Tun Okan Bay Okan is an independent emigrant filmmaker born in 1942 in Turkey. He started his filmmaking career in 1974 with his debut film The Bus, which he made in Sweden and partly in Germany. He completed the film some seven years after he quit his short but hectic acting career in Turkey's popular commercial cinema industry. Ye il am (A dentist by training) Okan's cinema career started in 1965 after winning an acting competition organised by a popular film magazine. Starring in thirteen films in a period of less than two years, he achieved considerable fame. In 1967, Okan quit his career in Ye il am, which he accused of anaesthetising society, and immigrated to Switzerland. His debut film The Bus was followed by only three other films: Dr le de samedi (Funny Saturday) 1985, Mercedes mon Amour (The Yellow Mercedes) 1992, and Umut z mleri (Grapes of Hope) 2013. Okan's films are products that can best be studied in relation to both the mainstream popular cinema of Turkey (Ye il am), in which Okan started his cinema career, and in relation to certain European filmmakers and cinema movements that have influenced his cinema. Naficy's accented cinema concept ultimately focuses too much on Hollywood cinema, and for this reason it is ill equipped to study the cinema of filmmakers like Okan whose works have little to do with Hollywood Okan's cinema requires a different approach and a vocabulary which will enable one to study his cinema in relation not only to Hollywood but to a diverse group of personal cinemas and cinema movements Okan is an eclectic filmmaker his cinema is in constant flux As I demonstrate in this study Okan's cinema is inspired by a diverse group of filmmakers and cinemas In his films one can find markers of inspirations from and references to a great variety of European filmmakers ranging from Wim Wenders to Jacques Tati Jean Luc Godard to Jack Clayton and cinema movements from Italian Neorealism to the Czechoslovak New Wave French New Wave to British Free Cinema influenced New Wave kitchen sink dramas Although his films feature recurrent themes relating to immigration being the cinema of an independent filmmaker Okan's cinema proves to be a difficult one to categorise because of the many neatly employed inspirations from and references to diverse sources Perhaps this is one of the reasons why it has thus far received so little attention Okan is not a typical Turkish film director Only half of his films take place in Turkey and even those films feature parts that were shot abroad More importantly he is not a film maker who uses themes cultural icons stereotypes narration strategies and filmic aesthetics that have typically been used by filmmakers in Turkey He is also not a filmmaker who has attracted the attention of international critics His cinema is a cinema in between it is a cinema of tensions and competing identities visions and interests It invokes a split reception on the viewer On one hand his films can be read in relation reaction to tendencies in national Turkish cinema and on the other hand in relation to international particularly the European arthouse cinema Given this the best way to understand and appreciate his works is perhaps to read Okan's films in dialogue with developments in both cinema of Turkey and European art cinema for his signature derives influences from a variety of sources in these cinemas Okan's own words identifying himself as a European Turk could be seen as legitimisation and encouragement to discuss his works in relation to both cinema of Turkey and European art cinema Okan is neither a one issue director nor a filmmaker who restricts himself to one format or genre On the contrary his films are always on the road sometimes literally his third film The Yellow Mercedes is a road movie and The Bus though not being a road movie in the strict sense generously exploits the conventions of the genre Figuratively all of Okan's films are in search of new ways of expression Indeed they are the products of this very search This constant search motivates him to challenge and often cross many established conventions and boundaries of cinema Okan's cinema is what I call transboundary cinema

The Cinema of John Boorman Brian Hoyle, 2012-09-14 John Boorman has written and directed more than 25 television and feature films including such classics as Deliverance Point Blank Hope and Glory and Excalibur He has been nominated for five Academy Awards including twice for best Director Deliverance and Hope and Glory In the first full length critical study of the director in more than two decades author Brian Hoyle presents a comprehensive examination of Boorman's career to date The Cinema of John Boorman offers a film by film appraisal of the director's career including his feature films and little known works for television Drawing on unpublished archive material Hoyle provides a close reading of each of Boorman's films Organized chronologically each chapter examines two or three films and links them thematically This study also describes Boorman's interest in myths and quest narratives as well as his relationship with writers and literature Making the case that Boorman is both an auteur and a visionary The Cinema of John Boorman will be of interest not only to fans of the director's work but to film scholars in general

Melvin Donalson, 2005-12-20 Feature films function as a keeper of America's collective conscience a repository of fears guilt and hopes Buddy films about men of different races depict a world where a peaceful balance is possible and conflicts can be resolved Since the 1930s these films have presented various forms of masculinity reflecting dominant mainstream social traditions images of men and manhood within the culture Interracial buddy films include such examples as the Silver Streak 48 Hrs Beverly Hills Cop Lethal Weapon and The Shawshank Redemption Many of these films have been made into franchises furthering their cultural importance as filmic versions of interracial equality This critical study analyzes the idealized interracial relationships the heterosexual masculine roles within the films and the appearances of this kind of film in various genres The book is arranged in six major chapters each focusing upon a particular era in the development of the interracial buddy film The book also examines the film sequel as a validation of the enduring significance of interracial interaction The scope of the work is not limited to Caucasian African American pairings Films with a myriad of racial and ethnic combinations are also analyzed such as Tin Cup Rush Hour Shanghai Noon and Ocean's Eleven Focus On: 100

Wilkins, 2016-02-19 The representation of gender in film remains an intensely debated topic particularly in academic considerations of US mainstream cinema where it is often perceived as perpetuating rigid binary views of gender and reinforcing patriarchal dominant notions of masculinity and femininity While previous scholarly discussion has focused on visual or narrative portrayals of gender this book considers the ways that film sound music voice sound effects and silence is used to represent gender Taking a socio historical approach Heidi Wilkins investigates a range of popular US genres including screwball comedy the road movie and chick flicks to explore the ways that film sound can reinforce traditional assumptions about masculinity and femininity impart ambivalent meanings to them or even challenge and subvert the notion of gender itself Case studies include His Girl Friday Easy Rider and Bridesmaids
