The Collected Poetry of Robinson Jeffers Tim Hunt, 1988 Robinson Jeffers 1887 1962 is not only the greatest poet that California and indeed the American West has produced but a major poet of the twentieth century who occupies a prominent place in the tradition of American prophetic poetry Jeffers consciously set himself apart from the poetry of his generation by physical isolation at his home in Carmel by his unusual poetic form and by his stance as an anti modernist Yet his work represents a profound and profoundly original artistic response to problems that shaped modernist poetry and that still perplex poets today how to reconcile scientific and artistic discourses and modes of vision how to connect present day experience to myths perceived as lying at the origins of human culture how to renew the poetic language and how or whether to present art's claim to moral spiritual or epistemological seriousness within representations of modern phenomena For Jeffers as for no other important modern American poet there has never been a collected poems not even a truly representative selected poems the current Selected Poetry first published in 1938 contains no work from the last three volumes published during Jeffers lifetime or from his posthumous volume Now for the first time all of Jeffers completed poems both published and unpublished are presented in a single comprehensive and textually authoritative edition The first three volumes of this four volume work will present chronologically all of Jeffers published work from 1920 to 1963 The present volume consists of poems published between 1920 and 1928 and includes some of his greatest and best known poems Tamar Roan Stallion The Women at Point Sur and Cawdor as well as a recently discovered long poem Home There is also an Editorial Note and a General Introduction

The Collected Poetry of Robinson Jeffers Robinson Jeffers, Tim Hunt, 1988 The first three volumes of this four volume work will present chronologically all of Jeffers published work from 1920 to 1963 Jeffers publishers sometimes adjusted his punctuation presumably to bring the poems punctuation into accord with grammatical convention The texts for this edition revert to Jeffers own preferences insofar as the best methods of modern textual editing can reveal them

--A Thousand Graceful Subtleties Terry Beers, 1995 Robinson Jeffers poetry has always taught that men and women shine through their endurance through their acts of courage and through their appreciation for the transcendent beauty of the natural world This study uses Aristotle's descriptions of ethos logos and pathos to launch an inquiry into the rhetorical means by which Jeffers teaches these lessons and finally argues that Jeffers literary and rhetorical artistry made him into a twentieth century American epic poet

The Necessary Earth Wilson O. Clough, 2014-09-10 The Necessary Earth is a study of the degree to which the long American experience with an open frontier has entered into an inherently American literature to distinguish it from that of other lands Since literature is in the author's words a compound of time place and the individual projection of personal experience and reflection into objective forms the American compulsion to communicate their experience and their difference was a virtual guarantee that a native literature would arrive The text falls into three major portions The first considers the age of wonder the impact of New World upon Old World comes to effect profound changes and to set the new American on the parallel paths of idealism and pragmatism The second part examines the effort of native born writers to appropriate this experience for new metaphors and new literary theme Without this effort the frontier might have remained no more than a dwindling legend and the transference to the theme of self reliance might never have appeared In the third portion the author turns to the twentieth century examining here the degree to which the national theme of reliance on experience over tradition has persisted in the work of major authors Ranging thus from Jamestown and

Plymouth to Wallace Stevens the book stresses throughout the pull of untamed nature on the human spirit and the echoes of that experience in what is most intrinsic in American literature Without denying frontier lawlessness or native chauvinism Clough directs our attention primarily to the problems of the creation of a new language and a new metaphor to meet the new experience and the persistence of a truly American note into a maturing of both manner and matter ~The selected poetry of Robinson Jefferson Robinson Jeffers, 1959 The Wild God of the World Robinson Jeffers, 2003-01-15 The forgotten giant of American poetry For those who would discover Jeffers this is the place to start and a place to return again and again Tim Hunt Washington State University Robinson Jeffers 1887 1962 is not only the greatest poet that the American West has produced but also a major poet of the twentieth century in the tradition of American prophetic poetry This anthology serves as an introduction to Jeffers's work for the general reader and for students in courses on American poetry Jeffers composed each volume of his verse around one or two long narrative or dramatic poems The Wild God of the World follows this practice in it Cawdor one of Jeffers's most powerful narratives is surrounded by a representative selection of shorter poems At the end of the book the editor has provided revealing statements about Jeffers's poetry and poetics and about his philosophy of nature and human nature Of all the poets of his generation Robinson Jeffers made our relation to this earth and sea and sky and wheeling seasons and the evolutionary processes that made trees and salmon runs and hunting hawks his subject As that relation grows more troubled his words become more necessary To have this beautifully edited and freshly seen anthology is a gift Robert Hass University of California Berkeley
