Sharing The City Community Participation In Urban Management:

Sharing the City John Abbott, 2013-11-05 While the rate of urbanisation in the developing world has increased dramatically over the past 20 years governments capacity to support urban growth has in many cases failed to keep up with this trend Non governmental organisations working in the field have long advocated community management of the urban environment as the best solution to this problem and there is now a growing consensus that the answer does indeed lie with local communities Yet there is still little understanding of what constitutes meaningful and effective community participation or how it may be achieved in such a complex operating environment Sharing the City gives a comprehensive account of urban community participation both in theory and practice It first presents a wide ranging analysis of the issues and develops a participatory framework for urban management Using case studies and existing examples from around the world and drawing on lessons learned from previous experience it then develops the theory into a practical working model Effective participatory urban management calls for a fundamental rethink on the part of all the actors involved from local authorities and development agencies through local and international NGOs to the community based organisations and the communities themselves In redefining their roles and relationships Sharing the City presents a new and radically different yet viable and effective approach to the concept of urban management

Reconsidering Informality Karen Tranberg Hansen, Mariken Vaa, 2004 This book brings together two bodies of research on urban Africa that have tended to be separate studies of urban land use and housing and studies of work and livelihoods Africa s future will be increasingly urban and the inherited legal institutional and financial arrangements for managing urban development are inadequate Access to employment shelter and services is precarious for most urban residents The result is the phenomenal growth of the informal city Extra legal housing and unregistered economic activities proliferate and basic urban services are increasingly provided informally Recent decades of neo liberal political and economic reforms have increased social inequality across urban space After an introductory chapter by the editors the contributions are grouped into the following sections LOCALITY PLACE AND SPACE ECONOMY WORK AND LIVELIHOODS LAND HOUSING AND PLANNING The case studies are drawn from a diverse set of cities on the African continent A central theme is how practices that from an official standpoint are illegal or extra legal do not only work but are considered legitimate by the actors concerned Another is how the informal city is not exclusively the domain of the poor but also provides shelter and livelihoods for better off segments of the urban population and Participation Peter Blundell Jones, Doina Petrescu, Jeremy Till, 2013-07-04 Bringing together leading international practitioners and theorists in the field ranging from the 1960s pioneers of participation to some of the major contemporary figures in the field Architecture and Participation opens up the social and political aspects of our built environment and the way that the eventual users may shape it Divided into three sections looking at the politics histories and practices of participation the book gives both a broad theoretical background and more direct examples of participation in practice Respectively the book explores participation s broader context outlining key themes and including work from some seminal European figures and shows examples of how leading practitioners have put their ideas into action Illustrated throughout the authors present to students practitioners and policy makers an exploration of how a participative approach may lead to new spatial conditions as well as to new types of architectural practices and investigates the way that the user has been included in the design process Handbook of Community Movements and Local Organizations Ram A. Cnaan, Carl Milofsky, 2007-12-18 Although the way associations and the organization of local social life are intertwined is one of the oldest approaches to community study the way citizens and residents come together informally to act and solve problems has rarely been a primary focus Associations are central to important and developing areas of social theory and social action This handbook takes voluntary associations as the starting point for making sense of communities. It offers a new perspective on voluntary organizations and gives an integrated yet diverse theoretical understanding of this important aspect of community life.

City-Region 2020 Joe Ravetz, 2016-05-13. Based on analysis of the Manchester city region, this book offers a vision of a sustainable urban future through integrated strategic management of the entire city region. It translates principles into practice for achieving the necessary balance to ensure a higher standard of living and safe environment. The text presents a 25-year horizon for the evolution and restructuring of the urban system, a focus for linkages and synergies between economic, social and environmental sectors, technical scenarios for land use, energy and material flows, spatial scenarios for each area and settlement type, and lateral thinking on cultural information, localization and globalization trends. Also included are practical actions, methods and tools such as sustainability indicators and appraisals that can be applied anywhere in the western world.

Environment and the City Joe Ravetz, Clive George, Joe Howe, 2004-07-15. For the first time at the beginning of the twenty-first century, urban dwellers outnumber rural residents, and this trend is set to continue. Consequently, one of the most pressing issues of our time is how to square the social and economic development of cities with their environmental limits and those of the wider environment. The theme of the environment and city is topical at every level, from the politics of global trade to local community networks. Environment and the City looks at the evolution of cities in the developed and the developing world and the implications for resource consumption and environmental impacts It takes a cross cutting approach with new thinking on multiple geographies the configuration of networks exclusion consumption risk and ecological footprint Urban environmental themes and their related social economic and political agendas are outlined In turn the environmental impacts and environmental agendas relating to key sectors of the urban economy are discussed The global context to such issues is then explored before the practical tools and methods of urban environmental management are investigated The theme of the sustainable city emerges from this not so much as a standard menu but as a learning process between all sections of society This book a valuable resource provides a concise accessible route map for all students interested in the environmental issues emanating from our urban society Written to aid student understanding the easily navigable text features boxed practical examples discussion points signposts to reading and websites and a glossary

Social Capital for Synergic Partnership Samson Kassahun, 2004

The Vulnerability of Cities Mark Pelling, 2012-06-25 When disaster strikes in cities the effects can be catastrophic compared to other environments But what factors actually determine the vulnerability or resilience of cities The Vulnerability of Cities fills a vital gap in disaster studies by examining the too often overlooked impact of disasters on cities the conditions leading to high losses from urban disasters and why some households and communities withstand disaster more effectively than others Mark Pelling takes a fresh look at the literature on disasters and urbanization in light of recent catastrophes He presents three detailed studies of cities in the global South drawn from countries with contrasting political and developmental contexts Bridgetown Barbados a liberal democracy Georgetown Guyana a post socialist state and Santo Domingo Dominican Republic an authoritarian state in democratic transition This book demonstrates that strengthening local capacity through appropriate housing disaster preparedness infrastructure and livelihoods is crucial to improving civic resilience to disasters Equally important are strong partnerships between local community based organizations external non governmental and governmental organizations public and private sectors and between city and national government The author highlights and discusses these best practices for handling urban disasters With rapid urbanization across the globe this book is a must read for professionals policy makers students and researchers in disaster management urban development and planning transport planning architecture social studies and earth sciences Instruments of Planning Rebecca Leshinsky, Crystal Legacy, 2015-08-11 Instruments of Planning Tensions and Challenges for more Equitable and Sustainable Cities critically explores planning s instrumentality to deliver important social and environmental outcomes in neoliberal planning landscapes Because each instrument is unique and may be tailored to its own jurisdictional needs Instruments of Planning is a compendium of case studies from urban regions in Australia Canada the United States and Europe providing readers with a collection that critically challenges the role and potential of planning instruments and instrumentality across a range of contexts Instruments of Planning captures the political institutional and economic challenges that confront planning It examines planning instruments designed to assist with strategic planning and implementation and considers the role that technology plays in unpacking and understanding complexity in planning Written by Rebecca Leshinsky and Crystal Legacy of RMIT University in Melbourne Australia this book fills the gap in planning theory about the instrumentality of planning in the neoliberal urban context It is essential reading for students urban researchers policy analysts and planning practitioners

Cities of Gold, Townships of Coal Patrick Bond, 2000 After apartheid was dismantled South Africa s townships anticipated a peace and development dividend But as the ANC begins its second term in office 1999 2004 the cities have degenerated further into impoverished polluted under serviced zones of blight and despair Indeed in many respects the townships were worse off than when the ANC took power In this collection of essays the author argues that the ANC s adoption of free market economic and social policies is at the root of these problems and can be blamed for S Africa s uneven urban development

Rethinking Community Practice Chanan, Gabriel, Miller, Colin, 2013-02-27 Combining a reexamination of theory with practical tools and approaches Rethinking Community Practice provides a new framework for community involvement strategies Gabriel Chanan and Colin Miller show how this innovative but still amorphous movement can become more coherent both on the ground and in public policy by reforming community development building neighborhood partnerships measuring outcomes objectively and synthesizing the best innovations of the past three decades This is an important new perspective for local public service agencies practitioners working in communities and academics and students concerned with these fields Shelter For All: The Potential Of Housing Policy In The Implementation Of The Habitat Agenda ,

Residential Satisfaction and Housing Policy Evolution Clinton Aigbavboa, Wellington Thwala, 2018-07-04 This book explores residential satisfaction and housing policy trends in developing nations by using subsidised low income housing examples in South Africa Ghana and Nigeria as case studies While there has been much documentation on the formation of residential satisfaction and the evolution of housing policy in developed nations relatively little has been written about these topics in developing nations This book provides readers with two major practical insights The first is focused on the theoretical underpinning of residential satisfaction and the formation of residential satisfaction in subsidised low income housing through the development of a conceptual framework while the second is focused on housing policy evolution and its trends in South Africa In this section of the book comparative overviews of public housing in two West African countries are provided with an emphasis on the philosophical basis for its development in these countries The central aim of the book is to provide readers with ideas on residential satisfaction formation and housing policy trends in South Africa
