The Ivory Tower of Babel David Demers, 2011 Mainstream social science has come under fierce criticism in recent decades for failing to have more impact on public policy Critics say the social sciences are incapable of generating knowledge that can solve social problems Others contend that partisan politics and university administrations are the problem Politicians are more concerned about special interests than scientific research and administrators care more about scholarly publications than solving social problems Are the social sciences failing to live up to their promises Have they outlived their usefulness Have they become an Ivory Tower of Babel Like the Babylonians who built the infamous Tower of Babel social scientists for the past two centuries have been building a tower of sorts only this time it's composed of knowledge rather than bricks The primary goal of these scholars anthropologists communication scholars economists political scientists sociologists and social psychologists has been to solve problems of social integration The Babylonian tower was designed in part to unite people to one geographical area Similarly social scientists see their tower of knowledge as a means for solving social problems such as poverty crime drug abuse inequality unemployment abuse of power that alienate people and groups from modern society The Babylonians failed because of divine intervention according to the Bible The social scientists aren't finished building their tower But according to critics the results so far look less like a tower of knowledge for solving social problems than an Ivory Tower of Babel one in which social scientists routinely dispute each other's theories and data and even uncontested or well supported findings rarely influence public policy Disputes over the nature of truth and knowledge are so commonplace in the social sciences that many scholars believe a social science which uses methods from the natural sciences is incapable of generating knowledge that can solve social problems This book examines the history and philosophy of the social sciences and theoretical and empirical research on the impact of social science Suggestions are offered at the end for enhancing the impact of the social sciences A number of scientific articles and books have been written about the impact or lack thereof of the social sciences on public policy but none has been written specifically to appeal to both academics and a broader market composed of the general public and students in both undergraduate and graduate level courses The author takes the reader on a journey inside one of the best kept secrets in higher education that much if not most of the research conducted in the social sciences has very little impact on public policy or on solving social problems Are taxpayers getting their money's worth

Informationweek, 1997 Dads and Daughters Joe Kelly, 2002-06-18 Every father can make a huge difference in his daughter's life As the primary male role model in a girl's life fathers influence their daughters in profound ways from how they see themselves to what they come to expect from men and the world at large But men often don't realize the importance of their interactions or may shy away from too close involvement because of their inexperience or conditioning Especially as girls move into adolescence fathers may find themselves feeling distant from their daughters or awkward with the changing dynamic Communication becomes difficult and parenting issues more complicated But this is also the time when daughters most need their fathers to be an even greater presence in their lives Dads and Daughters is a tool to bridge that gap and build a rewarding and joyful father daughter relationship From father to father and with insights from many other dads Joe Kelly shows men how they can strengthen their relationships with their daughters and explores the tremendous rewards this relationship can bring Starting with a self assessment quiz titled How Am I Doing as My Daughter's Father dads can immediately see what kind of role they play in their daughter's life To educate fathers and offer solutions when problems arise Dads and Daughters then offers thoughtful coverage of the most pivotal issues today's girls face such as sex and dating body image alcohol and drugs media culture and violence money and responsibility and the future In doing so he both illuminates the culture our daughters live in and shows fathers how to guide their daughters toward rewarding healthy lives

The Institutions of American Democracy Susan Fuhrman, Marvin Lazerson, 2005-05-26 From curriculum standards and testing to school choice and civic learning issues in American education are some of the most debated in the United States. The Institutions of American Democracy a collection of essays by the nation's leading education scholars and professionals is designed to inform the debate and stimulate change. In association with the Annenberg Foundation Trust at Sunnylands and the Annenberg Public Policy Center at the University of Pennsylvania, The Institutions of American Democracy is the first in a series of books commissioned to enhance public understanding of the nature and function of democratic institutions. A national advisory board including among others Nancy Kassebaum Baker, David Boren, John Brademas, Ellen Condliffe Lagemann, David Gergen, and Lee Hamilton will guide the vision of the project which includes future volumes on the press and the three branches of government. Each essay in The Institutions of American Democracy addresses essential questions for policymakers, educators, and anyone committed to public education: What role should public education play in a democracy? How has that role changed through American history? Have the schools lost sight of their responsibility to teach civics and citizenship? How are current debates about education shaping the future of this democratic institution? Among the contributors are William Galston, Director of the Institute for Philosophy and Public Policy at the University of Maryland; Clarence Stone, Professor in the Department of Government and Politics at the University of Maryland College Park and editor of Changing Urban Education and Regime Politics; Governing Atlanta, 1946-1988; University Press of Kansas, 1998; Susan Moore Johnson, Pforzheimer Professor of Education in Learning and Teaching, Harvard University; Michael Johanek, Executive Director of K-12 Professional Development, College Board; Kathy Simon, co-executive director of the Coalition for Essential Schools and author of Moral Questions in the Classroom, Yale University Press, 2001; and Jennifer Hochschild, Professor of Government and Professor of Afro American Studies at Harvard University and author of Facing Up to the American Dream, Race Class and the Soul of the Nation, Princeton University Press, 1995. Doing Recent History Claire Bond Potter, Renee Christine Romano, 2012 Explores the difficulties of writing histories of recent events due to the lack of perspective, hindsight, and developed historiography.
