Selected Short Stories Of Donall Macamhlaigh:

Selected Short Stories of Donall MacAmhlaigh Donall MacAmhlaigh, 1992 Social work and Irish people in Britain Garrett, Paul Michael, 2004-06-23 Dominant social work and social care discourses on race and ethnicity often fail to incorporate an Irish dimension This book challenges this omission and provides new insights into how social work has engaged with Irish children and their families historically and to the present day The book provides the first detailed exploration social work with Irish children and families in Britain examines archival materials to illuminate historical patterns of engagement provides an account of how social services departments in England and Wales are currently responding to the needs of Irish children and families incorporates the views of Irish social workers and acts as a timely intervention in the debate on social work s modernisation agenda The book will be valuable to social workers social work educators and students Its key themes will also fascinate those interested in race and ethnicity in Britain in the early 21st century Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century David Pierce, 2000 Arranged chronologically by decade from the 1890s to the 1990s each decade is divided into two different types of writing critical documentary and imaginative writing and is accompanied by a headnote which situates it thematically and chronologically The Reader is also structured for thematic study by listing all the pieces included under a series of topic headings The wide range of material encompasses writings of well known figures in the Irish canon and neglected writers alike This will appeal to the general reader but also makes Irish Writing in the Twentieth Century ideal as a core text providing a unique focus for detailed study in a single volume BOOK JACKET The Letters of John McGahern John McGahern, 2021-08-31 I am no good at letters John McGahern 1963 John McGahern is consistently hailed as one of the finest Irish writers since James Joyce and Samuel Beckett This volume collects some of the witty profound and unfailingly brilliant letters that he exchanged with family friends and literary luminaries such as Seamus Heaney Colm T ib n and Paul Muldoon over the course of a well travelled life It is one of the major contributions to the study of Irish and British literature of the past thirty years acting not just as a crucial insight into the life and works of a much revered writer but also a history of post war Irish literature and its close ties to British and American literary life One of the greatest writers of our era Hilary Mantel McGahern brings us that tonic gift of the best fiction the sense of truth the sense of transparency that permits us to see imaginary lives more clearly than we see our own John Updike The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish History Alvin Jackson, 2014-03-27 The study of Irish history once riven and constricted has recently enjoyed a resurgence with new practitioners new approaches and new methods of investigation The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish History represents the diversity of this emerging talent and achievement by bringing together 36 leading scholars of modern Ireland and embracing 400 years of Irish history uniting early and late modernists as well as contemporary historians The Handbook offers a set of scholarly perspectives drawn from numerous disciplines including history political science literature geography and the Irish language It looks at the Irish at home as well as in their migrant and diasporic communities The Handbook combines sets of wide thematic and interpretative essays with more detailed investigations of particular periods. Each of the contributors offers a summation of the state of scholarship within their subject area linking their own research insights with assessments of future directions within the discipline. In its breadth and depth and diversity, The Oxford Handbook of Modern Irish History offers an authoritative and vibrant portrayal of the history of modern Ireland. Migrant Representations Peter Leese, 2022-01-15. Migrant Representations pairs twenty-four carefully selected histories in order to compare how migrants themselves—Irish labourer, Lithuanian refugee or Indian doctor—and their social investigators capture in words and images defining private and historical moments. These comparative case studies from the 1780s to the 2000s explore how migrants constructed their own narratives of mobility and settlement through procedures of reflecting, remembering and recording. Moreover, these studies examine how speech, writing and picture were used for instance by a missionary, social scientist or activist to make outside representations of the migrant. Such life stories, social surveys and pictures emerge as alternative archives. Leese's transnational cultural history considers life story forms and their uses, the tension between external surveillance and self-observation, the power of narratives to afford legibility and acknowledgement. Leese argues that historically and in the present, first-person migrant stories and outsider investigations create a continuous, charged exchange of views where both migrant and observer negotiate position, authority, authenticity and potential advantage. Within the history of migrant representations, this exchange generates a persistent subversive strain of opposition and critique. Such self-observations, observations of others and images never settle. An Irish Navy - The Diary of an Exile Donall MacAmhlaigh, 2003-03-05. Irish construction workers in post-war Britain are celebrated in song and story. Donall MacAmhlaigh kept a diary as he worked the sites, danced in the Irish halls, drank in Irish pubs and lived the life of the roving Irish navy. Work was hard, dirty and dangerous, followed by pints in the Admiral Rodney, the Shamrock, the Cattle Market Tavern and others. Living conditions were basic at best. This vivid picture of an Irish navy's life in England in the 1950s mirrors that of an entire generation who left Ireland without education or hope. Days without food or work, the hardships of work camps, lonesome partings after trips home, periods of intense isolation and bitter reflection were all part of the experience. Also available: Hard Road to Klondike. A History of Irish Working-Class Writing Michael Piers, 2018. Michael Piers is Lecturer in Irish literature at Queen's University Belfast. His research mainly explores the writing and cultural production of Irish working-class life. Over recent years, this work has expanded into new multidisciplinary themes and international contexts, including the study of festivals, digital methodologies in public humanities and theatre as research practices. Michael has contributed to a range of national and international publications, is the author of Writing Ireland's Working Class (Dublin, after O. Casey, 2011) and has been awarded several Arts and Humanities Research Council awards and the Vice-Chancellor's Award at Queen's. A Soldier's Song Dónall Mac Amhlaigh, 2023-05-08. Mac Amhlaigh sought to record every pub and dancehall, every sunset, stone wall and rainbow in his mind, to pack the city in his suitcase so that she remained with him forever so he could all at once hear her lost voice everywhere Colum McCann M che l hAodha has done the literary world a huge service by translating D nall Mac Amhlaigh s work into English Gillian Mawson a work that exudes authenticity and immediacy Liam Harte A Soldier s Song is a classic account of Irish army life by a working class writer whose work and contribution to literary culture is only now being fully appreciated It has the privacy and immediacy of a diary but holds the interest like a novel It follows the adventures trials and tribulations of Nuibin Amhlaigh who keeps getting into trouble in his good soldier s progress through army life A lost treasure of Irish writing translated for the first time into English Books and Bookmen ,1986 Books Ireland ,2003 Transverse II Hans-Christian Oeser,1994 The Best Are Leaving Clair Wills,2015-02-02 Clair Wills s The Best Are Leaving is an important and wide ranging study of post war Irish emigrant culture Wills analyses representations of emigrants from Ireland and of Irish immigrants in Britain across a range of discourses including official documents sociological texts clerical literature journalism drama literary fiction and popular literature and film This book written by a leading critic of Irish literature and culture discusses topics such as the loss of the finest people from rural Ireland and the destruction of traditional communities the anxieties of women emigrants and their desire for the benefits of modern consumer society the stereotype of the drunken Irishman the charming and authentic country Irish in the city and the ambiguous meanings of Irish Catholicism in England which was viewed as both a threatening and civilising force Wills explores this theme of emigration through writers as diverse as M J Molloy John B Keane Tom Murphy and Edna O Brien General Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum. Department of Printed Books,1965 The Arts in Ireland Christopher Fitz-Simon,1982 The Genius of Irish Prose Augustine Martin,1985 Sruth Na Maoile Michael Davitt,Iain MacDhòmhnaill,1993 Sporting Nationalisms Mike Cronin,David Mayall,2005-07-08 This volume examines the ways in which sport shapes the experiences of various immigrant and minority groups and in particular looks at the relationship between sport ethnic identity and ethnic relations The articles in this volume are concerned primarily with British American and Australian sporting traditions and the themes covered include the consolidation of ethnic identity in host societies through participation immigrant sports and exclusive sporting organizations assimilation into host societies through participation in indigenous national sports and the construction by outsiders of separate ethnic identities according to sporting criteria Intellectual Disability and Ireland, 1947-1996 David Kilgannon,2023-10-15 An Open Access edition of this book is available on the Liverpool University Press website and the OAPEN library Intellectual Disability and Ireland 1947 1996 explores the varied experiences of the intellectually disabled during the latter half of the mid twentieth century in Ireland Addressing the evolution of disability policies and provision it shows how a range of different actors became engaged in shaping the disability services landscape during this period Drawing on a variety of sources from government memoranda to RT television programmes David Kilgannon traces the development of disability services on paper and in reality This narrative is marked by instances of both striking transformation and significant continuity as the emergence of new policy thinking occurred in tandem with the consolidation of established approaches The book describes not only how services changed but why offering a unique perspective on the evolution of Irish social policy in the post war years The Encyclopaedia of Ireland Brian Lalor,2003 The Encyclopaedia of Ireland contains a full A Z listing of over 5500 articles on all things Irish past and present written by experts in the various fields All the text has been specially commissioned and written for the Encyclopaedia From the Mesolithic Age to the 21st century this reference covers subjects as diverse as biography education art and architecture topography sport literature history and politics military commerce and law folklore natural history science religion transport engineering diet food and drink music and many more
