Selected Poems 1947198:

Civic Jazz Gregory Clark, 2015-02-25 Jazz is born of collaboration improvisation and listening In much the same way the American democratic experience is rooted in the interaction of individuals It is these two seemingly disparate but ultimately thoroughly American conceits that Gregory Clark examines in Civic Jazz Melding Kenneth Burke s concept of rhetorical communication and jazz music s aesthetic encounters with a rigorous sort of democracy this book weaves an innovative argument about how individuals can preserve and improve civic life in a democratic culture Jazz music Clark argues demonstrates how this aesthetic rhetoric of identification can bind people together through their shared experience in a common project While such shared experience does not demand agreement indeed it often has an air of competition it does align people in practical effort and purpose Similarly Clark shows Burke considered Americans inhabitants of a persistently rhetorical situation in which each must choose constantly to identify with some and separate from others Thought provoking and path breaking Clark s harmonic mashup of music and rhetoric will appeal to scholars across disciplines as diverse as political science performance studies musicology and literary criticism
