Marin R. Sullivan, 2022-03-22 A new look at the interrelationship of architecture and sculpture during one of the richest periods of American modern design Alloys looks at a unique period of synergy and exchange in the postwar United States when sculpture profoundly shaped architecture and vice versa Leading architects such as Gordon Bunshaft and Eero Saarinen turned to sculptors including Harry Bertoia Alexander Calder Richard Lippold and Isamu Noguchi to produce site determined large scale sculptures tailored for their buildings highly visible and well traversed threshold spaces The parameters of these spaces atriums lobbies plazas and entryways led to various designs like sculptural walls ceilings and screens that not only embraced new industrial materials and processes but also demonstrated art s ability to merge with lived architectural spaces Marin Sullivan argues that these sculptural commissions represent an alternate history of midcentury American art Rather than singular masterworks by lone geniuses some of the era s most notable spaces Philip

Johnson's Four Seasons Restaurant in Mies van der Rohe's Seagram Building, Max Abramovitz's Philharmonic Hall at Lincoln Center and Pietro Belluschi and Walter Gropius's Pan Am Building would be diminished without the collaborative efforts of architects and artists. At the same time, the artistic creations within these spaces could not exist anywhere else. Sullivan shows that the principle of synergy provides an ideal framework to assess this pronounced relationship between sculpture and architecture. She also explores the afterlives of these postwar commissions in the decades since their construction. A fresh consideration of sculpture's relationship to architectural design and functionality following World War II. Alloys highlights the affinities between the two fields and the ways their connections remain with us today. The American Architect and

Building News, 1889 Quotations and Sources on Design and the Decorative Arts Paul Greenhalgh, 1993 Eva Zeisel

Pat Kirkham, 2013-10-15 Eva Zeisel was one of the twentieth century's most influential ceramicists and designers of modern housewares. Her distinctive take on modern industrial design was inspired by organic form and brought beauty and playfulness to housewares, earning her designs a beloved place in midcentury homes. This richly illustrated volume, the first ever complete biographical account of Zeisel's life and work, presents an extensive survey of every line she ever created, all captured in gorgeous new photography plus 28 short essays from scholars, collectors, curators, and designers. The definitive book on the grande dame of twentieth-century ceramics, this is an essential resource for anyone who appreciates modern design. American Art Pottery Alice Cooney Frelinghuysen, Martin Eidelberg, Adrienne Spinozzi, 2018-09-25 p. 1

At the height of the Arts and Crafts era in Europe and the United States, American ceramics were transformed from industrially produced ornamental works to handcrafted art pottery. Celebrated ceramists such as George E. Ohr, Hugh C. Robertson, and M. Louise McLaughlin, and prize-winning potteries including Grueby and Rookwood, harnessed the potential of the medium to create an astonishing range of dynamic forms and experimental glazes. Spanning the period from the 1870s to the 1950s, this volume chronicles the history of American art pottery through more than three hundred works in the outstanding collection of Robert A. Ellison Jr. In a series of fascinating chapters, the authors place these works in the context of the turn of the century, commerce, design, and social history. Driven to innovate and at times fiercely competitive, some ceramists strove to discover and patent new styles and aesthetics, while others pursued more utopian aims, establishing artist communities that promoted education and handwork as therapy. Written by a team of esteemed scholars and copiously illustrated with sumptuous images, this book imparts a full understanding of American art pottery while celebrating the legacy of a visionary collector. The Art Interchange, 1883 Art Deco Chicago Robert
