Loyalism and the Formation of the British World Allan Blackstock, Frank O'Gorman, 2014 Explores loyalism as a social and political force in eighteenth and nineteenth century British colonies and former colonies Loyalism in Britain and Ireland which was once seen as a crude reaction against radicalism or nationalism stimulated by the elite and blindly followed by plebeians has recently been shown by historians to have been on the contrary a politically multi faceted socially enabling phenomenon which did much to shape identity in the British Isles This book takes further this revised picture by considering loyalism in the wider British World It considers the overall nature of loyalism exploring its development in England Ireland and Scotland and goes on to examine its manifestation in a range of British colonies and former colonies including the United States Canada India Australia and New Zealand It shows that whilst eighteenth century Anglo centric loyalism had a core of common ideological assumptions associational structures and ritual behaviour loyalism manifested itself differently in different territories This divergence is explored through a discussion of the role of loyal associations and military institutions loyalism's cultural and ritual dimensions and its key role in the formation of political identities

Chronologically the book covers a pivotal period comprehending the American and French Revolutions the 1798 Irish rebellion and Irish Union the Canadian rebellions of 1837 and Fenianism and Home Rule campaigns throughout the British World Allan Blackstock is Reader in History at the University of Ulster and author of Loyalism in Ireland 1789-1829 Boydell 2007 Frank O'Gorman was Professor of History at the University of Manchester Contributors Allan Blackstock Richard P Davis Oliver Godsmark William Gould Jacqueline Hill Andrew R Holmes Kyle Hughes Mark G McGowan Donald M MacRaild Keith Mason Patrick Maume Katrina Navickas Frank O'Gorman Brad Patterson Scott W See Imperial Culture in Antipodean Cities, 1880-1939 J. The Russians and Australia Glynn Barratt, 2011-11-01 Known for his pioneering work on Russia s early exploits in Australia and the Pacific historian Glynn Barratt again breaks new ground in presenting the first comprehensive study of Russian naval social mercantile and scientific enterprise in New South Wales between 1807 and 1835 Through Tsar Peter the Great s Dutch contacts Russia was aware quite early of the existence of New Holland and a number of unsuccessful attempts were made to reach what is now Australia Following a description of these efforts Barratt focuses on the seventeen visits that Russian ships made to Australian ports on voyages from the Baltic carrying supplies for the settlements in Kamchatka and Alaska As a result of the good will generated by the Anglo Russian alliance against Napoleonic France relations between the British colonists and the Russian seamen were extremely cordial While visiting Australia Russian naval officers pursued a range of scientific activities including botany zoology ethnography and mineralogy and collected specimens and artefacts They also studied the British penal system and filled journals with detailed observations Available in Russian archives and museums and examined there by Barratt the journals and collections which until now have largely remained unexplored by historians reveal the high level of skill and education of these early visitors to Australia This is the first of four books in a series entitled Russia and the South Pacific 1696 1840
