A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women Bayyinah S. Jeffries,2014-04-04 A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women African American Muslim Women in the Movement for Black Self Determination 1950 1975 challenges traditional notions and interpretations of African American particularly women who joined the Original Nation of Islam during the Civil Rights Black Power era This book is the first major investigation of the subject that engages a wide scope of women from The Nation and utilizes a wealth of primary documents and personal interviews to reveal the importance of women in this community Jeffries reveals that women were respected in the movement and maintained a very clear and often sought after voice in the advancement of the Original Nation of Islam A Nation Can Rise No Higher Than Its Women replaces the typical portrait of the subservient and irrelevant African American Muslim woman with a far more accurate picture of their integral leadership and substantial contributions to the rise of Islam and black consciousness in the self determination movement in the United States and beyond during the Civil Rights Black Power era Con/tradition Frank Kelleter,2000 Discussing the Million Man March of October 16 1995 as a turning point in the history of African American protest this volume offers five interpretive contexts to demarcate its cultural location The March is analyzed as a struggle within the African American political establishment 1 as an attempt at unified black action against a new politics of white resentment 2 and as the Nation of Islam s NOI most visible self dramatization since its founding in the 1930s 3 Relying on these themes a rhetorical analysis of Louis Farrakhan s speech at the March uncovers the NOI s uneasy yet intimate relationship with the rituals of American civil religion 4 Finally Con Tradition addresses Farrakhan s influence on black HipHop culture and academic Afrocentrism 5
