he died in 1992 Brett Whiteley left behind decades of ceaseless activity some works bound to a particular place or time others that are masterpieces of light and line Whiteley had arrived in Europe in 1960 determined to make an impression Before long he was the youngest artist to have work acquired by the Tate With his wife Wendy and daughter Arkie Whiteley then immersed himself in bohemian New York But within two years he fled having failed to break through Back in Sydney he soon became Australia's most celebrated artist He won the Archibald Wynne and Sulman prizes in the same year his prices soared as did his fame Among his friends were Francis Bacon and Patrick White Billy Connolly and Dire Straits Yet addiction was taking its toll Whiteley struggled in vain to separate his talent from his disease and an inglorious end approached Written with unprecedented behind the scenes access and handsomely illustrated with classic Whiteley artworks rare notebook sketches and candid family photos this dazzling biography reveals for the first time the full portrait of a mercurial artist Ashleigh Wilson has been a journalist for almost two decades He began his career at the Australian in Sydney before spending several years in Brisbane covering everything from state politics to the Hollingworth crisis to indigenous affairs He then moved north to become the paper's Darwin correspondent a posting bookended by the Falconio murder trial and the Howard government's intervention in remote Aboriginal communities During that time he won a Walkley Award for reports on unethical behaviour in the Aboriginal art industry a series that led to a Senate inquiry He returned to Sydney in 2008 and has been the paper's Arts Editor since 2011 He lives in Sydney Ashleigh Wilson has produced an intriguing absorbing and assured account of Brett Whiteley's life and work Mark Knopfler With relentless precision Ashleigh Wilson has provided a peerless grasp of the life and genius of Brett Whiteley This storied journey of one of Australia's most mercurial twentieth century artists will be impossible for the reader to put aside until it is finished It is the dispassionate biography Whiteley has long needed a career clarified from the brilliant clouds of myth Barry Pearce Emeritus Curator of Australian Art at the Art Gallery of NSW A full dress life of Whiteley that speeds and soars and never ceases to do homage to the colossal confrontation and contradiction the artist represents Wilson has written that rarest of things a 400 page biography that is hard to put down It will make you weep for this exasperation of a man and hunger for his art Australian An essential and invaluable resource for any Whiteley scholar Wilson's achievement is considerable Ashleigh Wilson's Brett Whiteley Art Life and the Other Thing is a benchmark publication in Whiteley studies Sydney Review of Books The best biography I read this year was Ashleigh Wilson's Brett Whiteley Art Life and the Other Thing Combines journalistic rigour and personal compassion his landmark account of one of our greatest artists Australian Ashleigh Wilson's biography of Brett Whiteley is hard to put down The narrative hums along beautifully allowing readers a rare insight into Whiteley's complex genius A colossal undertaking helped by extraordinary access Wilson has delivered readers and history an absorbing detailed and fascinating read Walkley Magazine Ashleigh Wilson methodically tracks this mercurial artist from early family days to his final years a motley of sex drugs and rock n roll and importantly art Art Almanac In Camera Antony Armstrong-Jones

Earl of Snowdon, 2007 A Companion to Australian Art Christopher Allen, 2021-04-27 A Companion to Australian Art is a thorough introduction to the art produced in Australia from the arrival of the First Fleet in 1788 to the early 21st century. Beginning with the colonial art made by Australia's first European settlers, this volume presents a collection of clear and accessible essays by established art historians and emerging scholars alike. Engaging, clearly written chapters provide fresh insights into the principal Australian art movements considered from a variety of chronological, regional, and thematic perspectives. The text seeks to provide a balanced account of historical events to help readers discover the art of Australia on their own terms and draw their own conclusions. The book begins by surveying the historiography of Australian art and exploring the history of art museums in Australia. The following chapters discuss art forms such as photography, sculpture, portraiture, and landscape painting, examining the practice of art in the separate colonies before Federation and in the Commonwealth from the early 20th century to the present day. This authoritative volume covers the last 250 years of art in Australia, including the Early Colonial, High Colonial, and Federation periods, as well as the successive Modernist styles of the 20th century, and considers how traditional Aboriginal art has adapted and changed over the last fifty years. The Companion to Australian Art is a valuable resource for both undergraduate and graduate students of the history of Australian art, from colonization to postmodernism, and for general readers with an interest in the nation's colonial art history. This is Tomorrow Michael Bird, 2022-09-08 In This is Tomorrow, Michael Bird takes a fresh look at the long twentieth century from the closing years of Queen Victoria's reign to the turn of the millennium through the lens of the artists who lived and worked in this ever-changing Britain. Bird examines how the rhythms of change and adaptation in art became embedded in the collective consciousness of the nation and vividly evokes the personalities who populate and drive this story, looking beyond individual careers and historical moments to weave together interconnecting currents of change that flowed through London, Glasgow, Leeds, Cornwall, the Caribbean, New York, Moscow, and Berlin. From the American James McNeill Whistler's defence of his new kind of modern art against the British art establishment in the latter half of the 19th century to the Danish-Icelandic artist Olafur Eliasson's melting icebergs in London, he traverses the lives of the artists that have recorded, questioned, and defined our times. At the heart of this original book are the successive waves of displacement caused by global wars and persecution that conversely brought fresh ideas and new points of view to the British Isles; educational reforms opened new routes for young people from working-class backgrounds; movements of social change enabled the emergence of female artists and artists of colour; and the emergence of the mass media shaped modern modes of communication and culture. These are the ebbs and flows that Michael Bird teases out in this panoramic account of Britain and its artists in across the twentieth century. Modernists and Mavericks Martin Gayford, 2018-06-12 Martin Gayford's masterful account of painting in London from the Second World War to the 1970s, illustrated by documentary photographs and the works themselves, shows the development of painting in London from the Second World War to the 1970s has never before been told before as a single narrative R B Kitaj's proposal made in 1976 that there was a substantial School of London was essentially correct but it caused confusion because it implied that there was a movement or stylistic group at work when in reality no one style could cover the likes of Francis Bacon and also Bridget Riley. Modernists and Mavericks explores this period based on an exceptionally deep well of firsthand interviews often unpublished with such artists as Victor Pasmore, John Craxton, Lucian Freud, Frank Auerbach, Allen Jones, R B Kitaj, Euan Uglow, Howard Hodgkin, Terry Frost, Gillian Ayres, Bridget Riley, David Hockney, Frank Bowling, Leon Kossoff, John Hoyland and Patrick Caulfield. But Martin Gayford also teases out the thread weaving these individual lives together and demonstrates how and why long after it was officially declared dead painting lived and thrived in London. Simultaneously aware of the influences of Jackson Pollock, Giacometti and through the teaching passed down at the major art school the traditions of Western art from Piero della Francesca to Picasso and Matisse the postwar painters were bound by their confidence that this ancient medium could do fresh and marvelous things and explored in their diverse ways the possibilities of paint.

Edgar Wind and Modern Art Ben Thomas, 2020-12-10 This book presents the first comprehensive study of the philosopher and art historian Edgar Wind's critique of modern art. The first student of Erwin Panofsky and a close associate of Aby Warburg, Edgar Wind was unusual among the Warburgians for his sustained interest in modern art together with his support for contemporary artists. This culminated in his respected and influential book Art and Anarchy 1963 which seemed like a departure from his usual scholarly work on the iconography of Renaissance art. Based on extensive archival research and bringing to light previously unpublished lectures, Edgar Wind and Modern Art reveals the extent and seriousness of Wind's thinking about modern art and how it was bound up with theories about art and knowledge that he had developed during the 1920s and 30s. Wind's ideas are placed in the context of a closely connected international cultural milieu consisting of some of the leading artists and thinkers of the twentieth century. In particular the book discusses in detail his friendships with three significant artists: Pavel Tchelitchew, Ben Shahn and R B Kitaj. In the process the existence of an alternative to the prevailing formalist approach of Alfred Barr and Clement Greenberg to modern art based on the enduring importance of the symbol is revealed.

Edward Bawden and His Circle Malcolm Yorke, 2007 An incisive biography of Bawden following his career in the context of the social and artistic friendships he cultivated.

Arts Governance Ruth Rentschler, 2014-10-10 Since the crisis in governance which led to a shortage of capable board members recent years have seen the emergence of the enterprising arts organisation a development which has led to the need for new types of board members who have a greater understanding of mission, money and merit within a cultural construct. This innovative book explores the world of the arts board member from the unique perspective of the cultural and creative industries. Using a wide range of research techniques including interviews with board members and stakeholders, board observations and case studies this book provides a rich and deep analysis from inside the boardroom. It provides in depth insight into the changing pressures on arts boards after the financial crisis and focuses uniquely on the role of passion.

on arts boards Part of the Routledge Research in Creative and Cultural Industries Management series written specifically for people seeking to develop their careers in cultural and creative management this book is also for people working in and with arts organisations in government and non profit arts organisations It will also be of interest to academics and researchers working in the wider corporate governance field Nolan's Gallipoli Gavin Fry, Sidney Nolan, 1983 Art & Architecture and Related Subjects Swann Galleries, 1986 The Whole Idea Catalog , 1971
