Artifact Classification Dwight W Read,2016-09-16 Archaeologists have been developing artifact typologies to understand cultural categories for as long as the discipline has existed Dwight Read examines these attempts to systematize the cultural domains in premodern societies through a historical study of pottery typologies He then offers a methodology for producing classifications that are both salient to the cultural groups that produced them and relevant for establishing cultural categories and timelines for the archaeologist attempting to understand the relationship between material culture and ideational culture of ancient societies This volume is valuable to upper level students and professional archaeologists across the discipline

Water-Related Death Investigation Kevin L. Erskine, Erica J. Armstrong,2010-10-25 All too often police called to the scene of a water related death may consider it an accidental drowning before they even arrive But the investigation of these types of deaths requires the same careful and thorough documentation as in other potentially non natural deaths and these efforts must be carried through all stages of investigation
