Selling Art In Georgian London The Rise Of Arthur Pond:

Selling Art in Georgian London Louise Lippincott, 1983-01-01 London and the Emergence of a European Art Market, 1780-1820 Susanna Avery-Quash, Christian Huemer, 2019-08-06 Showcasing diverse methodologies this volume illuminates London's central role in the development of a European art market at the turn of the nineteenth century. In the late 1700s as the events of the French Revolution roiled France, London displaced Paris as the primary hub of international art sales. Within a few decades a robust and sophisticated art market flourished in London. London and the Emergence of a European Art Market 1780-1820 explores the commercial milieu of art sales and collecting at this turning point. In this collection of essays, twenty-two scholars employ methods ranging from traditional art historical and provenance studies to statistical and economic analysis; they provide overviews, case studies, and empirical reevaluations of artists, collectors, patrons, agents, and dealers, institutions, sales, and practices. Drawing from pioneering digital resources, notably the Getty Provenance Index, as well as archival materials such as trade directories, correspondence, stock books, and inventories, auction catalogs, and exhibition reviews, these scholars identify broad trends, reevaluate previous misunderstandings, and consider overlooked commercial contexts. From individual case studies to econometric overviews, this volume is groundbreaking for its diverse methodological range that illuminates artistic taste and flourishing art commerce at the turn of the nineteenth century.

The Consumption of Culture, 1600-1800 Ann Bermingham, John Brewer, 1995 Consumption Of Culture Ann Bermingham, John Brewer, 2013-09-13 Culture does not become culture until it is consumed. This is the radical new interpretation of early modern social history presented in The Consumption of Culture 1600-1800. 21 US and 4 European contributors from a wide range of historically oriented fields—historians of society, politics, ideas, science, literature, and the arts—explore topics such as the formation of a culture-consuming public, the development of a literary canon, the role of consumption in the formation of the modern state, elite and popular forms of cultural consumption, and the place of women as consumers of culture.

The Commerce of Cartography Mary Sponberg Pedley, 2022-06-30 Though the political and intellectual history of mapmaking in the eighteenth century is well established, the details of its commercial revolution have until now been widely scattered. In The Commerce of Cartography, Mary Pedley presents a vivid picture of the costs and profits of the mapmaking industry in England and France and reveals how the economics of map trade affected the content and appearance of the maps themselves. Conceptualizing the relationship between economics and cartography, Pedley traces the process of mapmaking from compilation, production, and marketing to consumption, reception, and criticism. In detailing the rise of commercial cartography, Pedley explores qualitative issues of mapmaking as well. Why, for instance, did eighteenth-century ideals of aesthetics override the modern values of accuracy and detail? And what to an eighteenth-century mind and eye qualified as a good map? A thorough and engaging study of the business of cartography during the Enlightenment, The Commerce of Cartography charts a new cartographic landscape and will prove invaluable to scholars of economic history.

historical geography and the history of publishing Caricature Unmasked Amelia Faye Rauser, 2008 This book is the first to examine the meaning encoded in the very form of caricature and to explain its rise as a consequence of the emergence of modernity especially the modern self BOOK JACKET Pleasure in the Eighteenth Century Marie

Mulvey-Roberts, 1996-10-02 What were the sources of pleasure during the eighteenth century The range of pleasurable activities from the bawdy and perverse to the refined are brought together in this collection of essays which is the first to look at both the philosophy and practice of the pleasure seeking Georgians Experts on the arts of pleasure will luxuriate over Italian opera gastronomic delights the pleasures of Gothic terror seduction and the revellers of the bizarre London clubs

Books and Their Readers in 18th Century England Isabel Rivers, 2003-06-01 This collection of eight new essays investigates ways in which significant kinds of 18th century writings were designed and received by different audiences Rivers explores the answers to certain crucial questions about the contemporary use of books This new edition contains the results of important new research by well known specialists in the field of book and publishing history over the last two decades Female Portraiture and Patronage in Marie Antoinette's Court Sarah Grant, 2018-09-03 This comprehensive book brings to light the portraits private collections and public patronage of the princesse de Lamballe a pivotal member of Marie Antoinette's inner circle Drawing extensively on unpublished archival sources Sarah Grant examines the princess's many portrait commissions and the rich character of her private collections which included works by some of the period's leading artists and artisans The book sheds new light on the agency sorority and taste of Marie Antoinette and her friends a group of female patrons and model of courtly collecting that would be extinguished by the coming revolution Eighteenth-Century Britain, 1688-1783 Jeremy Black, 2008-09-10 Jeremy Black sets the politics of eighteenth century Britain into the fascinating context of social economic cultural religious and scientific developments The second edition of this successful text by a leading authority in the field has now been updated and expanded to incorporate the latest research and scholarship The Power of Objects in Eighteenth-Century British America Jennifer Van Horn, 2017-02-23 Over the course of the eighteenth century Anglo Americans purchased an unprecedented number and array of goods The Power of Objects in Eighteenth Century British America investigates these diverse artifacts from portraits and city views to gravestones dressing furniture and prosthetic devices to explore how elite American consumers assembled objects to form a new civil society on the margins of the British Empire In this interdisciplinary transatlantic study artifacts emerge as key players in the formation of Anglo American communities and eventually of American citizenship Deftly interweaving analysis of images with furniture architecture clothing and literary works Van Horn reconstructs the networks of goods that bound together consumers in Boston New York Philadelphia and Charleston Moving beyond emulation and the desire for social status as the primary motivators for consumption Van Horn shows that Anglo Americans material choices were intimately bound up with their efforts to distance themselves from Native Americans and African Americans She also traces women's contested place in forging provincial culture As encountered through a woman's application of makeup at her dressing table or an amputee's donning of a wooden leg after the Revolutionary War material artifacts were far from passive markers of rank or political identification They made Anglo American society

Dilettanti Bruce Redford, 2008-08-07 Bruce Redford re creates the vibrant culture of connoisseurship in Enlightenment England by investigating the multifaceted activities and achievements of the Society of Dilettanti Elegantly and wittily he dissects the British connoisseurs whose expeditions collections and publications laid the groundwork for the Neoclassical revival and for the scholarly study of Graeco Roman antiquity After the foundation of the society in 1732 the Dilettanti commissioned portraits of the members Including a striking group of mock classical and mock religious representations these portraits were painted by George Knapton Sir Joshua Reynolds and Sir Thomas Lawrence During the second half of the century the society's expeditions to the Levant yielded a series of pioneering architectural folios beginning with the first volume The Antiquities of Athens in 1762 These monumental volumes aspired to empirical exactitude in text and image alike They prepared the way for Specimens of Ancient Sculpture 1809 which combines the didactic detailed investigations into technique condition restoration and provenance with the connoisseurial plates that bring the illustration of ancient sculpture to new artistic heights The Society of Dilettanti's projects and publications exemplify the Enlightenment ideal of the gentleman amateur which is linked in turn to a culture of wide ranging curiosity

Art Markets, Agents and Collectors Adriana Turpin, Susan Bracken, 2021-05-06 Art Markets Agents and Collectors brings together a wide variety of case studies based on letters and detailed archival research which nuance the history of the art market and the role of the collector within it Using diaries account books and other archival sources the contributions to this volume show how agents set up networks and acquired works of art often developing the taste and knowledge of the collectors for whom they were working They are therefore seen as important actors in the market having a specific role that separates them from auctioneers dealers museum curators or amateurs while at the same time acknowledging and analyzing the dual positions that many held Each chronological period is introduced by a contextual essay written by a leading expert in the field which sets out the art market in the period concerned and the ways in which agents functioned This book is an invaluable tool for those needing a broader introduction to the intricate workings of the art market

The Lives of George Frideric Handel David Hunter, 2015 This book aims not only to re examine the life of the great composer Handel but also to explore the very concepts of biography With an introduction bibliography and index Figures Tables

Producing the Past Lucy Peltz, Martin Myrone, 2018-12-20 First published in 1999 this volume examines antiquarianism which had its roots in Renaissance thought and was a popular intellectual and cultural pursuit throughout the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries The antiquarian work of collecting compiling and presenting material which exposed the past was seminal to the formation of social and national identities These essays evaluate the cultural and political implications of antiquarianism in the period 1700 1850 The volume also considers how the antiquarians laid the foundations of later museum culture and the discipline of history With a preface by Stephen Bann and introduced by Martin Myrone and Lucy Peltz Producing the Past has contributions from Stephen Bending Alexandrina Buchanan Susan A Crane David Haycock Maria Grazia Lolla Heather MacLennan Martin Myrone Lucy Peltz Annegret Pelz Sam Smiles and Johann Reusch Living with the Royal Academy Sarah Monks, 2017-07-05 Living with the Royal Academy Artistic Ideals and Experiences in England 1768 1848 offers a range of case studies which consider individual artists personal professional and artistic relationships with the Royal Academy during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries bringing together the research of leading historians of British artistic culture during this period Over its introduction and nine essays this collection considers the Academy as a lived organism whose most effective role following its establishment in 1768 was as a reference point towards around and against which artists operated in their relationships with each other and with artistic practice itself In so doing this collection also considers the relationship between Academic ideals and individual practice as well as lived experience during this period of art s increasingly public manifestation at the Academy Individual artists examined include Joshua Reynolds Joseph Wright of Derby Benjamin West and William Etty Thinking beyond the dichotomy of loyalism and rebellion and complicating notions of the Academy as a monolithic ossifying institution from which progressive artists would be liberated in the wake of the Pre Raphaelite Brotherhood s emergence in 1848 this volume investigates the Academy s varied impact upon the lives experiences and ideals of its diverse artistic communities Painting with Fire Matthew C. Hunter, 2020-03-23 Painting with Fire shows how experiments with chemicals known to change visibly over the course of time transformed British pictorial arts of the long eighteenth century and how they can alter our conceptions of photography today As early as the 1670s experimental philosophers at the Royal Society of London had studied the visual effects of dynamic combustibles By the 1770s chemical volatility became central to the ambitious paintings of Sir Joshua Reynolds premier portraitist and first president of Britain s Royal Academy of Arts Valued by some critics for changing in time and thus for prompting intellectual reflection on the nature of time Reynolds s unstable chemistry also prompted new techniques of chemical replication among Matthew Boulton James Watt and other leading industrialists In turn those replicas of chemically decaying academic paintings were rediscovered in the mid nineteenth century and claimed as origin points in the history of photography Tracing the long arc of chemically produced and reproduced art from the 1670s through the 1860s the book reconsiders early photography by situating it in relationship to Reynolds s replicated paintings and the literal engines of British industry By following the chemicals Painting with Fire remaps familiar stories about academic painting and pictorial experiment amid the industrialization of chemical knowledge Ink and Light Andrew Brink, 2013-09-01 Claude Lorrain 1600 1682 an eminent seventeenth century landscape painter was an equally talented graphic artist Lorrain s etchings match the mastery and execution of his paintings and yet are largely unrecognized by contemporary collectors and art historians Andrew Brink an astute and discriminating art collector amassed an impressive collection of etchings engravings and mezzotints by European master printmakers from the sixteenth century onwards The keystone works in the Brink Collection now housed in Guelph Ontario s Macdonald Stewart Art Centre are by Claude Lorrain In Ink and Light Brink positions Lorrain s prints as seminal to the establishment of seventeenth and eighteenth century aesthetics in England which gave rise to the English pictorialism in art and landscape architecture that would have international influence in the nineteenth and twentieth centuries He discusses the technical and material character of Lorrain s etchings as well as their connection to literature and philosophy in early modern times While Brink s main focus is the impact of the etchings he also looks at paintings and drawings by Lorrain in addition to works made by other artists after Lorrain Featuring forty of Claude Lorrain s etchings from the Brink Collection Ink and Light fills a significant gap in British art history by providing a close reading of Lorrain s prints their reception in England and the enduring impact they had on a distinctive British aesthetic William Hunter and his Eighteenth-Century Cultural Worlds Helen McCormack, 2017-10-12 The eminent physician and anatomist Dr William Hunter 1718 1783 made an important and significant contribution to the history of collecting and the promotion of the fine arts in Britain in the eighteenth century Born at the family home in East Calderwood he matriculated at the University of Glasgow in 1731 and was greatly influenced by some of the most important philosophers of the Scottish Enlightenment including Francis Hutcheson 1694 1746 He quickly abandoned his studies in theology for Medicine and in 1740 left Scotland for London where he steadily acquired a reputation as an energetic and astute practitioner he combined his working life as an anatomist successfully with a wide range of interests in natural history including mineralogy conchology botany and ornithology and in antiquities books medals and artefacts in the fine arts he worked with artists and dealers and came to own a number of beautiful oil paintings and volumes of extremely fine prints He built an impressive school of anatomy and a museum which housed these substantial and important collections William Hunter s life and work is the subject of this book a cultural anthropological account of his influence and legacy as an anatomist physician collector teacher and demonstrator Combining Hunter s lectures to students of anatomy with his teaching at the St Martin s Lane Academy his patronage of artists such as Robert Edge Pine George Stubbs and Johan Zoffany and his associations with artists at the Royal Academy of Arts the book positions Hunter at the very centre of artistic scientific and cultural life in London during the period presenting a sustained and critical account of the relationship between anatomy and artists over the course of the long eighteenth century Anglo-Saxon England: Volume 28 Michael Lapidge, Malcolm Godden, Simon Keynes, 2000-06-22 This volume is framed by articles that throw interesting light on the achievement and reputation of the greatest of Anglo Saxon kings Alfred
