Selection and Evaluation of Advanced Manufacturing Technologies Matthew J. Liberatore, 2012-12-06 Matthew J. Liberatore Department of Management Villanova University Villanova PA 19085 1 BACKGROUND The weakening competitive position of many segments of u s manufacturing has been analyzed debated and discussed in corporate boardrooms academic journals and the popular literature One result has been a renewed commitment toward improving productivity and quality in the workplace The drive to reduce manufacturing related costs while meeting ever changing customer needs has led many firms to consider more automated and flexible manufacturing systems The extent to which these new technologies can support business goals in productivity quality and flexibility is an especially important issue for manufacturing firms in the u s and other Western nations Problems have arisen in developing performance measures and evaluation criteria which reflect the full range of costs and benefits associated with these technologies Some would argue that managerial policies and attitudes and not the shortcomings of the equipment or manufacturing processes are the major impediments to implementation Kaplan 1984 Technology Assessment Tugrul U. Daim, 2011 Understanding the technology dynamics is a required capability in today s technology driven industries This volume focuses on three areas technology assessment technology forecasting and technology diffusion It shows an introduction to different types of assessment methods and applications from different sectors including energy healthcare and communications technology forecasting and foresight and a review of conventional and emerging methods and the diffusion of technologies by exploring adoption of products and services from different sectors Back cover A Method for Federal Energy Research Planning, 1995

Preacquisition Technology Development National Research Council, Division on Engineering and Physical Sciences, Air Force Studies Board, Committee on Evaluation of U.S. Air Force Preacquisition Technology Development, 2011-03-01 From the days of biplanes and open cockpits, the air forces of the United States have relied on the mastery of technology. From design to operation, a project can stretch to 20 years and more with continuous increases in cost. Much of the delay and cost growth afflicting modern United States Air Force USAF programs is rooted in the incorporation of advanced technology into major systems acquisition. Leaders in the Air Force responsible for science and technology and acquisition are trying to determine the optimal way to utilize existing policies, processes and resources to properly document and execute pre program of record technology development efforts including opportunities to facilitate the rapid acquisition of revolutionary capabilities and the more deliberate acquisition of evolutionary capabilities. Evaluation of U S Air Force Preacquisition Technology Development responds to this need with an examination of the current state of Air Force technology development and the environment in which technology is acquired. The book considers best practices from both government and industry to distill appropriate recommendations that can be implemented within the USAF. AIAA 86-1550 - AIAA 86-1599, 1986
