Improvising the Voice of the Ancestors Mustafa Coskun,2020 Cultural heritage and national identity have been significant themes in debates concerning Central Asia following the dissolution of the Soviet Union not only in academic circles but more importantly among the general public in the newly independent Central Asian states Inspired by insights from a popular form of traditional cultural performance in Kyrgyzstan this book goes beyond cultural revival discourse to explore these themes from a historically informed anthropological perspective Based on fourteen months of fieldwork and archival research in Kyrgyzstan this historical ethnography analyses the ways in which political elite in Central Asia attempts to exercise power over its citizens through cultural production from early twentieth century to the present

Pre-tsarist and Tsarist Central Asia Paul Georg Geiss,2004-11-23 This study written from the perspective of political sociology represents the first comparative examination of Central Asian communal and political organisation before and after the tsarist conquest of the region It covers Turkman Kyrgyz Kazakh and other tribal societies analyses the patrimonial state structures of the Emirate of Bukhara and the Khanates of Khiva and Khokand and discusses the impacts of the established tsarist civil military administration on communal and political orientations of the Muslim population

Central Asia in Art Aliya Abykayeva-Tiesenhausen,2016-06-20 In the midst of the space race and nuclear age Soviet Realist artists were producing figurative oil paintings Why How was art produced to control and co opt the peripheries of the Soviet Union particularly Central Asia Presenting the untold story of Soviet Orientalism Aliya Abykayeva Tiesenhausen re evaluates the imperial project of the Soviet state placing the Orientalist undercurrent found within art and propaganda production in the USSR alongside the creation of new art forms in Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan and Uzbekistan From the turmoil of the 1930s through to the post Stalinist era the author draws on meticulous new research and rich illustrations to examine the political and social structures in the Soviet Union and particularly Soviet Central Asia to establish vital connections between Socialist Realist visual art the creation of Soviet identity and later nationalist sentiments Soviet Nation-Building in Central Asia Grigol Ubiria, 2015-09-16 The demise of the Soviet Union in 1991 resulted in new state led nation building projects in Central Asia The emergence of independent republics spawned a renewed Western scholarly interest in the region s nationality issues Presenting a detailed study this book examines the state led nation building projects in the Soviet republics of Kazakhstan and Uzbekistan Exploring the degree forms and ways of the Soviet state involvement in creating Kazakh and Uzbek nations this book places the discussion within the theoretical literature on nationalism The author argues that both Kazakh and Uzbek nations are artificial constructs of Moscow based Soviet policy makers of the 1920s and 1930s This book challenges existing arguments in current scholarship by bringing some new and alternative insights into the role of indigenous Central Asian and Soviet officials in these nation building projects It goes on to critically examine post Soviet official Kazakh and Uzbek historiographies according to which Kazakh and Uzbek peoples had developed national collective identities and loyalties long before the Soviet era This book will be a useful contribution to Central Asian History and Politics as well as studies of Nationalism and Soviet Politics Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Central Asia Rico Isaacs, Erica Marat, 2021-09-14 The Routledge Handbook of Contemporary Central Asia offers the first comprehensive cross disciplinary overview of key issues in Central Asian studies The 30 chapters by leading and emerging scholars summarise major findings in the field and highlight long term trends recent observations and future developments in the region The handbook features case studies of all five Central Asian republics and is organised thematically in seven sections History Politics Geography International Relations Political Economy Society and Culture Religion An essential cross disciplinary reference work the handbook offers an accessible and easy to understand guide to the core issues permeating the region to enable readers to grasp the fundamental challenges transformations and themes in contemporary Central Asia It will be of interest to researchers academics and students of the region and those working in the field of Area Studies History Anthropology Politics and International Relations Chapter 23 of this book is available for free in PDF format as Open Access from the individual product page at www.routledge.com It has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution Non Commercial No Derivatives 4.0 license Movement, Power and Place in Central Asia and Beyond Madeleine Reeves, 2013-09-13 Central Asia is a region singularly marked by attempts to transform social life by transforming place Drawing together established scholars and a new generation of historians geographers and anthropologists this volume brings empirical specificity and theoretical depth to debates about the politics of place making in this diverse region making an important contribution to Central Asian studies and a distinctive regional comparison to the spatial turn in social analysis Case studies draw on archival research and oral history to explore the workings and unintended consequences of policies aimed at sedentarizing collectivizing and resettling populations as a means to fix and territorialize space The book also examines ethnographic studies attuned to the role of movement in sustaining social life from Soviet era trade networks that linked rural Central Asia and the Russian metropolis to pilgrimage routes through which kazakhness is articulated to the contemporary moralization of migration abroad in search of work Rather than analysing flows as abstract processes the book enquires about effortful activity material infrastructures political relations and social habits through which people ideas knowledge skills and material objects move or are prevented from moving As such it offers new insights into the complex intersections of movement power and place in this important region over the last two centuries This book was originally published as a special issue of Central Asian Survey      Symbolism and Power in Central Asia Sally Cummings, 2013-09-13

With the collapse of communism post communist societies scrambled to find meaning to their new independence Central Asia was no exception Events relationships gestures spatial units and objects produced conveyed and interpreted meaning The new power container of the five independent states of Kazakhstan Kyrgyzstan Tajikistan Turkmenistan and Uzbekistan would significantly influence this process of signification Post Soviet Central Asia is an intriguing field to examine this transformation a region which did not see an organised independence movement develop prior to Soviet implosion at the centre it provokes questions about how symbolisation begins in the absence of a national will to do so The transformation overnight of Soviet republic into sovereign state provokes questions about how the process of communism turned nationalism could become symbolised and what specific role symbols came to play in these early years of independence Characterized by authoritarianism since 1991 the region s ruling elites have enjoyed disproportionate access to knowledge and to deciding what how and when that knowledge should be applied The first of its kind on Central Asia this book not only widens our understandings of developments in this geopolitically important region but also contributes to broader studies of representation ritual power and identity This book was published as a special issue of Europe Asia Studies
