Selected Works Of Angelina Weld Grimke:

Selected Works of Angelina Weld Grimké Angelina Weld Grimké, 1991 Centered around the themes of death women as objects of desire lost love motherhood and children the poems in this selection offer insight into the work of this well known abolitionist and advocate of women's rights Including Grimké's prose and drama which often focus on lynching this volume sheds new light on a perspective characterized by the African American experience of racial pride and the reaction against racists acts Mary Turner and the Memory of Lynching Julie Buckner Armstrong, 2011 Mary Turner and the Memory of Lynching traces the reaction of activists artists writers and local residents to the brutal lynching of a pregnant woman near Valdosta Georgia In 1918 the murder of a white farmer led to a week of mob violence that claimed the lives of at least eleven African Americans including Hayes Turner When his wife Mary vowed to press charges against the killers she too fell victim to the mob Mary's lynching was particularly brutal and involved the grisly death of her eight month old fetus It led to both an entrenched local silence and a widespread national response in newspaper and magazine accounts visual art film literature and public memorials Turner's story became a centerpiece of the Anti Lynching Crusaders campaign for the 1922 Dyer Bill which sought to make lynching a federal crime Julie Buckner Armstrong explores the complex and contradictory ways this horrific event was remembered in works such as Walter White's report in the NAACP's newspaper the Crisis the Kabnis section of Jean Toomer's Cane Angelina Weld Grimké's short story Goldie and Meta Fuller's sculpture Mary Turner A Silent Protest against Mob Violence Like those of Emmett Till and Leo Frank Turner's story continues to resonate on multiple levels Armstrong's work provides insight into the different roles black women played in the history of lynching as victims as loved ones left behind and as those who fought back The crime continues to defy conventional forms of representation illustrating what can and cannot be said about lynching and revealing the difficulty and necessity of confronting this nation's legacy of racial violence Fearless Femininity by Women in American Theatre, 1910s to 2010s Lynne Greeley, 2015-08-06 In this unprecedented fascinating book which covers women in theatre from the 1910s to the 2010s author Lynne Greeley notes that for the purposes of this study feminism is defined as the political impulse toward economic and social empowerment for females or the female identified a position perceived by many feminists as oppositional to ideas of femininity that they see as personally and politically constraining and that femininity comprises social behaviors and practices that mean as many different things as there are women some of which are empowering and others of which are not This book illuminates how throughout the twentieth century and into the twenty first playwrights and artists in American theatre both embodied and disrupted the feminine of their times Through approaches as wide ranging as performing their own recipes energizing silences raging against war and rape and inviting the public to inscribe their naked bodies theatre artists have used performance as a site to insert themselves between the physicality of their female presence and the liminality of their disrupting the role of the feminine Capturing that place of liminality a neither here nor there place that is often unsafe where the established order is overturned by acts as banal as raising a plant women have written and performed and disrupted their way through one hundred years of theatre history even within the constraints of a variably rigid and usually unsympathetic social order Creating a feminist femininity they have reinscribed their place in the culture and provided models for their audiences to do the same This comprehensive tome part of the Cambria Contemporary Global Performing Arts headed by John Clum Duke University is an essential addition for theater studies and women s studies

Aphrodite's Daughters Maureen Honey,2016-08-31 The Harlem Renaissance was a watershed moment for racial uplift poetic innovation sexual liberation and female empowerment Aphrodite s Daughters introduces us to three amazing women who were at the forefront of all these developments poetic iconoclasts who pioneered new and candidly erotic forms of female self expression Maureen Honey paints a vivid portrait of three African American women Angelina Weld Grimk Gwendolyn B Bennett and Mae V Cowdery who came from very different backgrounds but converged in late 1920s Harlem to leave a major mark on the literary landscape She examines the varied ways these poets articulated female sexual desire ranging from Grimk s invocation of a Sapphic goddess figure to Cowdery s frank depiction of bisexual erotics to Bennett s risky exploration of the borders between sexual pleasure and pain Yet Honey also considers how they were united in their commitment to the female body as a primary source of meaning strength and transcendence The product of extensive archival research Aphrodite s Daughters draws from Grimk Bennett and Cowdery s published and unpublished poetry along with rare periodicals and biographical materials to immerse us in the lives of these remarkable women and the world in which they lived It thus not only shows us how their artistic contributions and cultural interventions were vital to their own era but also demonstrates how the poetic heart of their work keeps on beating Selected Works of Ida B. Wells-Barnett Ida

B. Wells-Barnett,1991 Four of Ida B Wells Barnett s moving anti lynching essays are presented in this volume Written during the height of the lynching craze at the turn of the century they elegantly speak to the pain and loss caused by racist thought and action

Modern American Queer History Allida Mae Black,2001 In the twentieth century countless Americans claimed gay lesbian bisexual and transgender identities forming a movement to secure social as well as political equality This collection of essays considers the history as well as the historiography of the queer identities and struggles that developed in the United States in the midst of widespread upheaval and change Whether the subject is an individual life story a community study or an aspect of public policy these essays illuminate the ways in which individuals in various locales understood the nature of their desires and the possibilities of resisting dominant views of normality and deviance Theoretically informed but accessible the essays shed light too on the difficulties of writing history when documentary evidence is sparse or coded Taken together these essays suggest that while some individuals and social networks might never emerge from the shadows the persistent exploration of the past for their traces is an integral part of the on going struggle for queer rights

Women, Compulsion, Modernity Jennifer L. Fleissner,2020-10-15 The 1890s have long been thought one of the most male oriented eras in American history But in reading such writers as Frank Norris with Mary Wilkins Freeman and Charlotte Perkins Gilman with Stephen Crane Jennifer L Fleissner boldly argues that feminist claims in fact shaped the period s cultural mainstream Women Compulsion Modernity reopens a moment when the young American woman embodied both the promise and threat of a modernizing world Fleissner shows that this era s expanding opportunities for women were inseparable from the same modern developments industrialization consumerism typically believed to constrain human freedom With Women Compulsion and Modernity Fleissner creates a new language for the strange way the writings of the time both broaden and question individual agency Artistic Ambassadors Brian Russell

Roberts,2013-01-15 During the first generation of black participation in U S diplomacy in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries a vibrant community of African American writers and cultural figures worked as U S representatives abroad Through the literary and diplomatic dossiers of figures such as Frederick Douglass James Weldon Johnson Archibald and Angelina Grimk W E B Du Bois Ida Gibbs Hunt and Richard Wright Brian Roberts shows how the intersection of black aesthetic trends and U S political culture both Americanized and internationalized the trope of the New Negro This decades long relationship began during the days of Reconstruction and it flourished as U S presidents courted and rewarded their black voting constituencies by appointing black men as consuls and ministers to such locales as Liberia Haiti Madagascar and Venezuela These appointments changed the complexion of U S interactions with nations and colonies of color in turn state sponsored black travel gave rise to literary works that imported international representation into New Negro discourse on aesthetics race and African American culture Beyond offering a narrative of the formative dialogue between black transnationalism and U S international diplomacy Artistic Ambassadors also illuminates a broader literary culture that reached both black and white America as well as the black diaspora and the wider world of people of color In light of the U S appointments of its first two black secretaries of state and the election of its first black president this complex representational legacy has continued relevance to our understanding of current American internationalism Writing

Unnatural Selections Daylanne K. English, 2005-12-15 Challenging conventional constructions of the Harlem Renaissance and American modernism Daylanne English links writers from both movements to debates about eugenics in the Progressive Era She argues that in the 1920s the form and content of writings by figures as disparate as W E B Du Bois T S Eliot Gertrude Stein and Nella Larsen were shaped by anxieties regarding immigration migration and intraracial breeding English s interdisciplinary approach brings together the work of those canonical writers with relatively neglected literary social scientific and visual texts She examines antilynching plays by Angelina Weld Grimké as well as the provocative writings of white female eugenics field workers English also analyzes the Crisis magazine as a family album filtering uplift through eugenics by means of photographic documentation of an ever improving black race English suggests that current scholarship often misreads early twentieth century visual literary and political culture by applying contemporary social and moral standards to the past Du Bois she argues was actually more of a eugenicist than Eliot Through such reconfiguration of the modern period English creates an allegory for the American present because eugenics was in its time widely accepted as a reasonable progressive ideology we need to consider the long term implications

Looking for Harlem Maria Balshaw, 2000-12-20 Taking the incredible flowering of African American literature in the 1920s as its starting point Looking for Harlem offers a cogent and persuasive new reading of a diverse range of twentieth century black American writing From the streets subways hotels and cabarets of New York's Harlem and Chicago's Southside Maria Balshaw moves beyond the canon to encompass often neglected writing by Rudolph Fisher Wallace Thurman and Claude McKay as well as the more familiar work of Richard Wright Ralph Ellison Nella Larsen and Toni Morrison In a provocative revision of African American literary history Balshaw examines the creation of an urban aesthetic and explores the links between the engagement with the city and fictional reconstructions of racial identity and race writing Focusing on the material culture of the city the visual sense of the urban environment the class dynamics of urban culture and the crucial importance of consumerism this study presents a critically astute challenging and very welcome new approach to a much studied area of contemporary American fiction

The Romance of Regionalism in the Work of F. Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald Kirk Curnutt, Sara A. Kosiba, 2022-09-07 The Romance of Regionalism in the Work of F Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald The South Side of Paradise explores resonances of Southernness in works by American culture's leading literary couple At the height of their fame F Scott and Zelda Fitzgerald dramatized their relationship as a romance of regionalism as the charming tale of a Northern man wooing a Southern belle Their writing exposes deeper sectional conflicts however from the seemingly unexorcisable fixation with the Civil War and the historical revisionism of the Lost Cause to popular culture's depiction of the South as an artistically deprived economically broken backwater the couple challenged early twentieth century stereotypes of life below the Mason Dixon line From their most famous efforts The Great Gatsby and Save Me the Waltz to their more overlooked and obscure Scott's 1932 story Family in the Wind Zelda's The Iceberg published in 1918 before she even met her husband Scott and Zelda returned obsessively to the challenges of defining Southern identity in a country in which going south meant decay and dissolution Contributors to this volume tackle a range of Southern topics including belle culture the picturesque and the Gothic Confederate commemoration and race relations and regional reconciliation As the collection demonstrates the Fitzgeralds' fortuitous meeting in Montgomery Alabama in 1918 sparked a Southern renaissance in miniature population a biological phenomenon defined as a group of individuals linked by racialized fictions of biological commonality This collection seeks to recognize and position critical childhood studies as essential to these interrogations The essays theorize the role of representations of children and childhood as tools of biopolitical governance in America in the long nineteenth century They variously explore how the interrelated and overlapping qualities integral to our understandings of the child and childhood are readily deployed by biopolitical power The collection is organized into three sections that illustrate how these qualities enable the sorting of human beings into populations targeted for reform exploitation and disposal The Introduction and Chapter Six of this book are freely available as a downloadable Open Access PDF at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives CC BY NC ND 4.0 license

Domestic Allegories of Political Desire Claudia Tate, 1993-01-07 Why did African American women novelists use idealized stories of bourgeois courtship and marriage to mount arguments on social reform during the last decade of the nineteenth century during a time when resurgent racism conditioned the lives of all black Americans Such stories now seem like apolitical fantasies to contemporary readers This is the question at the center of Tate's examination of the novels of Pauline Hopkins Emma Kelley Amelia Johnson Katherine Tillman and Frances Harper Domestic Allegories of Political Desire is more than a literary study it is also a social and intellectual history a cultural critique of a period that historian Rayford W Logan called the Dark Ages of recent American history Against a rich contextual framework extending from abolitionist protest to the Black Aesthetic Tate argues that the idealized marriage plot in these novels does not merely depict the heroine's happiness and economic prosperity More importantly that plot encodes a resonant cultural narrative a domestic allegory about the political ambitions of an emancipated people Once this domestic allegory of political desire is unmasked in these novels it can be seen as a significant discourse of the post Reconstruction era for representing African Americans' collective dreams about freedom and for reconstructing those contested dreams into consummations of civil liberty
