PREFACE THESE letters of Lady Mary Wortley Montagu are selected from the edition of W Moy Thomas which is based on Lord Wharncliffe s edition of 1837 printed mainly from the original letters In selecting the editor has had in view first the literary attractiveness of the letters secondly the light they throw on Lady Mary s personality thirdly their value as free hand pictures of the time Comments and notes of the previous editors Mr Thomas or Lord Wharncliffe may be distinguished by their initials It is needless to say that no pretensions to scholarship are made by this little volume I have sometimes found it necessary to omit portions of letters but I have not presumed to chasten Lady Mary s style any more than I have ventured to alter her eighteenth century grammar O T September 1890 DEDICATORY LETTER TO LADY MARY WORTLEY MONTAGU Madam I am aware that I must employ an even more uncertain vehicle to reach you than the posts of which you so continually and vehemently complained Nevertheless nothing better offering I venture this approach to your ladyship I shall use a freedom allowable only to a shade and quite indefensible to a lady of quality but then you have been a shade so much longer than you were a lady of quality You died in 1762 full a hundred and twenty eight years ago excuse my vulgar agility in arithmetic at the age of seventy three A wonderful seventy three years they were does one consider them Whatever this world has to offer Lady Mary has been yours You were a duke s daughter your husband was an ambassador you lived in palaces though I protest the palaces of the eighteenth century to be vastly uncomfortable you were beautiful and gifted and celebrated Kneller p Letters and Works Lady Mary Wortley Montagu, James Archibald Stuart-Wort
