Disputed Ground Robin Hyde, Gillian Boddy, Jacqueline D. Matthews, 1991 This book brings together for the first time the best of Hyde's journalism. Alongside extracts from the now out of print Journal 1934 are previously uncollected articles and reviews from newspapers and magazines ranging in subject matter from the Treaty of Waitangi to the Spanish Civil War from China in the thirties to the Queen Street Riots. These detailed and vivid accounts of aspects of New Zealand society and the international situation have an urgency which makes them relevant to us all. The biographical introduction offers a fuller picture than we have had of this remarkable writer drawing on interviews, letters and the work itself. In this comparative study, Zhang Longxi investigates the metaphorical nature of poetic language, highlighting the central figures of reality and meaning in both Eastern and Western thought: the Tao and the Logos. The author develops a powerful cross-cultural and interdisciplinary hermeneutic analysis that relates individual works of literature not only to their respective cultures but to a combined worldview where East meets West. Zhang's book brings together philosophy and literature theory and practical criticism, the Western and the non-Western, in defining common ground on which East and West may come to a mutual understanding. He provides commentary on the rich traditions of poetry and poetics in ancient China, equally illuminating are Zhang's astute analyses of Western poets such as Rilke, Shakespeare and Mallarmé and his critical engagement with the work of Foucault, Derrida and de Man among others. Wide-ranging and learned, this definitive work in East-West comparative

Wasserstein, 2009-02-12 The twentieth century in Europe witnessed some of the most brutish episodes in history Yet it also saw incontestable improvements in the conditions of existence for most inhabitants of the continent from rising living standards and dramatically increased life expectancy to the virtual elimination of illiteracy and the advance of women ethnic minorities and homosexuals to greater equality of respect and opportunity It was a century of barbarism and civilization of cruelty and tenderness of technological achievement and environmental spoliation of imperial expansion and withdrawal of authoritarian repression and of individualism resurgent Covering everything from war and politics to social cultural and economic change Barbarism and Civilization is by turns grim humorous surprising and enlightening a window on the century we have left behind and the earliest years of its troubled successor      Theatre with a Purpose Don Watson, 2023-12-28

This study of British amateur theatre in the inter war period examines five different but interwoven examples of the belief common in theatrical and educational circles at the time that amateur drama had a purpose beyond recreation Amateur theatre was at the height of its popularity as a cultural practice between the wars so that by 1939 more British people had practical experience of putting on plays than at any time before or since Providing an original account of the use of drama in adult education projects in deprived areas and of amateur theatre in government funded centres for the unemployed in the 1930s it discusses repertoires participation by working class people and pioneering techniques of play making Amateur drama festivals and competitions were intended to raise standards and educate audiences This book assesses their effect on play making and the use of innovative one act plays to express contentious material as well as looking at the Left Book Club Theatre Guild as an attempt to align the amateur theatre movement with anti fascist and anti war movements A chapter on the Second World War rectifies the neglect of amateur theatre in war time cultural studies arguing that it was present and important in every aspect of war time life Don Watson builds on current scholarship and makes use of archival sources local newspapers unpublished scripts and the records of organizations not usually associated with the theatre His work explores the range and diversity of amateur drama between the wars and the contributions it made to British theatre The Oxford Companion to American Literature James David Hart,1948 REAL Volume 7 (1991) Grabes,1991 Sixteen Modern

Hutchinson,2016-09-08 Modern European literature has traditionally been seen as a series of attempts to assert successive styles of writing as new In this groundbreaking study Ben Hutchinson argues that literary modernity can in fact be understood not as that which is new but as that which is late Exploring the ways in which European literature repeatedly defines itself through a sense of senescence or epigonality Hutchinson shows that the shifting manifestations of lateness since romanticism express modernity's continuing quest for legitimacy With reference to a wide range of authors from Mary Shelley Chateaubriand and Immermann via Baudelaire Henry James and Nietzsche to Valery Djuna Barnes and Adorno he combines close readings of canonical texts with historical and theoretical comparisons of numerous national contexts Out of this broad comparative sweep emerges a taxonomy of lateness of the diverse ways in which modern writers can be understood in the words of Nietzsche as creatures facing backwards Ambitious and original Lateness and Modern European Literature offers a significant new model for understanding literary modernity Handbook of Latin American Studies ,1944 Contains scholarly evaluations of books and book chapters as well as conference papers and articles published worldwide in the field of Latin American studies Covers social sciences and the humanities in alternate years Louise Bogan Elizabeth Frank,1986 Frank profiles Bogan an influential woman of letters poet and critic during the early twentieth century

Censorship Derek Jones,2001-12-01 First published in 2002 Routledge is an imprint of Taylor Francis an informal company Handbook of British Literature and Culture of the First World War Ralf Schneider,Jane Potter,2021-09-20 The First World War has given rise to a multifaceted cultural production like no other historical event This handbook surveys British literature and film about the war from 1914 until today The continuing interest in World War I highlights the interdependence of war experience the imaginative re creation of that experience in writing and individual as well as collective memory In the first part of the handbook the major genres of war writing and film are addressed including of course poetry and the novel but also the short story furthermore it is shown how our conception of the Great War is broadened when looked at from the perspective of gender studies and post colonial criticism The chapters in the second part present close readings of important contributions to the literary and filmic representation of World War I in Great Britain All in all the contributions demonstrate how the opposing forces of focusing and canon formation on the one hand and broadening and revision of the canon on the other have characterised British literature and culture of the First World War
