

SELF-RENEWAL

The Individual and the Innovative Society

John W. Gardner

"John Gardner is the most perceptive living observer of American society. In warm, hard-hitting wisdom, he defends the major principles and rules by which individuals renew themselves and develop their own creativity."

—Adolf A. Berle

"Gardner's book is not a 'how-to-do-it' book for the conduct of modern society. It is something rarer these days and more basic: a 'why-to-do-it' book. Its impact on many readers is bound to be challenging and stimulating and even inspirational."

—Clark Kerr, Science

"Self-renewal is contagious, just as decay is contagious, and Gardner's book may stimulate some of his readers to reconsider their comfortable pessimisms."

—David Reisman, Virginia Quarterly

"This is the most exciting and significant book that I have read in years. The subject is the self-renewal of societies and of individuals—why do some atrophy and decay, while others remain innovative and creative? There is no more vital problem than this, especially for an era of constantly accelerating change such as the present."

John Gardner's extraordinary career has included service as a marine officer, a cabinet secretary, and founder of Common Cause.

Self Renewal The Individual:

Self-Renewal John W. Gardner, 2018-02-27 The only stability possible is stability in motion John William Gardner In his classic treatise Self Renewal John W Gardner examines why great societies thrive and die He argues that it is dynamism not decay that is dramatically altering the landscape of American society The twentieth century has brought about change more rapidly than any previous era and with that came advancements challenges and often destruction Gardner cautions that a society must court the kinds of change that will enrich and strengthen it rather than the kind of change that will fragment and destroy it A society's ability to renew itself hinges upon its individuals Gardner reasons that it is the waning of the heart and spirit not a lack of material might that threatens American society Young countries businesses and humans have several key commonalities they are flexible eager open curious unafraid and willing to take risks These conditions lead to success However as time passes so too comes complacency apathy and rigidity causing motivation to plummet It is at this junction that great civilizations fall businesses go bankrupt and life stagnates Gardner asserts that the individual's role in social renewal requires each person to face and look beyond imminent threats Ultimately we need a vision that there is something worth saving Through this vision Gardner argues society will begin to renew itself not permanently but past its average lifespan and it will at once become enriched and rejuvenated

Designing Learning and Development for Return on Investment Carrie Foster,2017-02-08 Learning practitioners have for too long been struggling to shift the perception of learning and development from a function that is a cost to the organization to that of a function that is central to delivering value added activities for the organization The ability to deliver a return on investment is not about investing in good evaluation mechanisms although this is important It is imperative that the learning practitioner owns the numbers and works with financial metrics in order to bid for adequate resources and support the organization s strategic ambitions This book offers a brief overview of both a theoretical and a practical framework The theoretical underpinning provides an examination of how the theories and research about human and group dynamic processes and self renewal can be utilized in intervention design The emphasis is on the self renewal ability of the individual and the facilitation of the movement of groups to improve the health and effectiveness of organizations in a sustainable way Aging of the Organs and Systems Richard Aspinall,2013-06-29 During the last 40 years the study of the biological basis of aging has progressed tremendously and it has now become an independent and respectable field of study and research This volume on Aging of Organs and Systems is an attempt to bring understanding to both the aging process and the disease processes of old age Bringing together contributions from an international team of authors it will be of interest to graduates and postgraduates in the fields of medicine and nursing researchers of different aspects of biogerontology and those in the pharmaceutical cosmeceutical nutraceutical and health care industry

Hematopoietic Stem Cell Biology Motonari Kondo,2009-12-04 In the summer of 1988 my developmental biology professor announced to the class that hematopoietic stem cells HSCs had finally been purified Somehow I never forgot the professor s words When I started working in Dr Irv Weissman s laboratory at Stanford as a postdoctoral fellow I realized that the findings mentioned by the professor were from Weissman s laboratory and had been published in a 1988 edition of the journal Science It has been over 20 years since the publication of that seminal paper and since then tremendous advances in understanding the biology and maturation of HSCs namely the process of hematopoiesis which includes lymphocyte development have been made These discoveries were made possible in part by advancements in technology For example recent availability of user friendly fluorescence activated cell sorting FACS machines and monoclonal antibodies with a variety of fluorescent labels has allowed more scientists to sort and analyze rare populations in the bone marrow such as HSCs All classes of hematopoietic cells are derived from HSCs Stem cell biology draws enormous attention not only from scientists but also from ordinary people because of the tremendous potential for development of new therapeutic application to diseases that currently lack any type of effective therapy Thus this type of regenerative medicine is a relatively new and attractive field in both basic science and clinical medicine Learning Disabilities Suzanne Gage Brainard,1975
