Shanghai Gateway To The Celestial Empire:

Shanghai Stella Dong, 2003 The Shanghai Alleyway House Gregory Byrne Bracken, 2013 As a nineteenth century commercial development the alleyway house was a hybrid of the traditional Chinese courtyard house and the Western terraced one Unique to Shanghai the alleyway house was a space where the blurring of the boundaries of public and private life created a vibrant social community In recent years however the city's rapid redevelopment has meant that the alleyway house is being destroyed and this book seeks to understand it in terms of the lifestyle it engendered for those who called it home whilst also looking to the future of the alleyway house Based on groundwork research this book examines the Shanghai alleyway house in light of the complex history of the city especially during the colonial era It also explores the history of urban form and governance in China in order to question how the Eastern and Western traditions combined in Shanghai to produce a unique and dynamic housing typology Construction techniques and different alleyway house sub genres are also examined as is the way of life they engendered including some of the side effects of alleyway house life such as the literature it inspired both foreign and local as well as the portrayal of life in the laneways as seen in films set in the city The book ends by posing the question what next for the alleyway house Does it even have a future and if so what lies ahead for this rapidly vanishing typology This interdisciplinary book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies architecture and urban development as well as history and literature The Celestial Empire , 1903 The Sing-song Girls of Shanghai Bangqing Han, 2007-11-30 Desire virtue courtesans also known as sing song girls and the denizens of Shanghai's pleasure quarters are just some of the elements that constitute Han Bangqing's extraordinary novel of late imperial China Han's richly textured panoramic view of late nineteenth century Shanghai follows a range of characters from beautiful sing song girls to lower class prostitutes and from men in positions of social authority to criminals and ambitious young men recently arrived from the country Considered one of the greatest works of Chinese fiction The Sing song Girls of Shanghai is now available for the first time in English Neither sentimental nor sensationalistic in its portrayal of courtesans and their male patrons Han's work inquires into the moral and psychological consequences of desire Han himself a frequent habitu of Shanghai brothels reveals a world populated by lonely souls who seek consolation amid the pleasures and decadence of Shanghai's demimonde He describes the romantic games played by sing song girls to lure men as well as the tragic consequences faced by those who unexpectedly fall in love with their customers Han also tells the stories of male patrons who find themselves emotionally trapped between desire and their sense of propriety First published in 1892 and made into a film by Hou Hsiao hsien in 1998 The Sing song Girls of Shanghai is recognized as a pioneering work of Chinese fiction in its use of psychological realism and its infusion of modernist sensibilities into the traditional genre of courtesan fiction The novel's stature has grown with the recent discovery of Eileen Chang's previously unknown translation which was unearthed among her papers at the University of Southern California Chang who lived in Shanghai until 1956 when she moved to California and began to write in English is
