Manufacturing The News:

Manufacturing the News Mark Fishman,1988-09-01 Argues that the bias of mass media is largely created by its dependence on government and corporate bureaucracies as the main source of raw news material Manufacturing the News Mark Steven Fishman,1900 Manufacturing the News Mark Fishman,2014-11-17 There is little argument that mass media news projects a particular point of view The question is how that bias is formed Most media critics look to the attitudes of reporters and editors the covert news policy of a publisher or the outside pressures of politicians and advertisers Manufacturing the News takes a different tack Mark Fishman s research shows how the routine methods of gathering news rather than any hidden manipulators determine the ideological character of the product News organizations cover the world mainly through beats which tend to route reporters exclusively through governmental agencies and corporate bureaucracies in their search for news Crime for instance is covered through the police and court bureaucracies local politics through the meetings of the city council county commissioners and other official agencies Reporters under daily deadlines come to depend upon these organizations for the predictable steady flow of raw news material they provide It is part of the function of such bureaucracies to transform complex happenings into procedurally defined cases Thus the information they produce for newswriters represents their own bureaucratic reality Occurrences which are not part of some bureaucratic phase are simply ignored Journalists participate in this system by publicizing bureaucratic reality as hard fact while accounts from other sources are treated as unconfirmed reports which cannot be published without time consuming investigation Were journalists to employ different methods of news gathering Fishman concludes a different reality would emerge in the news one that might challenge the legitimacy of prevailing political structures But under the traditional system news reports will continue to support the interests of the status quo independently of the attitudes and intentions of reporters editors and news sources News, Productivity and Costs: Manufacturing Industries, 1987-97, USDL-00-155, May 26, 2000 ,
