Role Of Art In The Late Anglo Saxon Church:

The Role of Art in the Late Anglo-Saxon Church Richard Gameson, 1995 This study explores the role of early medieval religious art in its historical context focusing on England from the reign of Alfred the Great to the aftermath of the Norman conquest Tenth and eleventh century society expressed itself extensively through visual means and the surviving material provides a rich body of evidence for the religious culture of the time Combining visual and documentary evidence The Role of Art in the Late Anglo Saxon Church sheds new light on a wide range of magnificent art works and their functions and offers fresh perspectives on the ecclesiastical history and beliefs of late Anglo Saxon England with important implications for the study of early medieval civilization in general Pastoral Care in Medieval England Peter Clarke, Sarah James, 2019-08-06 Pastoral Care the religious mission of the Church to minister to the laity and care for their spiritual welfare has been a subject of growing interest in medieval studies This volume breaks new ground with its broad chronological scope from the early eleventh to the late fifteenth centuries and its interdisciplinary breadth New and established scholars from a range of disciplines including history literary studies art history and musicology bring their specialist perspectives to bear on textual and visual source materials The varied contributions include discussions of politics ecclesiology book history theology and patronage forming a series of conversations that reveal both continuities and divergences across time and media and exemplify the enriching effects of interdisciplinary work upon our understanding of this important topic The Bayeux Tapestry and Its Contexts Elizabeth Carson Pastan, Stephen D. White, Kate Gilbert, 2014 A full and provocative reappraisal of the Bayeux Tapestry its origins design and patronage Aspects of the Bayeux Tapestry in fact an embroidered hanging have always remained mysterious despite much scholarly investigation not least its design and patron Here in the first full length interdisciplinary approach to the subject the authors an art historian and a historian consider these and other issues Rejecting the prevalent view that it was commissioned by Odo the bishop of Bayeux and half brother of William the Conqueror or by some other comparable patron they bring new evidence to bear on the question of its relationship to the abbey of St Augustine s Canterbury From the study of art historical archeological literary historical and documentary materials they conclude that the monks of St Augustine s designed the hanging for display in their abbey church to tell their own story of how England was invaded and conquered in 1066 Elizabeth Carson Pastan is a Professor of Art History at Emory University Stephen D White is Asa G Candler Professor of Medieval History emeritus Emory University and an Honorary Professor of Mediaeval History at the University of St Andrews Anglo-Saxon England: Volume 31 Michael Lapidge, Malcolm Godden, Simon Keynes, 2003-04-21 Ten papers from the 10th conference of the International Society of Anglo Saxonists held at the University of Helsinki in 2001 Contents The landscape of Beowulf Margaret Gelling Scaef Japheth and the origins of the Anglo Saxons Daniel Anlezark The Anglo Saxons and the Goths rewriting the sack of Rome M R Godden The Old English Bede and the construction of Anglo Saxon authority Nicole Guenther Discenza Daniel the Three Youths

The Intellectual Foundations of the English Benedictine Reform Mechthild Gretsch, 1999-03-11 This book explores the foundations of the intellectual renaissance in tenth century England including both the English Benedictine reform and the establishment by thelwald Bishop of Winchester 963-84 of the most influential school in late Anglo Saxon England The vital early stages of thelwald's scholarly career are explored for the first time particularly his formative years in King thelstan's entourage and his period of study at Glastonbury Light is shed on the contribution which thelstan's cosmopolitan court made to intellectual and spiritual life Based on a wide range of evidence Dr Gretsch assigns to thelwald two influential texts an interlinear translation of the psalter and a vast corpus of Old English glosses to Aldhelm's prose De virginitate These glosses are shown to have played a pivotal role in the development of the vernacular as a medium for scholarly discourse

Corpus of Anglo-Saxon Stone Sculpture in England Rosemary Cramp, 1984 This analytical catalogue of sculpture from the historic counties of Devon Dorset Somerset and Wiltshire provides a new perspective on the artistic achievement of the late Saxon kingdom The volume includes individual pieces of the highest quality such as the Bradford-on-Avon and Winterbourne Steepleton angels or the newly discovered figures from Congresbury Most of the monuments were carved at a time when Wessex art was at its zenith in the tenth and eleventh centuries a formative period for English cultural identity This volume sets the sculpture within an historical topographical and art historical context highlighting the close links with contemporary styles in manuscripts and metalwork Full photographic records of each monument present many new illustrations unique to this volume An indispensable research tool for all those interested in the early medieval world this volume is also an authoritative aid for local historians

A Companion to the Early Middle Ages Pauline Stafford, 2013-03-26 Drawing on 28 original essays A Companion to the Early Middle Ages takes an inclusive approach to the history of Britain and Ireland from c. 500 to c. 1100 to overcome artificial distinctions of modern national boundaries A collaborative history from leading scholars covering the key debates and issues Surveys the building blocks of political society and considers whether there were fundamental differences across Britain and Ireland Considers potential factors for change including the economy Christianisation and the Vikings

Pathos in Late-Medieval Religious Drama and Art Gabriella Mazzon, 2018-05-23 Pathos as Communicative Strategy in Late Medieval Religious Drama and Art explores the strategies employed to trigger emotional responses in late medieval dramatic texts from several Western European traditions and juxtaposes these texts with artistic productions from the same areas with an emphasis on Britain The aim is to unravel the mechanisms through which pathos was produced and employed mainly through the representation of pain and suffering with mainly religious but also political aims The novelty of the book resides in its specific linguistic perspective which highlights the recurrent use of words structures and dialogic patterns in drama to reinforce messages on the salvific value of suffering in synergy with visual messages produced in the same cultural milieu

Maps and Monsters in Medieval England Asa Simon Mittman, 2013-09-13 This study centers on issues of marginality and monstrosity in medieval England In the middle ages geography was viewed as divinely ordered so Britain's location at the periphery of the inhabitable world caused anxiety among its inhabitants Far from the world's holy center the geographic margins were considered monstrous Medieval geography for centuries scorned as crude is now the subject of several careful studies Monsters have likewise been the subject of recent attention in the growing field of monster studies though few works situate these creatures firmly in their specific historical contexts This book sits at the crossroads of these two discourses geography and monstrosity treated separately in the established scholarship but inseparable in the minds of medieval authors and artists

Communal Creativity in the Making of the 'Beowulf' Manuscript Simon C. Thomson, 2018-04-17 In Communal Creativity in the Making of the Beowulf Manuscript Simon Thomson analyses details of scribal activity to tell a story about the project that preserved Beowulf as one of a collective if error strewn endeavour and arguing for a date in Cnut's reign He presents evidence for the use of more than three exemplars and at least two artists as well as two scribes making this an intentional and creative re presentation uniting literature religious and heroic in poetry and in prose He goes on to set it in the broader context of manuscript production in late Anglo Saxon England as one example among many of communities using old literature in new ways and of scribes working together making mistakes and learning

This is the first comprehensive survey of the history of the book in Britain from Roman through Anglo Saxon to early Norman times The expert contributions explore the physical form of books including their codicology script and decoration examine the circulation and exchange of manuscripts and texts between England Ireland the Celtic realms and the Continent discuss the production presentation and use of different classes of texts ranging from fine service books to functional schoolbooks and evaluate the libraries that can be associated with particular individuals and institutions The result is an authoritative account of the first millennium of the history of books manuscript making and literary culture in Britain which intimately linked to its cultural contexts sheds vital light on broader patterns of political ecclesiastical and cultural history extending from the period of the Vindolanda writing tablets through the age of Bede and Alcuin to the time of the Domesday Book

The Battle of Carham Neil McGuigan, Alex Woolf, 2018-11-08 Very little is known about the battle of Carham fought between the Scots and Northumbrians in 1018 The leaders were probably Mael Colum II king of Scotland and Uhtred of Bamburgh earl or ealdorman in Northumbria The outcome of the battle was a victory for the Scots seen by some as a pivotal event in the expansion of the Scottish kingdom the demise of Northumbria and the Scottish conquest of Lothian The battle also removed a potentially significant source of resistance to the recent conqueror of England Cnut This collection of essays by a range of subject specialists explores the battle in its context bringing new understanding of this important and controversial historical event Topics covered include Anglo Scottish relations the political character and ecclesiastical organisation of the Northumbrian territory ruled by Uhtred material from the Chronicles and other historical records that brings the era to light and the archaeological and sculptural landscape of the tenth and eleventh century Tweed basin where the battle took place
