Selfreferentiality In Twentieth Century British And American Poetry:

Self-referentiality in 20th Century British and American Poetry Detlev Gohrbandt, Bruno von Lutz, 1996 20th century literature has often been described as highly self referential This volume explores different concepts of self referentiality through discussions of the works of Charles Tomlinson John Berryman W S Graham Seamus Heaney and black poetry These explorations are framed by a survey of critical approaches to self referentiality and an analysis of normative ideas in self referential British and American poetry

Theory into Poetry

,2022-05-20 At the beginning of the 21st century there is still no generally accepted comprehensive definition of the lyric or differentiated modern toolkit for its analysis The reception of poetry is largely characterised either by an empathetic identification of critics with the lyric persona or by exclusive interest in formal patterning The present volume seeks to remedy this deficit All the contributors theorise the lyric to overcome the impasse of an impressionistic and narrowly formalistic critical debate on the genre Their papers focus on a variety of different questions the problem of establishing a framework for definition and classification the search for dynamic and potent critical approaches investigations of poetry s cultural performance and its fundamental relevance for the construction of group cohesion The essays collected in this volume offer a consciously polyphonic range of theories and interpretations suggesting to the reader a variety of theoretical frameworks and practical illustrations of how a discussion of poetry may be firmly grounded in modern literary theory

Horace Randall L. B. McNeill, 2003-04-01 Traditional views of Horace seek to present the poet as a consistent vivid personality who stands behind and orchestrates the diverse Horatian writings that have come down to us In recent years

however an alternate tradition suggests that there may be many Horaces that his work is more productively read as the constant invention of rhetorical techniques sensitively attuned to the requirements of different situations and audiences As Randall L B McNeill argues any sense that readers have of the real Horace is clearly deceptive Horace offers us no unguarded self portrait but rather a number of consciously developed characterizations to suit diverse audiences whether patron peers or the public Horace Image Identity and Audience provides a wide ranging analysis of Horace s use of self presentation in his poetry in his portrayal of his relationships with his patron Maecenas and with his larger readership as a whole in his discussion of the craft of poetry and his own identity as a poet and in his handling of contemporary Roman political events in the light of his assumed role as critic of his own society McNeill uncovers the techniques Horace uses to depict the intricacies of his personal existence in the book s conclusion he explores how similar techniques were adapted by later poets such as Ovid This volume will interest scholars of Horace Latin poetry rhetoric as well as those interested in the cultural studies aspect of persona and identity

Seeing and Saying Detlev Gohrbandt, Bruno von Lutz, 1998 The perception of the world and the illusionary attempts at re presenting it have been a long standing concern of self referential writing Seeing and Saying the follow up volume to Self Referentiality in 20th Century British and American Poetry presents a range of essays dealing with the awareness in literature of the perceptual and representational hazard of saying the world of experience sight and memory The writers discussed range from the Renaissance to Post Modernism from Lady Mary Wroth to John Fowles

A History of Twentieth-Century British Women's Poetry Jane Dowson, Alice Entwistle, 2005-05-19

Publisher Description Transcultural English Studies Frank Schulze-Engler, Sissy Helff, 2009 What is most strikingly new about the transcultural is its sudden ubiquity Following in the wake of previous concepts in cultural and literary studies such as creolization hybridity and syncretism and signalling a family relationship to terms such as transnationality translocality and transmigration transcultural terminology has unobtrusively but powerfully edged its way into contemporary theoretical and critical discourse The four sections of this volume denote major areas where transcultural questions and problematics have come to the fore theories of culture and literature that have sought to account for the complexity of culture in a world increasingly characterized by globalization transnationalization and interdependence realities of individual and collective life worlds shaped by the ubiquity of phenomena and experiences relating to transnational connections and the blurring of cultural boundaries fictions in literature and other media that explore these realities negotiate the fuzzy edges of ethnic or national cultures and participate in the creation of transnational public spheres as well as transcultural imaginations and memories and finally pedagogy and didactics where earlier models of teaching other cultures are faced with the challenge of coming to terms with cultural complexity both in what is being taught and in the people it is taught to and where target cultures have become elusive The idea of locating culture and literature exclusively in the context of ethnicities or nations is rapidly losing plausibility throughout an English speaking world that has long since been multi rather than monolingual Exploring the prospects and contours of Transcultural English Studies thus reflects a set of common challenges and predicaments that in recent years have increasingly moved centre stage not only in the New Literatures in English but also in British and American studies

Romantic Presences in the Twentieth Century

Mark Sandy, 2016-04-08 Concerned with the intermingled thematic and formal preoccupations of Romantic thought and literary practice in works by twentieth century British Irish and American artists this collection examines the complicated legacy of Romanticism in twentieth century novels poetry and film Even as key twentieth century cultural movements have tried to subvert or debunk Romantic narratives of redemptive nature individualism perfectibility and the transcendence of art the forms and modes of feeling associated with the Romantic period continue to exert a signal influence on the modern moment both as a source of tension and as creative stimulus As the essays here show the exact meaning of the Romantic bequest may be bitterly contested but it has been difficult to leave behind The contributors take up a wide range of authors including Virginia Woolf F Scott Fitzgerald W H Auden Doris Lessing Seamus Heaney Hart Crane William Faulkner Don DeLillo and Jonathan Franzen What emerges from this lively volume is a fuller picture of the persistence and variety of the Romantic period's influence on the twentieth century

Teaching Environmental Writing

Isabel Galley, 2020-05-14 Environmental writing is an increasingly popular literary genre and a multifaceted genre at that Recently dominated by works of new nature writing environmental writing includes works of poetry and fiction about the world around us In the last two decades universities have begun to offer environmental writing modules and courses with the intention of teaching students skills in the field of writing inspired by the natural world This book asks how students are being guided into writing about environments Informed by independently conducted interviews with educators and a review of existing pedagogical guides it explores recurring instructions given to students for writing about the environment and compares these pedagogical approaches to the current theory and practice of ecocriticism by scholars such as Ursula Heise and Timothy Morton Proposing a set of original pedagogical exercises influenced by ecocriticism the book draws on a number of self reflexive environmentally conscious poets including Juliana Spahr Jorie Graham and Les Murray as creative and stimulating models for teachers and students

Media: Theory and Case Studies, 2009-01-01 Strange as it may seem Cervantes's novel Don Quixote Marc Forster's film Stranger than Fiction Shakespeare's play A Midsummer Night's Dream Pere Borrell del Caso's painting Escaping Criticism reproduced on the cover of the present volume and Mozart's sextet A Musical Joke all share one common feature they include a meta dimension Metaization the movement from a first cognitive referential or communicative level to a higher one on which first level phenomena self reflexively become objects of reflection reference and communication in their own right is in fact a common feature not only of human thought and language but also of the arts and media in general However research into this issue has so far predominantly focussed on literature where a highly differentiated albeit strictly monomedial critical toolbox exists Metareference across Media remedies this onesidedness and closes the gap between literature and other media by providing a transmedial framework for analysing metaphenomena The essays transcend the current notion of metafiction pinpoint examples of metareference in hitherto neglected areas discuss the capacity for metaization of individual media or genres from a media comparative perspective and explore major historical forms and functions as well aspects of the development of metaization in cultural history Stemming from diverse disciplinary and methodological backgrounds the contributors propose new and refined concepts and models and cover a broad range of media including fiction drama poetry comics photography film computer games classical as well as popular music painting and architecture This collection of essays which also contains a detailed theoretical introduction will be relevant to students and scholars from a wide variety of fields intermediality studies semiotics literary theory and criticism musicology art history and film studies

A Companion to Twentieth-Century Poetry Neil Roberts, 2008-06-09 In the twentieth century more people spoke English and more people wrote poetry than in the whole of previous history and this Companion strives to make sense of this crowded poetical era The original contributions by leading international scholars and practising poets were written as the contributors adjusted to the idea that the possibilities of twentieth century poetry were exhausted and finite However the volume also looks forward to the poetry and readings that the new century will bring The Companion embraces the extraordinary development of poetry over the century in twenty English speaking countries a century which began with a bipolar transatlantic connection in modernism and ended with the decentred heterogeneity of post colonialism Representation of the canonical and the marginal is therefore balanced including the full integration of women poets and feminist approaches and the in depth treatment of post colonial poets from various national traditions Discussion of context intertextualities and formal approaches illustrates the increasing self consciousness and self reflexivity of the period whilst a Readings section offers new readings of key selected texts The volume as a whole offers critical and contextual coverage of the full range of English language poetry in the last century

Twentieth-Century Poetry, 1929 Six French Poets of Our Time Robert W. Greene, 2015-03-08 During the last sixty to seventy years avant garde poetry in France has evolved in two directions one toward poetry conceived as a means to an end the other toward poetry as an end in itself Focusing on Pierre Reverdy Francis Ponge Ren Char Andr du Bouchet Jacques Dupin and Marcelin Pleynet as the modern French poets who most faithfully reflect these directions Robert Greene's chronological study allows us to follow the two pronged evolution of French poetry since 1910 Situating his argument in a detailed historical context and basing it on comparisons with artistic movements and the poets own writings on art and on extended analyses of selected representative poems the author is able to establish a new intellectual historical perspective on contemporary poetry Professor Greene finds that whereas Reverdy Char du Bouchet and Dupin all embrace a conception of poetry as quest as a search for the absolute as the Way of beauty or truth Ponge and Pleynet hold to a view of poetry as jeu as a celebration of the relative as the play and display of language in action What knits them together he concludes is the way in which each poet sums up his era as a stage in the development of twentieth century French poetry Originally published in 1979 The Princeton Legacy Library uses the latest print on demand technology to again make available previously out of print books from the distinguished backlist of Princeton University Press These editions preserve the original texts of these important books while presenting them in durable paperback and hardcover editions The goal of the Princeton Legacy Library is to vastly increase access to the rich scholarly heritage found in the thousands of books published by Princeton University Press since its founding in 1905 Twentieth-Century and Contemporary American Literature in Context Linda De Roche, 2021-06-04 This four volume reference work surveys American literature from the early 20th century to the present day featuring a diverse range of American works and authors and an expansive selection of primary source materials Bringing useful and engaging material into the classroom this four volume set covers more than a century of
