

The background of the cover is an abstract painting. It features a large, stylized face in the upper left, rendered in white and blue tones. Below this, there are various shapes, including what looks like a red flower or a similar organic form. To the right, there are several circular, metallic-looking objects that resemble camera lenses or mirrors, arranged in a vertical column. The overall color palette is dominated by blues, whites, and blacks, with some red and yellow accents.

Scott Moncrieff Luigi Pirandello, 1926 The Notebooks of Serafino Gubbio Luigi Pirandello, 2021-01-08 Serafino is a typical Pirandellian anti hero a spectator rather than a participant in the tragi comedy of human existence Indeed he has the perfect job for it that of a film cameraman Serafino is an observer an impersonal tool of a new industry based on make believe All he has to do is turn the handle of his camera and watch He has no part in what is going on and is so removed from life that the mauling of an actor by a tiger cannot deflect him from filming the action The Notebooks of Serafino Gubbio is set in Rome circa 1915 partly on a film set partly in the city Shoot! Luigi Pirandello, 1927 *Shoot! Understanding Luigi Pirandello Fiora A. Bassanese, 1997 This is an introduction to the life and literary contributions of a Nobel Prize winner and one of Italy's most distinguished writers Luigi Pirandello It evaluates the significance of his influence on 20th century literature Eye of the Century Francesco Casetti, 2008-05-14 Is it true that film in the twentieth century experimented with vision more than any other art form And what visions did it privilege In this brilliant book acclaimed film scholar Francesco Casetti situates the cinematic experience within discourses of twentieth century modernity He suggests that film defined a unique gaze not only because it recorded many of the century's most important events but also because it determined the manner in which they were received Casetti begins by examining film's nature as a medium in an age obsessed with immediacy nearness and accessibility He considers the myths and rituals cinema constructed on the screen and in the theater and how they provided new images and behaviors that responded to emerging concerns ideas and social orders Film also succeeded in negotiating the different needs of modernity comparing and uniting conflicting stimuli providing answers in a world torn apart by conflict and satisfying a desire for everydayness as well as lightness in people's lives The ability to communicate the power to inform and the capacity to negotiate these are the three factors that defined film's function and outlook and made the medium a relevant and vital art form of its time So what kind of gaze did film create Film cultivated a personal gaze intimately tied to the emergence of point of view but also able to restore the immediacy of the real a complex gaze in which reality and imagination were combined a piercing gaze achieved by machine and yet deeply anthropomorphic an excited gaze rich in perceptive stimuli but also attentive to the spectator's orientation and an immersive gaze which gave the impression of being inside the seen world while also maintaining a sense of distance Each of these gazes combined two different qualities and balanced them The result was an ever inventive synthesis that strived to bring about true compromises without ever sacrificing the complexity of contradiction As Casetti demonstrates film proposed a vision that in making opposites permeable modeled itself on an oxymoronic principle In this sense film is the key to reading and understanding the modern experience

The Reality Effect Joel Black, 2013-08-21 It used to be only movies were on film now the whole world is The most intimate and most banal moments of our lives are constantly recorded for public consumption In The Reality Effect Joel Black argues that the desire to make visible every aspect of our lives is an impulse derived from cinema one that has made life both more graphic and less real He approaches film as a documentary medium that has obscured if not obliterated the line between reality and fiction To illustrate this effect Black traces the uncanny interplay between movies and real life events through a series of comparative analyses from Lolita and the murder of JonBenét Ramsey to Wag the Dog and the Clinton scandal to Crash and Princess Diana's violent death

Classical Myth and Culture in the Cinema Martin M. Winkler, 2001-06-21 Classical Myth and Culture in the Cinema is a collection of essays presenting a variety of approaches to films set in ancient Greece and Rome and to films that reflect archetypal features of classical literature The diversity of content and theoretical stances found in this volume will make it required reading for scholars and students interested in interdisciplinary approaches to text and image and for anyone interested in the presence of Greece and Rome in modern popular culture

Moving Pictures and Renaissance Art History Patricia Emison, 2025-10-01 Film like the printed imagery inaugurated during the Renaissance spread ideas not least the idea of the power of visual art across not only geographical and political divides but also strata of class and gender Moving Pictures and Renaissance Art History examines the early flourishing of film from the 1920s to the mid 1960s as partly reprising the introduction of mass media in the Renaissance allowing for innovation that reflected an art free of the control of a patron though required to attract a broad public Rivalry between word and image between the demands of narrative and those of visual composition spurred new ways of addressing the compelling nature of the visual The twentieth century also saw the development of the discipline of art history transfusions between cinematic practice and art historical postulates are part of the story told here

Early Cinema in Russia and its Cultural Reception Yuri Tsivian, 2013-12-13 This book examines the development of cinematic form and culture in Russia from its late nineteenth century beginnings as a fairground attraction to the early post Revolutionary years The author traces the changing perceptions of cinema and its social transition from a modernist invention to a national art form He explores reactions to the earliest films from actors novelists poets writers and journalists His richly detailed study of the physical elements of cinematic performance includes the architecture and illumination of the cinema foyer the speed of projection and film acoustics In contrast to standard film histories this book focuses on reflected images rather than discussing films and film makers it features the historical film goer and early writings on film The book presents a vivid and changing picture of cinema culture in Russia in the twilight of the tsarist era and the first decades of the twentieth century The study expands the whole context of reception studies and opens up questions about reception relevant to other national cinemas

Romantic Prose Fiction Gerald Ernest Paul Gillespie, Manfred Engel, Bernard Dieterle, 2008 In this volume a team of three dozen international experts presents a fresh picture of literary prose fiction in the Romantic age seen from cross cultural and interdisciplinary perspectives The work treats the appearance of major themes in characteristically Romantic versions the power of Romantic discourse to reshape imaginative writing and a series of crucial reactions to the impact of Romanticism on cultural life down to the present both in Europe and in the New World Through its combination of chapters on thematic generic and discursive features Romantic Prose Fiction achieves a unique theoretical stance by considering the opinions of primary Romantics and their successors not as guiding truths by which to define the permanent meaning of Romanticism but as data of cultural history that shed important light on an evolving civilization

The Romanticism series in the Comparative History of Literatures in European Languages is the result of a remarkable international collaboration The editorial team coordinated the efforts of over 100 experts from more than two dozen countries to produce five independently conceived yet interrelated volumes that show not only how Romanticism developed and spread in its principal European homelands and throughout the New World but also the ways in which the affected literatures in reaction to Romanticism have redefined themselves on into Modernism A glance at the index of each volume quickly reveals the extraordinary richness of the series total contents

Romantic Irony sets the broader experimental parameters of comparison by concentrating on the myriad expressions of irony as one of the major impulses in the Romantic philosophical and artistic revolution and by combining cross cultural and interdisciplinary studies with special attention also to literatures in less widely diffused language streams

Romantic Drama traces creative innovations that deeply altered the understanding of genre at large fed popular imagination through vehicles like the opera and laid the foundations for a modernist theater of the absurd

Romantic Poetry demonstrates deep patterns and a sharing of crucial themes of the revolutionary age which underlie the lyrical expression that flourished in so many languages and environments

Nonfictional Romantic Prose assists us in coping with the vast array of writings from the personal and intimate sphere to modes of public discourse including Romanticism s own self commentary in theoretical statements on the arts society life the sciences and more Nor are the discursive dimensions of imaginative literature neglected in the closing volume

Romantic Prose Fiction where the basic Romantic themes and story types the romance novel novella short story and other narrative forms are considered throughout Europe and the New World This enormous realm is seen not just in terms of Romantic theorizing but in the light of the impact of Romantic ideas and narration on later generations As an aid to readers the introduction to Romantic Prose Fiction explains the relationships among the volumes in the series and carries a listing of their tables of contents in an appendix No other series exists comparable to these volumes which treat the entirety of Romanticism as a cultural happening across the whole breadth of the Old and New Worlds and thus render a complex picture of European spiritual strivings in the late eighteenth and the nineteenth centuries a heritage still very close to our age

The Old and the Young (I Vecchi E i Giovani) Luigi Pirandello, 1928 a historical novel reflecting the Sicily of the end of the 19th century and the general bitterness at the loss of the ideals of the Risorgimento the movement that led to the unification of Italy Britannica
