A new breed of contemporary artist engages science and technology not just to adopt the vocabulary and gizmos but to explore and comment on the content, agendas and possibilities. Indeed, proposes Stephen Wilson, the role of the artist is not only to interpret and to spread scientific knowledge but to be an active partner in determining the direction of research. Years ago C. P. Snow wrote about the two cultures of science and the humanities; these developments may finally help to change the outlook of those who view science and technology as separate from the general culture. In this rich compendium, Wilson offers the first comprehensive survey of international artists who incorporate concepts and research from mathematics the physical sciences biology kinetics telecommunications and experimental digital systems such as artificial intelligence and ubiquitous computing In addition to visual documentation and statements by the artists Wilson examines relevant art theoretical writings and explores emerging scientific and technological research likely to be culturally significant in the future He also provides lists of resources including organizations publications conferences museums research centers and Web sites
