provides a framework for understanding and examining supportive group interventions. It provides descriptions of different kinds of support groups and alerts practitioners and educators to the factors they should consider in planning, implementing, and evaluating support group services. The book also offers guidance in using innovative approaches to providing support services through computer groups and telephone groups. Human service professionals and social work educators, practitioners, and students will find these topics covered in Support Groups: Evaluation of Support Groups, a support group model guidelines for support group practice, innovative use of support groups, issues in support group practice. The purpose of this book is to examine state of the art support group practice. Support groups are conceived as the center of a continuum of supportive group interventions overlapping with self help groups at one end and treatment groups at the other. The chapters are placed within the context of the open systems model developed by the editors. This model provides a framework for understanding factors that affect support groups for guiding intervention and for evaluating their outcomes. The Evolution of Self-Help M. Archibald, 2007-11-26. This book examines the institutionalization of self help in the United States using organizational and social movement theories. Looking at a fifty year period, Archibald charts the formation and dissolution of over 500 medical, academic, and popular organizations. He explores the ways in which the marginal practices of sufferers of chronic conditions like Parkinson's or alcoholism became the common solution for all manner of medical, behavioural, and psychological problems. Self-Help/Mutual Aid Groups and Peer Support Thomasina Borkman, 2021-01-04. Thomasina Borkman reviews English language social science research on North American self help mutual aid groups (SHGs) and organizations and some from industrialized countries. SHGs, known by many names, are voluntary member run groups of peers who share a common issue, utilize lived experience, and practice mutual aid. Borkman's autoethnographic approach highlights her international SHG participation. Despite initial common values and practices in the 1960s and on Alcoholics Anonymous, the mental health SHGs and other SHGs evolved in the US as three separate social movements that became institutionalized by 2000. Their history, characteristics, achievements, and supportive infrastructure are summarized. British contributors Munn, Giddings, and Boyce show in European countries how socio-political contexts shape self help mutual aid. Research has shifted from SHGs to peer support since 2000. Psychiatric Mental Health Nursing Patricia O'Brien, 2008-08-15. Caring for You, Caring for Me David H. Haigler, Kathryn B. Mims, Jack A. Nottingham, 1998 Caring for persons with chronic illnesses or disabilities is a rewarding endeavor but it often places extreme demands on those providing care. Caregivers need both education and support to understand their caregiving roles and to cope with the difficult situations they face. All too often there is a chasm between professionals who are part of the formal caregiving system and family members, friends, and neighbors who provide daily care. The Caring for You Caring for Me education and support program is a valuable tool for use in providing caregivers with education and support. The program is designed to bring formal professional and informal lay family caregivers together to gain a better understanding of each other's perspectives on what it means to be a caregiver with the hope that in the process both will learn to do it better. The program is based on caregiving research and the expertise of frontline caregivers. The Leader's Guide contains everything needed to conduct a ten-hour education and support program for caregivers: informational content, layouts for overhead transparencies, and suggested group activities. The companion Participant's Manual supports the presentation, providing a workbook for class activities, a suggested reading list, and a compendium of national sources of help for caregivers. Caring for You Caring for Me was developed by the Rosalynn Carter Institute under the guidance of the West Central Georgia Caregivers Network CARE NET. The Rosalynn Carter Institute was established in 1987. Its mission is to understand the process of caregiving and discover new ways to benefit both formal and informal caregivers. The Institute supports the premise that caregivers and care receivers can be served most effectively through the collaborative efforts of formal and informal caregivers, academicians, public and private services, and organizations representing caregivers and recipients of care.

Self-Help Groups for Parents of Children with Intractable Diseases Tomofumi Oka, 2003-09 The purpose of this dissertation is to examine the organisational problems and in particular the leadership problems of self-help groups in Japan for parents whose children have intractable diseases. Since 1993 I have been involved with these parent groups and have conducted three sorts of qualitative interview: thirteen informal conversational interviews, four focus group interviews, and fourteen guided interviews involving the members of twenty-one parent groups. Part of the research was carried out as participatory action research in which a research team was formed and authorised by the parent groups. My findings have shown that the groups' most serious problems lay not outside their groups but within, with the shortage of suitable leaders who volunteered in the activities. Three different sorts of account were given concerning the leadership shortage. They included justification, accusation, and exposure. The participants claimed that taking care of ill children caused the leadership shortage, selfish members created it, or the determination of older leaders to remain at the helm prevented new members from becoming leaders. Cognitive maps have been drawn of these situations. I have explained the theories behind the free rider and social loafing problems and the leadership traps confronting the parent groups and have applied attribution theory to the results. I have discussed the practicality of consultation for group leaders and argued that organisational socialisation should be activated in the parent groups while propounding the island within a lake model of parent groups Methodologically I have discussed social research within Japanese culture and the ethical issues pertain to participatory action research
