Smith, 2021-08-02 Does the creation of artificial reefs benefit subtidal benthic invertebrates Is the use of organic farming instead of conventional farming beneficial to bat conservation Does installing wildlife warning reflectors along roads benefit mammal conservation Does the installation of exclusion and or escape devices on fishing nets benefit marine and freshwater mammal conservation What Works in Conservation has been created to provide practitioners with answers to these and many other questions about practical conservation This book provides an assessment of the effectiveness of 2526 conservation interventions based on summarized scientific evidence The 2021 edition contains substantial new material on bat conservation terrestrial mammal conservation and marine and freshwater mammals thus completing the evidence for all mammal species categories Other chapters cover practical global conservation of primates amphibians bats birds forests peatlands subtidal benthic invertebrates shrublands and heathlands as well as the conservation of European farmland biodiversity and some aspects of enhancing natural pest control enhancing soil fertility management of captive animals and control of freshwater invasive species It contains key results from the summarized evidence for each conservation intervention and an assessment of the effectiveness of each by international expert panels The accompanying website www.conservationalevidence.com describes each of the studies individually and provides full references This is the sixth author approved edition of What Works in Conservation which is revised on an annual basis

Cattle, Their Predators and Geomatics Research Michael O'Neal Campbell, 2025-08-06 Cattle are currently the most important domesticated mammals with populations numbering in the hundreds of millions and occupying large tracts of land while the conservation of large mammalian carnivores is becoming a dominant discourse in modern geopolitics also claiming large portions of the Earth's land surface Computer based surveying and communication systems including geomatics Big Data and Big Tech are becoming an essential part of human communication and environmental assessments and are critical to large scale assessments of land conflicts A current critical potent but neglected issue concerns the measurement of the interfaces of large carnivore and cattle ecologies in a cross continental format This book offers a novel approach to the interfaces of the sciences of conservation biology animal ecology agricultural development and geomatics which are increasingly interconnected in modern global development scenarios For animal ecology and conservation biology it is about the management systems that have developed from ecological and human parameters For agricultural development topics concern ancestral development physiological characteristics ecological requirements and predation opportunities and conflicts of cattle breeds For geomatics the topics concern the image based and survey based technologies that enable more critical environmental assessments The book takes a novel approach by examining the ancestry of cattle including the aurochs and current wild buffalos gaur banteng yaks bison the process of domestication into taurine and indicine cattle the semi domestication of yaks and water buffalo the ecologies of ancestral and modern large carnivores including bears big cats and canids and how the requirements of these large charismatic mammals conflict with the requirements of cattle and agricultural development in Asia Europe Africa North America and South America This integrative approach contributes to the interests of academic researchers students practitioners and policy makers and general readers

East African Mammals Jonathan Kingdon, 1988-12-29 Acclaimed and coveted by both naturalists and lovers of wildlife illustration Jonathan Kingdon's seven volume East African Mammals has become a classic of modern natural history This paperback edition makes Kingdon's remarkable artistic and scientific achievement his hundreds of drawings and perceptive study of all the mammals in East Africa's species rich fauna available to the wide audience it deserves Volume IIIA documents the carnivores of East Africa lions cheetahs jackals otters civets genets mongooses hyenas and such lesser known species as the zorilla and the aardwolf The beauty of the animals so vivid in these incomparable drawings is made more poignant by the acknowledgment of their increasingly endangered status Kingdon discusses the inevitable problems posed by large mammal communities in a developing continent and includes numerous maps indicating their declining ranges and populations

Reintroduction of Top-Order Predators Matt W. Hayward, Michael Somers, 2009-05-06 Large predators are among the most threatened species on the planet and ways of conserving them in the face of increasing human populations and associated resource requirements are becoming critical This book draws upon the experiences of some of the world's foremost large carnivore specialists to discuss the numerous issues associated reintroducing large predators back into their natural habitats Reviews of internationally renowned reintroduction programs for wolves European lynx and African wild dog reveal the successes and failures of these actions Experts on tigers snow leopards and jaguars contend that there are other conservation options of higher priority that will ensure their security in the long term Other experts discuss more theoretical aspects such as whether we know enough about these species to be able to predict their behavioural or ecological response to the reintroduction process Social economic political and genetic considerations are also addressed

Wild Beasts Evade Laura Anderson, AI, 2025-02-27 Wild Beasts Evade explores the sophisticated survival strategies employed by forest animals to avoid predators emphasizing the critical roles of noise perception and spatial awareness These animals aren't just relying on instinct they've developed finely tuned mechanisms to interpret auditory cues and assess distances turning potential threats into manageable risks The book reveals how animals differentiate between harmless sounds and the telltale signs of predators using spatial reasoning to navigate escape routes This approach integrates auditory and spatial cognition moving beyond the traditional emphasis on visual cues Each chapter builds upon the previous starting with fundamental concepts of predator-prey interactions and progressing to specific aspects of auditory predator detection and distance assessment The book synthesizes findings from field observations and experimental studies providing a comprehensive overview of predator-prey dynamics and offering valuable insights into animal behavior ecology and conservation efforts

Shooting in the Wild Chris Palmer, 2010-05-11 Wildlife and nature films are a hugely popular entertainment genre networks such as Animal Planet and Discovery are stars in the cable television universe viewers flock to IMAX theaters to see jaw-dropping footage from the wild and the venerable BBC still scores triumphs with series such as Planet Earth As cinematic technology brings ever more breathtaking images to the screen and as our direct contact with nature diminishes an ever-expanding audience craves the indirect experience of wild nature that these films provide But this success has a dark side as Chris Palmer reveals in his authoritative and engrossing report on the wildlife film business A veteran producer and film educator Palmer looks past the headlines about TV host Steve Irwin's death by stingray and filmmaker Timothy Treadwell falling prey to his beloved grizzlies to uncover a more pervasive and troubling trend toward sensationalism extreme risk taking and even abuse in wildlife films He tracks the roots of this trend to the early days of the genre and he profiles a new breed of skilled ethical filmmakers whose work enlightens as well as entertains and who represent the future that Palmer envisions for the industry he loves The Palgrave Handbook of African Colonial and Postcolonial History Martin S. Shanguhya, Toyin Falola, 2018-01-28 This wide ranging volume presents the most complete appraisal of modern African history to date It assembles dozens of new and established scholars to tackle the questions and subjects that define the field ranging from the economy the two world wars nationalism decolonization and postcolonial politics to religion development sexuality and the African youth experience Contributors are drawn from numerous fields in African studies including art music literature education and anthropology The themes they cover illustrate the depth of modern African history and the diversity and originality of lenses available for examining it Older themes in the field have been treated to an engaging re assessment while new and emerging themes are situated as the book's core strength The result is a comprehensive vital picture of where the field of modern African history stands today The Rise of Conservation in South Africa William Beinart, 2008-05-29 A major contribution to the environmental history of settler societies William Beinart's innovative study analyses the development of conservationist ideas over the long term in South Africa examining them as a response to the rapid transformation of natural pastures brought about as the Cape became a major exporter of wool Proceedings of the Congress of the International Union of Game Biologists, XXII Congress International Union of Game Biologists. Congress, 1996 This volume contains 104 papers divided in 5 sections 1 Ornithofauna 2 Wild mammals 3 Game management 4 Game diseases 5 History and culture of hunting Most papers are in English some in German French and Russian A colour supplement presents information on hunting societies and forests in Bulgaria discussing management and culling techniques as well as village level eco preservation The Biology and Conservation of Wild Canids David W. Macdonald, Claudio Sillero-Zubiri, 2004-06-24 No group of wild mammals so universally captures the emotions of people world wide than do wild canids That emotion can be enchantment and fascination but it can also be loathing because the opportunism that is the hallmark of the dog family also leads them into conflict with humans In the developed world at least the fascination with wild canids doubtless stems from people's captivation with domestic dogs everybody feels they are an expert on canids While most people may be familiar with only the better known members of the dog family such as the grey wolf and the red fox there are in fact 36 species of wolves dogs jackals and foxes They attract hugely disproportionate interest from academics conservationists veterinarians wildlife managers and the general public This book brings together in single volume an astonishing synthesis of research done in the last twenty years and is the first truly compendious synthesis on wild canids Beginning with a complete account of all 36 canid species there follow six review chapters that emphasise topics most relevant to canid conservation science including evolution and systematics behavioural ecology population genetics diseases conflict control of troublesome species and conservation tools Fifteen detailed case studies then delve deeply into the very best species investigations currently available written by all the leading figures in the field Much of the material is previously unpublished and will make fascinating reading far beyond the confines of canid specialists These chapters portray the unique attributes of wild canids their fascinating and conflictive relationship with man and suggestions for future research and conservation measures for the Canidae While most canid species are widespread and thrive in human dominated landscapes several are in severe jeopardy habitat loss illegal hunting persecution by farmers and disease all imperil dwindling populations A final chapter analyses the requirements of and approaches to practical conservation with lessons that go far beyond the dog family It concentrates particular attention on priorities for the protection of the most threatened canid species including the red wolf African wild dog Ethiopian wolf Island fox and Darwin's fox The wild canids provide examples that will thrill the evolutionary biologists and theoretician enthral the natural historian and challenge the conservationist and wildlife manager Anybody interested in evolutionary and behavioural biology in mammals in the environment or in conservation will find much that is new and enriching in this book
