increasingly globalised mobsters      Twentieth Century China: An Annotated Bibliography of Reference Works in Chinese, Japanese and Western Languages James H. Cole, 2019-07-23 This bibliography of reference works from Chinese Japanese and Western language sources covers the 1911 Revolution the Republic of China 1912 1949 the People's Republic of China 1949 onwards post 1911 Hong Kong and Macau and post 1911 overseas Chinese Filled with helpful checklists charts and suggestions for further reading this practical comprehensive and multidisciplinary guide takes readers through the entire case writing process including skills for writing both teaching cases and research cases This edition includes new discussions of students as case writers and how to interpret and respond to reviews as well as updated and expanded material on video multimedia and Internet cases      The Shanghai Alleyway House Gregory Byrne Bracken, 2013 As a nineteenth century commercial development the alleyway house was a hybrid of the traditional Chinese courtyard house and the Western terraced one Unique to Shanghai the alleyway house was a space where the blurring of the boundaries of public and private life created a vibrant social community In recent years however the city's rapid redevelopment has meant that the alleyway house is being destroyed and this book seeks to understand it in terms of the lifestyle it engendered for those who called it home whilst also looking to the future of the alleyway house Based on groundwork research this book examines the Shanghai alleyway house in light of the complex history of the city especially during the colonial era It also explores the history of urban form and governance in China in order to question how the Eastern and Western traditions combined in Shanghai to produce a unique and dynamic housing typology Construction techniques and different alleyway house sub genres are also examined as is the way of life they engendered including some of the side effects of alleyway house life such as the literature it inspired both foreign and local as well as the portrayal of life in the laneways as seen in films set in the city The book ends by posing the question what next for the alleyway house Does it even have a future and if so what lies ahead for this rapidly vanishing typology This interdisciplinary book will be welcomed by students and scholars of Chinese studies architecture and urban development as well as history and literature      Spymaster Frederic E. Wakeman, 2003 The most feared man in China Dai Li was chief of Chiang Kai shek's secret service during World War II This sweeping biography of China's Himmler based on recently opened intelligence archives traces Dai's rise from obscurity as a rural hooligan and Green Gang blood brother to commander of the paramilitary units of the Blue Shirts and of the dreaded Military Statistics Bureau the world's largest spy and counterespionage organization of its time In addition to exposing the inner workings of the secret police whose death squads kidnappings torture and omnipresent surveillance terrorized critics of the Nationalist regime Dai Li's personal story opens a unique window on the clandestine history of China's Republican period This study uncovers the origins of the Cold War in the interactions of Chinese and American special services operatives who cooperated with Dai Li in the resistance to the Japanese invasion in the 1930s and who laid the groundwork for an ongoing alliance against the Communists during the revolution that followed in the 1940s Frederic Wakeman Jr illustrates how the anti Communist activities Dai Li led altered the balance of power within the Chinese Communist Party setting the stage for Mao Zedong's rise to supremacy. He reveals a complex and remarkable personality that masked a dark presence in modern China, one that still pervades the secret services on both sides of the Taiwan Strait. Wakeman masterfully illuminates a previously little understood world as he discloses the details of Chinese secret service trade craft. Anyone interested in the development of modern espionage will be intrigued by Spy Master, which spells out in detail the ways in which the Chinese used their own traditional methods in addition to adapting foreign ways to create a modern intelligence service.

Retrofitting Leninism Dimitar D. Gueorguiev, 2021. Retrofitting Leninism explains through the lens of China how open governance and modern information technology come together to sustain a tightly controlled but socially responsive system of authoritarianism. When closed authoritarian regimes reform and open up, they often fail; most eventually breakdown. The People's Republic of China stands as a notable exception. How has the ruling Chinese Communist Party maintained power throughout decades of reform and rapid development? Drawing inspiration from the CCP's Leninist origins, Dimitar Gueorguiev offers a novel and empirically grounded explanation. The key to the CCP's staying power, he argues, is its ability to integrate authoritarian control with social inclusion, a combination that is being facilitated by modern telecommunications technology. Relying on statistical data, media reports, and a series of original opinion polls, Gueorguiev explores how public input feeds into political oversight and policy planning. To unpack how public preferences are acquired, processed, and prioritized, he analyses bottom-up representation and coordination in local Chinese legislatures. Finally, to evaluate the impact of inclusion, he shows that public engagement contributes to both policy stability and public satisfaction. Although public inclusion is instrumental to the CCP's hold on power, Gueorguiev underscores that inclusive authoritarianism greatly depends on the voluntary participation of Chinese citizens, which is far from guaranteed. A trenchant exploration of the Leninist model today, Retrofitting Leninism will reshape our understanding of the authoritarian approach to government and its prospects for the future.

Lost in Globalization Leonardo Citterio, Joseph Di Pasquale, 2015. Residential construction best expresses the evolution of the Chinese lifestyle over the years and is one of the major problems generated by the new massive Chinese urbanization. The city's main structure is easily recognizable: a large sprawl of buildings almost placed without a hierarchical disposition. In the various lots, several patterns are easily identifiable. Only with the typologies study can it be possible to understand the relationship between the various political events, the lifestyles, and the form. The contrast in morphology between the different prototypes seem to be a sudden mutation but actually suggest a gradual housing typological evolution lasting over a century.
