Selected Poems Of Elizabeth Brewster 7:

Wider Boundaries of Daring Di Brandt, Barbara Godard, 2011-09-08 Wider Boundaries of Daring The Modernist Impulse in Canadian Women's Poetry announces a bold revision of the genealogy of Canadian literary modernism by foregrounding the originary and exemplary contribution of women poets critics cultural activists and experimental prose writers Dorothy Livesay P K Page Miriam Waddington Phyllis Webb Elizabeth Brewster Jay Macpherson Anne Wilkinson Anne Marriott and Elizabeth Smart In the introduction editor Di Brandt champions particularly the achievements of Livesay Page and Webb in setting the visionary parameters of Canadian and international literary modernism The writers profiled in Wider Boundaries of Daring are the real founders of Canadian modernism the contributors of this volume argue both for their innovative aesthetic and literary experiments and for their extensive cultural activism They founded literary magazines and writers groups wrote newspaper columns and created a new forum for intellectual debate on public radio At the same time they led busy lives as wives and mothers social workers and teachers editors and critics and competed successfully with their male contemporaries in the public arena in an era when women were not generally encouraged to hold professional positions or pursue public careers The acknowledgement of these writers formidable contribution to the development of modernism in Canada and along with it wider boundaries of daring for women and other people previously disadvantaged by racial ethnic or religious identifications has profound implications for the way we read and understand Canadian literary and cultural history and for the shape of both national and international modernisms

Sharing the Past J.A. Weingarten, 2019-09-05 Sharing the Past is an unprecedentedly detailed account of the intertwining discourses of Canadian history and creative literature When social history emerged as its own field of study in the 1960s it promised new stories that would bring readers away from the elite writing of academics and closer to the everyday experiences of people Yet the academy's continued emphasis on professional distance and objectivity made it difficult for historians to connect with the experiences of those about whom they wrote and those same emphases made it all but impossible for non academic experts to be institutionally recognized as historians Drawing on interviews and new archival materials to construct a history of Canadian poetry written since 1960 Sharing the Past argues that the project of social history has achieved its fullest expression in lyric poetry a genre in which personal experiences anchor history Developing this genre since 1960 Canadian poets have provided an inclusive model for a truly social history that indiscriminately shares the right to speak authoritatively of the past

Canadian Literature Index, 1991 Canadian Literature in English W. J. Keith, 2006 W J Keith has chosen to ignore utterly both the popular at the one extreme Robert Service Lucy Maud Montgomery as well as the avant garde at the other bpnichol Anne Carson in favour of those authors whose style lends itself to the simple pleasure of reading and to that end Keith dedicates his history to all those including those of the general reading public whose endangered status is much lamented who recognize and celebrate the dance of words

Journal of Canadian Poetry, 1995 Alan Crawley and Contemporary

Verse Joan McCullagh, 2011-11-01 Little magazines like Alan Crawley's Contemporary Verse are the life blood of literary culture. They provide an ongoing forum in which both well established and new poets can experiment and present their latest work and it is often with the little magazines therefore that literary change and originality have their beginnings. Today there is no shortage of such outlets in Canada. But in 1941 when Alan Crawley began to publish Contemporary Verse in North Vancouver there were only two in the whole country. Both of these Canadian Poetry Magazine and Canadian Forum were in the East and neither was in any way committed to modernism. Contemporary Verse thus became a major element in the foundations of modern Canadian poetry. In this book Joan McCullagh shows how between 1941 and 1952 the magazine charted the establishment of modernism in Canadian poetry by publishing even before 1947 the largest most impressive and most representative collection of early forties poetry in the country. Her extensive quotation from the hitherto unpublished correspondence between Crawley and nearly every major poet of the forties also shows how important and valued a literary influence Crawley himself was as a critic and advisor behind the scenes. Daryl Hine and Jay Macpherson are only two of the poets who were first encouraged and guided by Alan Crawley's private criticism of work they sent him and then first published in Contemporary Verse. Other poets with whom he corresponded at length and whose poetry he published including P. K. Page, James Reaney, Louis Dudek, Raymond Souster, Dorothy Livesay, Anne Wilkinson and Earle Birney. Very few libraries even in Canada hold a complete set of the 39 issues of Contemporary Verse. The index to the magazine that Joan McCullagh has compiled and included here will therefore serve not only as a guide to Contemporary Verse itself but also as an indispensable publishing record of many Canadian poets during the 1940s. Canadiana, 1986 The Oxford

Handbook of Canadian Literature Cynthia Sugars, 2015-12-01 The Oxford Handbook of Canadian Literature provides a broad ranging introduction to some of the key critical fields, genres and periods in Canadian literary studies. The essays in this volume, written by prominent theorists in the field, reflect the plurality of critical perspectives, regional and historical specializations and theoretical positions that constitute the field of Canadian literary criticism across a range of genres and historical periods. The volume provides a dynamic introduction to current areas of critical interest including 1 attention to the links between the literary and the public sphere encompassing such topics as neoliberalism, trauma and memory, citizenship, material culture, literary prizes, disability studies, literature and history, digital cultures, globalization studies and environmentalism or ecocriticism 2 interest in Indigenous literatures and settler-Indigenous relations 3 attention to multiple diasporic and postcolonial contexts within Canada 4 interest in the institutionalization of Canadian literature as a discipline 5 a turn towards book history and literary history with a renewed interest in early Canadian literature 6 a growing interest in articulating the affective character of the literary including an interest in affect theory, mourning, melancholy, haunting, memory and autobiography. The book represents a diverse array of interests from the revival of early Canadian writing to the continued interest in Indigenous, regional and diasporic traditions to more recent discussions of globalization, market forces and neoliberalism It includes a distinct section dedicated to Indigenous literatures and traditions as well as a section that reflects on the discipline of Canadian literature as a whole Aestheticism and the Canadian Modernists Brian Trehearne,1989 Using a wide range of scholarly evidence to support his argument that most poets of the first Canadian Modernist generation were strongly influenced by the ideas and practice of literary Aestheticism Brian Trehearne provides new readings of Canadian poets such as Robert Finch John Glassco W W E Ross A J M Smith and F R Scott *On F.R.
