may be viewed as a corruption of the social process a distortion of the body image and a perversion of bodily processes It is this multifactorial etiology that makes the diagnosis and treatment of dietary disorders so difficult and frustrating Because of social demands and a distorted body image men and women have perverted the simple act of eating into always painful sometimes tragic and occasionally deadly outcomes The eating disorders fall into three categories There is obesity the overconsumption of food and its antithesis anorexia the act of voluntary starvation In true Hegelian fashion there follows the synthesis bulimia the voluntary purging of overconsumed amounts of food to produce an anorectic like countenance As the contributing authors emphasize in their chapters these diseases are not unique to contemporary culture Rather they are cultural artifacts created by both men and women since classical antiquity The recognition of these diseases is dependent upon recognizing a disease actually exists that there is a distortion of the eating process
