Productivity Growth in the Manufacturing Sector Mihir Kumar Pal,2021-06-03 The growth of manufacturing industries is one of the key sectors in helping to mitigate global recessions Productivity Growth in the Manufacturing Sector thoroughly discusses issues and potential remedies of this sector for a range of international countries

The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics ,2003-02-01 American civilization has been shaped by four decisive forces the frontier migration sectionalism and federalism The frontier has offered abundance to those who would could take advantage of its opportunities stimulated technological innovation and been the source of continuous change in social structure and economic organization migration has been responsible for relocating cultures from the Old world to the New various sections of geographic territories have adjusted to the overall American culture without losing their individual distinctiveness and federalism has shaped the United States political and social organization The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics was begun in the late 1950s under the auspices of the University of Illinois Institute of Government and Public Affairs as a study of the eight lesser metropolitan areas in Illinois What started out as a design for community maps of each area with the intent to outline their particular political systems led to a major study of metropolitan cities of the prairie the heartland area between the Great Lakes and the Continental Divide with an examination of the processes that have shaped American politics The distinctive features of geographic areas that Elazar discovered can be understood as reflections of the differences in cultural backgrounds of their respective settlers Understanding these communities requires an examination of their place in the federal system the impact of frontier and section upon them and a study of the cultures that inform them as civil communities The volume is consequently divided into three parts Cities Frontiers and Sections Streams of Migration and Political Culture and Cities States and Nation each of which explores Elazar s concerns in discovering the interrelationship between the cities of the frontier and American politics A prequel to The Closing of the Metropolitan Frontier published by Transaction in 2002 The Metropolitan Frontier and American Politics will be of great interest to students of politics American history and ethnography

Dispelling the Manufacturing Myth National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Board on Manufacturing and Engineering Design, Committee on Comparative Cost Factors and Structures in Global Manufacturing, 1992-02-01 Conventional wisdom holds that high wages high capital costs and worker inflexibility have cost America its ability to compete in the world manufacturing marketplace This book demonstrates that U S based manufacturing can compete in terms of quality product features and timely delivery the real measures of competitiveness in the 1990s The committee identifies attributes that attract manufacturers to given locations and assesses the attractiveness of the United States as a location for different kinds of manufacturing The volume dispels myths that have guided management decision making in the past and offers recommendations to promote the United States as a manufacturing site The volume discusses new approaches to understanding and controlling costs With case studies from three important industries consumer electronics semiconductors and automobiles the book explores factors in site location decisions highlighting advantages the United States can offer as a manufacturing site over low cost rivals

Advanced Manufacturing William B. Bonvillian, Peter L. Singer, 2023-12-05 How to rethink innovation and revitalize America s declining manufacturing sector by encouraging advanced manufacturing bringing innovative technologies into the production process The United States lost almost one third of its manufacturing jobs between 2000 and 2010 As higher paying manufacturing jobs are replaced by lower paying service jobs income inequality has been approaching third world levels In particular between 1990 and 2013 the median income of men without high school diplomas fell by an astonishing 20% between 1990 and 2013 and that of men with high school diplomas or some college fell by a painful 13% Innovation has been left largely to software and IT startups and increasingly U S firms operate on a system of innovate here produce there leaving the manufacturing sector behind In this book William Bonvillian and Peter Singer explore how to rethink innovation and revitalize America s declining manufacturing sector They argue that advanced manufacturing which employs such innovative technologies as 3 D printing advanced material photonics and robotics in the production process is the key Bonvillian and Singer discuss transformative new production paradigms that could drive up efficiency and drive down costs describe the new processes and business models that must accompany them and explore alternative funding methods for startups that must manufacture They examine the varied attitudes of mainstream economics toward manufacturing the post Great Recession policy focus on advanced manufacturing and lessons from the new advanced manufacturing institutes They consider the problem of startup scaleup possible new models for training workers and the role of manufacturing in addressing secular stagnation in innovation growth the middle classes productivity rates and related investment As recent political turmoil shows the stakes could not be higher

Manufacturing Systems: Theory and Practice George Chryssolouris, 2006 Overviews manufacturing systems from the ground up following the same concept as in the first edition Delves into the fundamental building blocks of manufacturing systems manufacturing processes and equipment Discusses all topics from the viewpoint of four fundamental manufacturing attributes cost rate flexibility and quality

Development Centre Seminars Policies to Promote Competitiveness in Manufacturing in Sub-Saharan Africa OECD, International Monetary Fund, African Economic Research Consortium, 2001-07-06 Primary commodities dominate African exports yet these products are extremely vulnerable to variations in weather conditions world demand and prices If the continent is to obtain optimum benefit from the integration and opening of the world

World Bank East Asia and Pacific Economic Update, April 2024 World Bank, 2024-04 Most economies in developing East Asia and Pacific EAP are growing faster than the rest of the world but slower than before the pandemic Slowing global growth still tight financial conditions and an increase in trade protection and industrial support in large and rich countries are key aspects of the external environment shaping the region's economic performance Amplified public and private debt constrained macroeconomic policy and increased policy uncertainty are the major domestic issues EAP's current macroeconomic challenges risk obscuring the microeconomic foundations of longer term growth Over the last decade EAP's growth has been driven by investment and capital deepening rather than by increased productivity of firms Now private investment is weak and productivity declining further inhibiting the incentive to invest Firms are the protagonists of productivity growth Some of the weaker firms in EAP countries are beginning to catch up with stronger firms But the stronger firms in the region are failing to take full advantage of new technologies regional leaders risk becoming global laggards Bold policy action to unleash competition improve infrastructure and reform education with measured state support could revitalize the region's economy

OECD Regional Development Studies The Geography of Firm Dynamics: Measuring Business Demography for Regional Development OECD, 2017-12-05 The Geography of Firm Dynamics provides methods and data to measure and analyse the creation and destruction of businesses across OECD regions

Critical Connections David Michael Gould, 2018-09-20 Critical Connections examines how trade investment migration and other linkages among countries drive economic growth in the Europe and Central Asia region The study breaks new ground by using a multidimensional approach that recognizes how each connectivity channel for growth is likely to be affected by the strength of other channels This multidimensional view makes it easier to see that diversity in country connections and balance in all channels of connectivity are critical for achieving the greatest impact on growth Europe and Central Asia provides a great laboratory for observing the role of multidimensional connectivity in action The region s 30 countries vary widely in the openness of their economies Its collective experience shows how the various elements of cross border connectivity work together to accelerate progrowth knowledge transfers which in turn boost productivity through participation in today s global value chains A country s economic partner might be just as important as the type of connection Being well connected to highly connected countries can provide benefits beyond being well connected to comparatively isolated countries Although greater connectivity can expose countries to external shocks the report presents fact based argument for policies that seek to build deeper and more diverse connections within the Europe and Central Asia region and globally The message is timely Europe s once confident march toward economic integration has slowed over the past decade with voices in many countries questioning the wisdom of opening to the global economy Critical Connections serves as a reminder to citizens and policy makers that greater regional and global connectivity has been a tremendous convergence machine raising living standards of lower income countries toward those of wealthier middle to high income countries
