Method in Ministry James D. Whitehead, Evelyn Eaton Whitehead, 1995-09 Theological Reflection and Christian Ministry James Evelyn Whitehead Topics ranging from Tradition and the minister to the broad concerns of theology in conversation with culture Charlotte Perkins Gilman Carol Farley Kessler, 1995-03-01 The focus of Carol Farley Kessler's work is how Charlotte Perkins Gilman developed as a writer and how she imagined a full-blown utopia for women This book which offers a fresh reading of Gilman's fiction fills a void in Gilman scholarship in feminist utopian scholarship and in American literary studies Kessler provides three journeys through Gilman's life A Biographical Exploration discusses facets of her life having a substantial impact upon her utopian writing Four themes influence this development the legacy of ancestral expectations her relationships to father mother and daughter the experience of two marriages and a divorce and her friendships with women Gilman and her Prancing Young Utopia presents three stages in the development of Gilman's utopian writing First she imagined neighborhoods writing alternately fiction and nonfiction Second she tested in fiction the expression of utopian principles explained in her nonfiction Finally she created the whole society in her 1915 satire Herland All of the foregoing writing represents Gilman's effort to imagine in fiction solutions that she recommended in her 1898 feminist treatise Women and Economics Writing to Empower Living connects Gilman's biography to her utopian writing as both personal expression and public activism The writing can be understood as equipment for living Ten hard to locate utopian short stories and chapters from four novels conclude the volume The Role of Women's Experience in Feminist Theologies of Atonement Linda D. Peacore, 2010-03-11 A strong critique of traditional atonement theology is found in the work of many contemporary feminist theologians This approach in large part is related to the notion of women's experience a category that is used widely within feminist theology But what is women's experience and how does it affect feminist theology particularly views on the atonement The category of women's experience is pivotal to feminist theology yet its use may lead to models of atonement that place excessive stress upon the subjective element of Christ's saving work thereby neglecting to address adequately the objective aspects of the cross This book focuses on the methodological issues regarding the category of women's experience generally its definition and use in feminist theology with a more detailed analysis of its use in the context of feminist theologies of atonement Utilizing the work of a wide variety of feminist theologians in conversation with theologies of experience this work attempts to understand the role of women's experience as it shapes feminist views on the atonement noting the strengths and limitations of feminist approaches to soteriology

Looking for God in Brazil John Burdick, 1993-12-28 For a generation the Catholic Church in Brazil has enjoyed international renown as one of the most progressive social forces in Latin America. The Church's creation of Christian Base Communities (CEBs) groups of Catholics who learn to read the Bible as a call for social justice has been widely hailed. Still in recent years it has become increasingly clear that the CEBs are lagging far behind the explosive growth of Brazil's two other major national religious movements: Pentecostalism and Afro-Brazilian Umbanda. On the basis of his extensive fieldwork in Rio de Janeiro including detailed life histories of women, blacks, youths, and the marginal poor, John Burdick offers the first in-depth explanation of why the radical Catholic Church is losing and Pentecostalism and Umbanda winning the battle for souls in urban Brazil.

A Wall of Separation? Mary Segers, Ted G. Jelen, Clarke E. Cochran, 1998-08-27 Should the wall of separation between church and state be permeable or inviolable? This question has been hotly contested since the nation's founding, and contentious debates persist today. With a collection of the most significant documents and an introduction by Clarke E. Cochran that provides the historical context of the debate, prominent scholars Mary Segers and Ted Jelen debate the impact of organized religion on the democratic process, examine its influence on political discourse, and discuss its significance for the creation of public policy. The authors illuminate the constitutional implications of using religion to cultivate public morality and discuss the complexities of creating a civic-minded citizenry in a pluralistic society.

The Hidden History of Women's Ordination Gary Macy, 2012-11-29 The Roman Catholic leadership still refuses to ordain women officially or even to recognize that women are capable of ordination. But is the widely held assumption that women have always been excluded from such roles historically accurate? How might the current debate change if our view of the history of women's ordination were to change? In The Hidden History of Women's Ordination, Gary Macy argues that for the first twelve hundred years of Christianity, women were in fact ordained into various roles in the church. He uncovers references to the ordination of women in papal, episcopal, and theological documents of the time, and the rites for these ordinations have survived. The insistence among scholars that women were not ordained, Macy shows, is based on a later definition of ordination, one that would have been unknown in the early Middle Ages.
