Problemes De Linguistique Generale 2:

Introduction to Indo-European Linguistics Oswald Szemerényi, Oswald John Louis Szemerényi, 1999 Professor Szemerényi's Einführung in die vergleichende Sprachwissenschaft first published in 1970 remains the standard introduction to comparative Indo-European linguistics Updated and revised for its English translation it appears here in a new paperback format The introductory section presents a general survey of the principles of diachronic comparative linguistics and the remainder of the book is a thorough and detailed analysis according to those principles of the phonological and morphological structure of the Indo-European group of languages Each section of the book has a detailed bibliography so that the student can progress from the general overview to a more detailed examination of particular topics Theatre Semiotics Fernando de Toro, Mario Vald's, 1995-01-01 Theatre Semiotics provides a thorough argument for the place and the necessity of semiotics within the interpretive process of theatre The Semiotics of the COVID-19 Pandemic Sebastián Moreno Barreneche, 2024-11-14 Focusing on the discursive dimension of the COVID 19 pandemic from a semiotic perspective this book uses semiotic theory and methods to analyse the meaning making mechanisms and dynamics that occurred during and revolved around the pandemic Demonstrating the utility of semiotic theory concepts and analytical methods to make sense of discursive phenomena like those triggered by the COVID 19 pandemic the book explores in detail the blame attribution discourses that emerged at the beginning of the pandemic how the coronavirus was brought to life in plastic and visual manifestations as a monster that poses a threat to humans how the collective actor the healthcare workers was constructed in discourse and axiomatised in positive terms the semiotics of the body during the pandemic with a focus on the face facemasks social distancing and the uses of the body in online environments the idea of a new normality following the pandemic The book examines different dimensions of the COVID 19 pandemic including examples from Europe Latin America and the United States and a wide range of images texts practices and objects in order to highlight the importance of its discursive and semiotic nature Meaning in Mathematics Education Jeremy Kilpatrick, Celia Hoyles, Ole Skovsmose, 2006-03-30 What does it mean to know mathematics How does meaning in mathematics education connect to common sense or to the meaning of mathematics itself How are meanings constructed and communicated and what are the dilemmas related to these processes There are many answers to these questions some of which might appear to be contradictory Thus understanding the complexity of meaning in mathematics education is a matter of huge importance There are twin directions in which discussions have developed theoretical and practical and this book seeks to move the debate forward along both dimensions while seeking to relate them where appropriate A discussion of meaning can start from a theoretical examination of mathematics and how mathematicians over time have made sense of their work However from a more practical perspective anybody involved in teaching mathematics is faced with the need to orchestrate the myriad of meanings derived from multiple sources that students develop of mathematical knowledge This book presents a wide variety of theoretical reflections and research results about meaning in mathematics and mathematics education based on long term and collective reflection by the group of authors as a whole It is the outcome of the work of the BACOMET Basic CoMponents of Mathematics Education for Teachers group who spent several years deliberating on this topic The ten chapters in this book both separately and together provide a substantial contribution to clarifying the complex issue of meaning in mathematics education This book is of interest to researchers in mathematics education graduate students of mathematics education under graduate students in mathematics secondary mathematics teachers and primary teachers with an interest in mathematics

Stéphane Mosès ›Displacements‹ Ashraf Noor, 2024-05-06 Stéphane Mosès explores in Displacements the poetry of Paul Celan and the work of major German Jewish thinkers in the context of his distinction between normative and critical modernity The first part contains a translation of his book Approches de Paul Celan the third part a translation of his lecture series Figures philosophiques de la modernité juive and the central section contains alongside a text on Freud essays on Goethe and Benjamin that extend his analysis beyond the Jewish sphere while engaging with the questions of tradition and its fragmentation that he raises there Edited translated and with an Introduction by Ashraf Noor

(Re)presentations and Dialogue François Cooren, Alain Létourneau, 2012 This edited volume proposes key contributions addressing the connections between two important themes dialogue and representation These connections were approached or interpreted in three possible ways 1 Dialogue as representation 2 Normative perspectives on dialogue representation issues and 3 Representations of dialogue The first interpretation Dialogue as representation consists of exploring dialogue as an activity where many things beings or voices can be made present whether we think in terms of ideologies cultures situations collectives roles etc The second interpretation Normative perspectives on dialogue representation issues leads scholars to explore questions of normativity which are often associated with the notion of dialogue when conceived as a morally stronger form of conversation Finally the third interpretation Representations of dialogue invites us to address methodological questions related to the representation of this type of conversation Echoing Bakhtin contributors were invited to explore the polyphonic heteroglot or dialogic character of any text discourse or interaction

Analysing Representations of Social Media in European News Media Discourse Christine Develotte, Anthippi Potolia, Eija Suomela-Salmi, 2021-11-01 This book explores representations of social media in European media discourses across different socio historical contexts demonstrating how such analysis can illuminate the tension between global and local in media discourses in today's globalised world The volume draws on data from a trilingual corpus from different editions of the free daily Metro from Finland France and Greece spanning a five year period with a focus on Facebook and Twitter Adopting a French discourse analysis approach which takes as its point of departure the notion of discourse as the social practice of representing the book integrates qualitative and quantitative analyses to investigate the social and political role depictions of social media play in specific socio historical contexts This approach brings to the fore both commonalities and differences in the popularity of specific platforms and coverage of specific news topics and hot button issues In so doing the volume elucidates the ways in which global practices become integrated and immersed into local contexts offering avenues for future research on social media in news discourses This book will be of interest to scholars in applied linguistics intercultural communication discourse analysis media studies and cultural studies

Historical journey in a linguistic archipelago

Emilie Aussant,Jean-Michel Fortis, This volume offers a selection of papers presented during the 14th International Conference on the History of the Language Sciences ICHoLS XIV Paris 2017 Part I brings together studies dealing with descriptive concepts First examined is the notion of accidens in Latin grammar and its Greek counterparts Other papers address questions with a strong echo in today s linguistics localism and its revival in recent semantics and syntax the origin of the term polysemy and its adoption through Br al and the difficulties attending the description of prefabs idioms and other fixed expressions This first part also includes studies dealing with representations of linguistic phenomena whether these concern the treatment of local varieties so called patois in French research or the import and epistemological function of spatial representations in descriptions of linguistic time Or again now taking the word representation literally the visual display of grammatical relations in the form of the first syntactic diagrams Part II presents case studies which involve wider concerns of a social nature the from below approach to the history of Chinese Pidgin English underlines the social roles of speakers and the diversity of speech situations while the scrutiny of Lhomond s Latin and French textbooks demonstrates the interplay of pedagogical practice cross linguistic comparison and descriptive innovation An overview of early descriptions of Central Australian languages reveals a whole spectrum of humanist to positivist and antihumanist stances during the colonial age An overarching framework is also at play in the anthropological perspective championed by Meillet whose socially and culturally oriented semantics is shown to live on in Benveniste The volume ends with a paper on Tr n c Th o whose work is an original synthesis between phenomenology and Marxist semiology wielded against the idealistic doctrine of Saussure

Global Perspectives on Probing Narratives in Healthcare

Casal, Teresa,Cabral, Maria de Jesus,2023-06-01 There is often a communication disconnect between medical caregivers including doctors nurses therapists and other assistive medical personnel and the patient While medical staff usually understand a patient s symptoms causes and treatments communicating this understanding to a patient using industry terminologies can lead to confusion and misunderstanding and similarly patients may lack the vocabulary to effectively communicate their experiences back to their caregivers A new approach to communication must be bridged between these groups by individuals who have experience on both sides of the conversation Previous studies of doctors who end up in the role of the patient reveal how these individuals have a dual perspective on illness combining their medical knowledge with their own personal medical experiences Narratives including autobiographical accounts and fictional stories can help bridge the gap between experiential and academic knowledge of illness by expanding one's limited perspective and accessing others' points of view Autobiographical and fictional narratives can both play a role in developing a more comprehensive understanding of illness beyond simply treating the disease It is necessary to further examine the ethical and methodological underpinnings of narrative based interventions in the education of healthcare professionals practitioners and patients Global Perspectives on Probing Narratives in Healthcare offers a multidisciplinary examination of theoretical and methodological uses of narratives in healthcare by bringing together medical aspects of healthcare and the study of arts and humanities This illustrates specific applications of narratives in healthcare settings including improvement of clinical skills performance of the caring role and self efficacy for building a true partnership in the patient's health journey through varied approaches up to date tools and resources that can be transferred and adapted to specific educational and healthcare contexts This diverse collection of expert knowledge and experience is led by editors with over 20 years of teaching experience Dr Teresa Casal of the University of Lisbon Portugal and Dr Maria de Jesus Cabral of the University of Minho Portugal Expertise featured in this book includes contributions from some of the most prestigious academic institutions including Columbia University in the United States King's College in the United Kingdom University of Padua in Italy and more It is an essential resource for healthcare and social science researchers academics advanced healthcare students health training and education departments healthcare practitioners and patients associations and policymakers in healthcare who are looking to broaden their scope of understanding of the patient experience

Speech and Thought Presentation in French Sophie Marnette, 2005-08-18 This book analyses and describes Speech and Thought Presentation S TP in French from a broad theoretical perspective building bridges between linguistic stylistic and narratological frameworks that have until now been developed separately It combines the French theoretical nonciation and different Anglo Saxon approaches of reported discourse into a harmonious whole in order to create a new and exciting paradigm for our conception of S TP strategies Basing its findings on actual corpora and going beyond the canonical categories of reported discourse it shows that the study of S TP strategies is essential to our understanding of phenomena as diverse as the evolution and categorization of literary genres the production and staging of orality in literature the various conceptualizations of the notion of Truth in fiction and non fiction the expression of points of view in narrative the structuring of rhetorical strategies and the construction of the Self versus the representation of the Other in discourse Signs of Humanity / L'homme et ses signes Gérard Deledalle, Michel Balat, Janice Deledalle-Rhodes, 2019-05-20 No detailed description available for Signs of Humanity L'homme et ses signes Jacob Wackernagel, Lectures on Syntax David

Langslow,2009-04-30 This book is an English version of two series of highly acclaimed introductory lectures given by the great Swiss linguist and classical philologist Jacob Wackernagel 1853 1938 at the University of Basle in 1918 19 on aspects of Greek Latin and German as languages Out of print in German since 1996 these lectures remain the best available introduction in any language not only to Greek Latin and comparative syntax but also to many topics in the history and pre history of Greek and Latin and their relations with other languages Other subjects such as the history of grammatical terminology are also brilliantly dealt with This new edition supplements the German original by providing a translation of all quotations and examples a large number of detailed footnotes offering background information and suggestions for further reading and a single bibliography which brings together Wackernagel s references and those added in the notes addresses the philosophical thought of Gilles Deleuze and Ren Thom as well as the experiment of Aby Warburg's Atlas Mnemosyne. The theories discussed in the book are tested on a variety of corpora for analysis including both paintings and photographs taken from traditional as well as contemporary sources in a variety of social sectors, arts and sciences. Finally, semiotic methodology is contrasted with the computational analysis of large collections of images, Big Data, such as the Media Visualization analyses proposed by Lev Manovich and Cultural Analytics in the field of Computer Science to evaluate the impact of automatic analysis of visual forms on Digital Art History and more generally on the image sciences.

Selfhood, Identity and Personality Styles is an interdisciplinary study that describes a new perspective on psychopathology based on the search for the source of personal meaning and identity. The opening section develops a first person approach to selfhood and personal identity, discussing relevant topics in personality and social psychology, developmental psychology, psychology of emotions, and neuroscience. The second part presents five different personality styles distinguished on the basis of their emotional inclinations: Eating Disorder prone, Obsessive Compulsive prone, personalities prone to Hypochondria, Hysteria, Phobia prone, and Depression prone. The classification based on affectivity makes it possible to illustrate the continuity between the study of personality and that of psychopathology. One distinctive feature of this extraordinary book is a discussion of recently published evidence that functional magnetic resonance imaging can show how brain activity may be related to personality styles. With a new Foreword by Shaun Gallagher, Professor of Philosophy, University of Central Florida, Praise for Selfhood, Identity and Personality Styles. This is a scholarly book which will provide the reader with plenty to chew on. This book will make you think, will illuminate how people function, and will help you understand how self-disordered experience, such as the feeling that one disappears or doesn't exist when another leaves, occurs. The authors tackle with great sophistication the big questions of how sameness, changing experience, and temporality are woven together by language and narrative. Refusing to be reduced to the simplicity of an objectivist account of functioning, they offer profound phenomenological views on identity and emotion that show a deep appreciation of the complexity of what it is to be a person. Their analysis of functioning leads to the specification of inward and outward dispositional dimensions, and using clinical and literary examples, they provide descriptions of different styles of personality along this continuum, ranging from eating disorder prone personalities focused on the other at one end of the continuum and depression prone personalities focused excessively inwardly at the other end.

Leslie Greenberg, Professor of Psychology, York University, Canada

Arciero and Bondolfi have written a timely, thought-provoking and challenging book providing the reader with a refreshingly new account of self-identity and its disorders. A cogent and novel contribution to psychiatric thought that wonderfully integrates philosophy, psychopathology, and contemporary neuroscience. This book will push psychiatry in new directions. A must read.

Vittorio Gallese, Professor of Human Physiology, University of Parma, Italy

Selfhood, Identity and Personality Styles is a highly ambitious work of theoretical synthesis, neuroscience.

phenomenology and social constructionism are joined together with the study of both literature and psychopathology Arciero and Bondolfi offer sophisticated and intriguing discussions not only of mirror neurons and developmental psychology but also of ideas from Aristotle Kant and Heidegger of characters from Dostoevsky Kleist and Pessoa and of patients from clinical practice A ground breaking first attempt to show the relevance of the interdisciplinary study of basic self experience for our understanding of character styles and personality disorders Louis A Sass Professor of Clinical Psychology Rutgers University Winner of third prize in the Specialist Readership section of the UK Medical Journalists Association Open Book Awards 2010
